

Just to Remind You

WHEN MONEY is scarce general stagnation sets in with its resultant disasters to every line of business, to every profession, and every wage-earner. It is therefore to our interest to help to make money plentiful in Oregon by simply keeping it here. The sworn statements of life insurance companies on file with State Insurance Commissioner S. A. Kover, Salem, Oregon, show that:

10,023,334.00 was sent out of OREGON for life insurance premiums in the past five years.

3,152,915.00 is the total returned here to pay death losses and dividends in the same five years.

$6,870,419.00 is the net amount drained out of Oregon in 5 years for life insurance premiums sent to enrich Wisconsin, New York and other states by making THESE home companies the custodians of these trust funds from Oregon. Does anyone doubt that the commercial supremacy of New York is due to the centralization of the insurance assets in that market, more than to any other one factor? More money is handled by the insurance companies than all the transportation companies in the country, and it is the centralization of these immense accumulations in one locality that makes that locality the seat of the financial empire.

It is the personal interest of every citizen of Oregon to use his influence that life insurance be bought of OREGON and the money kept in Oregon for Oregon's development.

WALLOWA COUNTY FLOAT IS PRAISED

ter club of that town failed to fall in with the contest for Walla Walla county queen at the Rose Festival because the conditions left "no chance for any other town to win the contest unless Enterprise willing laid down her hand and let the other towns win." The only conditions were: Votes 25 cents each, most votes win. What's the Use.

The esteemed Walla Walla Sun (again) finds something in this paper no one else can. It says this paper "takes a fling at the other towns because they did not endorse the plan. Nothing is it, except a guilty conscience. This paper never printed or intimated any such words or phrases. If the Walla Walla boosters were guilty of the things the Sun is trying to accuse them for, the Sun is to our knowledge also the first to charge them. The hole, long labored and exculpatory editorial is just another case of the Sun's over-heated imagination as far as it impugns to this paper any flings at the Walla Walla boosters. The latter are all right and more powerful than they are, in one way or another, two babies to grow within the city limits where one grows now.

COVE WILL PLAY TWO GAMES HERE

and Blyden both pitched fine ball, about a standoff. Hayes was hit just on the most, and gave two bases on balls to Blyden's noble, but he struck out one more batter than did Blyden. He was especially effective when hits would have meant runs for Enterprise. Walla Walla made two more errors than the locals, but they were not so costly in yielding runs. Hayes made the feature play of the game in spearing a hot liner from Crumpacker's bat, and Jimmy also starred in batting, getting two hits, scoring one run and bringing in another. Hug was strong with the stick and Oscar Maxwell as usual gave Hayes fine support. Walla Walla's imported players, Hallgarth of Elgin and Hudson of Alice, did no stellar stunts.

For Enterprise, aside from Blyden's fine hurling, the features were W. Pidcock's grand work behind the bat and French's and Crumpacker's batting. The team was badly handicapped by R. Pidcock's lameness.

Full 200 were on the excursion including about 75 Josephites who rooted wildly for Walla Walla and were more tickled over the result than the Wallawans. The Walla Walla team are to get new suits for winning, and after the game a picture of the team was taken with the flush and dust of victory still on their faces, and Empire Morelock, to whom the victory was principally due, very appropriately in the center of the group.

Following is the score:

COMMISSIONERS TELL OF HEARINGS

be a reduction of 2 1/2 cents and nearly all the wool goes to Basin, this difference on the transcontinental rate per hundred pounds would amount to about 1-40th of a cent a pound on the price. The smallest fraction difference paid in price one-eighth of a cent, so the reduction would be no advantage. All but a very small part of the wool shipments go long distances and so the rate on wool is a matter for the interstate commerce commission to be just. . . .

There will be no decision on the complaints until the records are gone over by the full commission. Chairman Campbell not having been present.

Already Bearing Fruit.
Under the caption, "Enterprise Meeting Bears Fruit," the La Grande Observer published the following patch, Friday:

SALEM, June 11.—Since the matter of the reasonableness of the rates enforced by the Southern Pacific and the O. R. & N. was taken up by the railroad commission, three new tariffs have been filed by the two companies, making substantial reductions. Unless further complaints are received the matter of the tariffs will receive no further attention. Wool has been taken from the rates on the O. R. & N. and made a commodity rate.
