ANOTHER SPECIAL ELECTION CALLED

COUNCIL ORDERS VOTE ON BONDS FOR WATER WORKS SEPTEMBER 12.

At the regular meeting of the council Monday night, on motion of Councilman Graves it was unanimously ordered that a special election be called for Saturday, September 12 to vote on authorizing the sale of bonds to not exceed $30,000, to bear interest at 5 per cent a year or less, for the purpose of putting in water works system. The mayor, Councilmen Graves, Berland, Bickford and Combes were present.

The returns of Saturday's election on the charter amendment, were canvassed and the votes recounted. The tally agreed with that of the judges—103 yes to 68 no.

There was some talk in regard to a larger meeting place for the council, the basement of the Fraternal building being suggested. It is expected that interest in water works legislation will result in quite a large attendance of citizens at council meetings this fall.

At a called meeting of the council Wednesday night of last week the license fee for the electric theatre was fixed at $3 a week.

At the two meetings the following are the

RECENT DEALS MADE IN MINING INTERESTS

J. E. Merritt and W. F. Smith, the Utah mining men who had been examining claims in the mountains south of Enterprise for a couple of months, left last week for Salt Lake, taking with them samples of ore from the Hamilton Bros.' mine, upon which they have a 60 days option for bond, says the Joseph Herald.

It is a copper proposition and is reputed to be very rich.

Messrs. Merritt and Smith and W. J. West have already secured a bond on Barton Bros.' group of five claims on Snake river which the Herald states is to run for two years and is for $20,000. The claims are on Battle Creek, and the vein uncovered is four feet in width with a 15-inch pay streak of free milling ore that runs from $60 to $90 a ton near the surface.

G. A. Gyllenberg and F. W. Brooks of Baker City are pushing work on their group of nine claims on Hurricane creek, and according to the Herald expect to have about 2000 sacks of ore ready to go out on the first train.

Big Vote Polled at City Election

Charter Amendment Carried by 103 to 68—Both Sides Worked Hard.

In spite of four or five other things going on, including the street fair, a large vote was polled at the special city election Saturday afternoon on the proposal to amend the charter so that an "affirmative majority" instead of a two-thirds majority would carry an election to bond the city to put in water works, sewerage, lighting and other improvements, and also raising the limit of total indebtedness for all those purposes from $10,000 to $30,000.

The total vote polled was 172, of which 103 were for the amendment, 68 against, and one ballot defective. There was lots of hustling done but good feeling prevailed as all realize there is honest difference of opinion on this question that is of so much importance to every resident of the city.

Two of the judges appointed by the council—B. B. Boyd, since appointed a councilman, and T. R. Akins, who was acting as a special marshal—could not serve, and the standers elected R. D. Rodgers and W. C. Wilson. Daniel Boyd was the third judge.

About 25 qualified electors did not vote, or the total would have reached close to 200 and shows that the city now has nearly 1000 population.

CARNIVAL DELIGHTS CROWDS OF PEOPLE

SOMETHING GOING ON ALL THE TIME—FUN REIGNED SUPREME.

The street fair and carnival given by the Enterprise Concert band, Friday and Saturday of last week, was all the bill promised and a lot more. It proved one of the biggest successes and most enjoyable affairs ever in Wallowa county. The rains came just at the right time to turn the people from the hayfields to the carnival, and it's an easy bet that no one regretted being delayed a day or two with his farm work. There was a good sized crowd Friday and on Saturday the town overflowed with people, the attendance being as large or larger than at the big 3-days celebration a year ago, the previous high water mark in Wallowa county.

The grounds were a dream of delight, the arrangement of the booths shows, "Laughing Avenue," the special attractions and the splendid big dancing pavilion, was perfect, and proved that among his hundred other accomplishments, Morrie B. Streeter is some punkins as a landscape engineer. For Streeter laid out the grounds as well as planning the whole show and pitching in and doing two men's work in the heavy lifting, sawing and nailing. He's a wonder. And there were about a score of other wonders when it came to working, for every member of the band was there doing his heaping best. Such stunts as 10 hours playing in the orchestra at the dance pavilion is a sample of how the boys worked.

There was no discount on the fun. That was the main purpose and everybody got his or her share, whether throwing at the nigger dodger the babies, ringing the ducks, shooting at diamonds, taking a chance at the wheel of (candy) fortune, having their fortune told, viewing Calvin's superb collection of curios, seeing the ugliest man or handsomest woman or bumping the bumps over the range.

