WEDDING BELLS.

Lee B. Tuttle, the enterprising young publisher of the Elgin Recorder, and Miss Lena Edmunds of Elgin were married December 18 at La Grande. In addition to being a cracking good newspaperman, Lee is a genial, loyal gentleman, and his many friends in this county wish him a long and happy married life. We are not acquainted with his bride, but as Lee is particular in what he takes we have no doubt the new Mrs. Tuttle is the "finest ever."

Elgin "friends" absconded with the newly married couple's baggage at La Grande, preventing a wedding trip to Portland. The "friends" also greeting Lee on his return to Elgin and he rode in state, on a steer, through the principal streets of the town. This is the way Lee rebuked them in his paper:

"Oh, You Rubes."

The editor of this paper arises to ask if it is not a fact that greater leniency is shown to the offender on his showing that the offense is his first. Every court exercises this leniency, but the kangaroo court of lawyers who feloniously waylaid the editor of this paper last Sunday on his return with his first wife from La Grande, don't know any more about leniency than a rabbit. The only consolation is that the married ones in the bunch owed it to us, and the single ones will get it from us, in return—soon, we hope.

BILL OF DELLA PRINGLE COMPANY FOR THIS WEEK

The bill of the Della Pringle company for Thursday evening will be "Flora May's Dutchman," another name for one of the greatest comedies ever produced on the American stage. "The New Dominion," a play that has made its author and interpreter, Clay Clemons, famous and has also made him wealthy. As the Dutchman, Mr. Van Auker is said to be the equal of Mr. Clemons in his happiest moments.

Friday evening the Lewis Morrison version of "Faust" will be presented with all the scenic and electrical appliances necessary to make a presentation equal to that of Mr. Morrison himself.

Saturday evening, William Gillett's greatest comedy, "Because She Loved Him So," will be given. This comedy, depicting the troubles that come from a wife's jealousy, is one of the funniest ever seen. At the same time it is a well told and well constructed story, entertaining throughout.

Country people should not forget the matinee Saturday afternoon. The play, "The Sultan's Daughter," is an exorcisingly funny comedy, one of the best of recent years. As played by the Della Pringle company it will be worth traveling miles to see. The performance will be finished in time to permit of reaching home before dark.

APPENDICITIS.

The public has become so accustomed to hearing from medical sources that extirpation of the appendix is the rational treatment for disease of that organ that the expression of a contrary opinion by high medical authority, will to state it mildly, occasion great surprise. Yet this is what Dr. Page, of Boston, has recently done in no uncertain words. He is reported by the newspapers of the country as having said:

"An operation for appendicitis should be called a criminal operation and as such should be prohibited by law. I have been following the records of appendicitis operations ever since the craze for this form of surgery started, and I confidently believe that the day is coming when the people will realize that the cutting of the appendix is a criminal operation. After the widely proclaimed benefits and saving of life by operations to cut the appendix, it seems hardly necessary to cite the long list of deaths following the operation."—Herald of Osteopathy.
