Regular Trains From Enterprise

Service Inaugurated to La Grande Saturday—Rushing Work On Depot.

Regular train service was inaugurated between Enterprise and La Grande, Saturday. A train of two coaches, baggage and mail car arrived from La Grande Friday night, and left on schedule time, 8:30 o'clock, this morning. The train was in charge of Conductor Jake Gulling, and was pulled by engine No. 103. The inbound train is due to arrive at Enterprise at 2:30 p. m. The service will probably be extended to Joseph in a week or ten days. A large force of men are ballasting the track above this city. The rails will continue to come by stage from Wallowa for the present, but the railroad will take over the contract a little later.

W. J. Dedman of Portland is acting as operator until the arrival of A. G. Norman, the station agent who is expected in a few days. A box car is being used for the office temporarily, but a gang of carpenters under Contractor C. S. Fisher is rushing work on the depot, which will be 24x61 1/2 feet in size and two stories high. It is a duplicate of the depot erected at Wallowa, and the one in Joseph will be of the same size also.

"Water Grade" Route. There was a fairy story in Wednesday's Oregonian to the effect that Joseph was not to be the terminus but that the Wallowa road would be extended to Snake river to meet the line building from Huntington, thus the Blue Mountains. If the fellow giving a "water grade" route around who wrote it ever sees the country between Joseph and Snake river that phrase "water grade" will haunt him like a bad dream.