There were two splendid balloon ascensions and parachute jumps by Prof. Hicks. The balloon went nearly straight up both days and when it would go no higher, Hicks cut loose his racing parachute and came to the ground so swiftly as to cause a loud chorus of ahs!

The total receipts were a little over $800 but the boys will not have much clear as the expenses are over $700.

Following are the winners of the races:

- Saddle horse race—Bert Cole first Alvin McPetridge second.
- Ladies' pony race—Viola Johnson.
- Boys' sack race—Claude Reavis.
- 100 yards dash—Chas. Bridwell.

Tracklaying Up Canyon Resumed

Will Probably Reach Enterprise October 15—Patterson Moves His Camp.

The bridge across the Wallowa river in the canyon was completed Tuesday and the track laid on it. Tracklaying up the canyon was resumed Wednesday morning, and Engineer Brandon is reported as saying that he expects to lay an average of a mile a day, and will reach Wallowa without fail by September 10.

There are 33 miles of track to lay and six bridges to put in from the Canyon bridge to Enterprise. All the bridges are short and none of them need take over two days to construct, so figuring on the same basis as the estimate by Mr. Brandon, the road will be completed to Enterprise by October 15.

Contractor J. E. Patterson moved his camp Monday to the west end of the depot grounds at Enterprise and grading is proceeding this week on the grounds and yards. When that is completed to River street Mr. Patterson will have only the one fourth mile at the north end of his allotment to finish.

LATER: Engineer Brandon a Enterprise Wednesday night stated the track reached the Canyon House that evening. He said he would have the tracks in Enterprise in September.

TELEPHONE TO FLORA.

S. D. Crowe, manager of the Home Independent Telephone company, was at Flora last week to see what support would be given a telephone line from Sled Springs to the North Country. He made a proposition to the Flora people to put in a line from Sleds for a bonus of $250, or if the people there would organize a local company with 25 subscribers and a central at Flora. The line would connect at Sleds with the forest service line running to Wallowa. A toll charge of 25 cents would be made for a talk between Flora and Wallowa Valley points.

LOST.

PLAIN GOLD BRACELET, on Carnival grounds, Friday. Reward if returned to News Record office or E. M. & M. store.

NO HITS OFF KEHN IN TEN INNINGS

WALLOWA PITCHER IN RECORD GAME—ENTERPRISE LOSES BY SCORE 1 TO 0.

Jack Kehn, pitching for Wallowa in the game with Enterprise Saturday made what will probably stand as a record in Wallowa county for a good many years to come. For 10 long innings the opposing batsmen tried vainly to pound his puzzling curve and change of pace to a safe place. Not a safe hit in 10 innings puts Kehn up in the select company of no hit pitchers, along with Cy Young, Mathewson et al. No hits in the regulation nine innings is a big thing for a pitcher to do, only a few each season accomplishing that which thousands strive to do, but Kehn's feat of no hits in 10 innings has been duplicated but once this season—by Wittsle of the New York Giants against the Brooklynns.

It was a great game. Nine innings and nary a score. In the tenth, after brilliant playing all through, a muff of an easy pop-up allowed Wallowa to get one over the plate, the side being retired immediately by a fine catch of a hot liner by the same player who had dropped the pop-up. Enterprise went out one, two, three, and the game, witnessed by a big crowd, was won by Wallowa 1 to 0. Each side fielded in splendid style, the good plays being more numerous than ordinary ones. Bridwell in right field made a little record for himself with three assists—something you won't see done again by an outfielder in many a day. Kehn struck out 13 batsmen. Each side made 4 errors. Blyen and Crumpacker were the battery for Enterprise. Clark caught Kehn.

Comedy of Errors.

The next day it was different. Full of errors, mixed with hard hitting and a little good fielding thrown in for seasoning, it proved an interesting game to watch and the big crowd got its two hits worth. Wallowa was more fortunate in bunching its hits with Enterprise's errors, and when the smoke of battle cleared away it was found they had tallied 11 runs to Enterprise's 8. The home team batted the hitherto invincible Hayes for 13 safeties while Wallowa got 12 off Parker. Both teams bear the shame of the 24 errors that were made, though Enterprise made two more than Wallowa.

These two teams have played 8 games so far this season of which Wallowa has won 5. The Enterprise team will probably play at Wallowa next Sunday.
