Wiley in Railroad Wreck.

Elgin Recorder.
E. L. Wiley and son were in this city yesterday on route home to Wallowa from Portland, where they delivered a shipment of cattle. They were on the east bound train that was wrecked at Pilot Rock junction Wednesday morning. Mr. Wiley stated that he was occupying a sleeper and when the engine went over and the sudden stop came the only inconvenience he experienced was that of bumping his head against the end of the berth.

Caldwell Market Day Success.

Market day in Caldwell, the second effort of the kind, has proven even a greater success than was anticipated by the committee having the matter in charge, says a Caldwell item. Over $4000 worth of stock was sold at the auction and more than 1000 visitors from all sections of the country were in town.

Public Officers.

Owing to doors that opened inward instead of outward, and other violations of safety conditions in a school house at North Collingwood, a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio, 170 children were hurled or trampled to death when the structure burned down last week. The school directors are being censured by public opinion though no doubt each one is a good citizen whose conscience today is making life a living hell for him.

As after the Iroquois Theatre horror in Chicago a few years ago, there is great stir about safety conditions in public buildings all over the country, and the press is full of how public boards are now zealous in enforcing long-neglected building ordinances and laws. This flurry will die down in a few weeks and the old lax conditions will again prevail.

It is one of the anomalies of public service that the best citizens of a community make but indifferent public officers. There are many exceptions of course but the general rule is that a man who is successful in private business affairs is a comparative failure in public office. There are a dozen reasons for that fact, none of which is wholly satisfactory, but it remains a fact.

Business men of excellent judgment in private affairs make as many mistakes as the shiftless theorist when placed on the finance committee of a city council.

The lesson the American people have been a century in learning is, that public affairs are a trade in themselves, and, especially in executive positions, to get best results men should be employed who have made a study and practice of public business.

This is recognized in Germany in municipal affairs and the result is that the best city governments in the world are found in Germany. For illustration: The municipal chief executive office is a profession in Germany. A young man chooses the profession of mayor as others choose the law or medicine. He starts in a subordinate capacity and works up by merit until he becomes mayor of some small town, where he tries for a record for efficiency that he may attract the favorable notice of the council of a larger city and be summoned to a better job. The people elect a council of a few members and on them all responsibility to the people for good government is placed. The council hires the best executives it can find, just as a big corporation directory in this country seek the best managers and superintendents it can for the salaries it can afford to pay. In fact the German municipal governments are like in other respects to the most efficient business body known—the modern corporation—but the whole story is too long for newspaper telling. It will repay any student of government to look the matter up.

Another lesson from the Collingwood horror of more immediate application is the necessity of a building ordinance in towns however small. No building should be permitted to be erected in a town, within or without fire limits, until certain requirements looking to safety are complied with. A permit should be required for every building, not for the purpose of revenue, but to make sure that the building ordinance is followed in the plans, and that a record of all buildings be kept in the recorder's office.

The fee of the permit should be low—just enough to cover the expenses—probably from 25 cents up to a few dollars, according to the value of the structure and length of plans to be recorded. The amount of the present fee in Enterprise, $5, is a mistake. It amounts to a fine on improvements. The ordinance should be revised on more liberal lines, and the permit provisions extended to the city limits.

U'Ren's Platform For U. S. Senator

Whether I am nominated and elected or not, I promise the people of Oregon that I will always support and advocate the enactment and enforcement of laws and constitutional amendments to apply the following principles in our national and state government:

First: Every political party and independent organization in Oregon has the right to nominate a candidate for every elective office, but the people of Oregon have the sole and exclusive right to select the person to fill every such office, from constable to governor and United States senator.

Second: The people of Oregon have the right to instruct the members of the legislature, and to demand from every candidate a pledge, in advance of his election, that he will obey their instructions.

Third: I will advocate the nomination and election to the legislative assembly of those candidates only who subscribe to Statement No. 1, either exactly as it is written in the law; or else in substantially the following form: (Here follows the text of the initiative bill, "People's Instruction Statement No. 1.")

As one citizen of Oregon, I am firmly convinced that no man, not even a member of my party, is worthy to be trusted by the people in the legislature or any other office, if he will not promise to obey their instructions.

Fourth: An initiative and referendum amendment to the Consti-gation, including a government canal at Oregon City, and the improvement of Coos, Yaquina and other Oregon harbors.

Fifteenth: That Oregon shall receive her fair share of the irrigation fund and have it wisely and honestly expended in the reclamation service.

Sixteenth: Revision of the tariff in the interest of the people, that American-made goods may be bought as cheaply in the United States as in England and other foreign countries.

In offering myself as a candidate, I do so with the kindest personal feelings for other candidates. If I am defeated at the nominating election, I will do all in my power to assist the candidate chosen by the Republicans to obtain the highest number of the people's votes at the June election. After the June election I will most earnestly advocate the formal election by the legislature of the candidate who received the highest number of the people's votes.

If I am nominated and elected I will give all my time to the public service. Whether I am elected or not, I shall continue to serve the people to the best of my ability by contending for the abolition of all special privileges, and the enactment of such laws that everywhere, under our flag, every man shall produce by his labor all he gets, and shall get all he produces, and no more.

Finally, I will most loyally support President Roosevelt in his rebellion against government of the United States by Standard Oil and its allies, and I hope and pray that there may be such a demand from the people of the United States that it will be clearly his duty to accept a second elective term and continue for another four years as president, to lead those who are rebelling against public government for private profit.

Respectfully,
W. S. U'REN.

IMNAHA BRIDGE.

(Too late for last week)
Imnaha Bridge, March 2—March came in "like a lion"; may it go out "like a lamb."

Mr and Mrs Ralph Sprague are settled down cozily to housekeeping in the burg.

Roy Simmons and bride returned from a trip to Enterprise. Their furniture has arrived and they expect to go to housekeeping on the lower Pra' place.

Miss Anna Maxwell was on Tuesday, February 25, recalled to Wallowa by the news of the illness of her sister, M. S. Priscilla McKenzie. A few days later learning that she was not improving L. C. Johnson started with his wife (who is also the lady's sister) for her bedside. They started Sunday about 10:30 and expected to get fresh horses at Enterprise. The many friends of these ladies sincerely hope for better news soon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thompson and babe attended the Fraternal building dedication on Friday evening at Enterprise. They report it a most enjoyable event. The speeches were fine; the supper and floral decorations were elegant, the music was mentioned as an especially enjoyable feature and the courtesy and attention paid to out of town guests was highly appreciated.

Mrs. Alice Bell, who had been sojourning on her homestead near Jewell's station, returned to the Imnaha on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. Lloyd.

Mrs. Orintha Chase had a serious attack of heart trouble recently, but at this writing is about as usual.

J. A. Denny assisted by Ralph Sprague has begun spring work. Mr Denny expects to have about 150 peach trees put out soon, besides other shrubbery.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Warnock was quite ill during the week but is reported better.

Richard Warnock and little son passed through the burg recently. Your reporter is informed that Mr. Foster, who recently finished a term of school in Freezeout district, has been employed for another term there to begin soon.

Clyde Lloyd was recently engaged in breaking in for the saddle a young mare when she threw herself or fell with him; Clyde was partly under her and in endeavoring to free himself, threw his weight on his left wrist, badly spraining it, since which he realizes that two hands are a deal better than one.

In some sort of a tussle with a bear, the animal stepped on J. F. Crayton's foot, badly bruising that member. It is swollen and painful and will probably keep Mr. C. indoors for a time.

L. Lloyd is a candidate for the nomination for county commissioner. Mr. Lloyd is a right good man, one who makes many friends and this corner of the county is a right good place and it is right it should have a commissioner. Never mind the politics. 'A man's a man for a' that.'
