DEATH RECORD.
Mrs. Louisa J. Doak, an Oregon pioneer who crossed the plains 49 years ago, died at Joseph, Tuesday, aged 79 years, 7 months, and 29 days. Funeral was held Wednesday, services being conducted by Rev. N. S. Crockett of the Enterprise Christian church, both at the home of the daughter, Mrs. Ida Bailey, in Joseph, and in the chapel at Prairie Creek cemetery, where the body was interred.

Mrs. Doak was born in Scott county, Ill., Aug. 1, 1829, and was married to Lafayette McDonald Nov. 17, 1846. Five children were born to that union. Mr. McDonald died in 1857. Mrs. McDonald was married to W. T. Doak in 1860, and crossed the plains to Oregon the same year, settling in Lane county. To this union six children were born, three of whom survived the mother. Mr. Doak died August 22, 1888. Mrs. Doak disposed of the old homestead in Lane county and came to Wallowa county in 1901 to make her home with her sons and daughter. She leaves to mourn her death three daughters and three sons: Mrs. Jane Daugherty, Mrs. Mary E. McConley of Portland, Oregon; A. G. McDonald of Lane county; I. N. Doak, W. R. Doak, and Mrs. Ida Bailey, of this county.

The deceased was a conscientious Christian worker for the last 50 years, a faithful wife and loving mother. Besides the relatives a host of friends mourn her death.

1000 DOLLAR MONUMENT FOR EACH DECEASED MEMBER

The Woodmen of the World is the leading life insurance protective fraternity in the West. It is the second largest and the second richest, and the youngest order that ever had the membership and financial resources at the same age. The Pacific jurisdiction has 106,000 members, of whom over 17,000 are in Oregon alone. This jurisdiction has nearly two and a half millions in reserve and is accumulating interest bearing securities at the rate of over half a million a year. This insures its own life, which is the first thing an insurance fraternity must do. In Enterprise the order is represented by Camp No. 535. It is one of several hundred in Oregon, the largest of which is Multnomah camp in Portland with nearly 1500 members. Enterprise camp is one of the small camps, but as the payments for insurance come from the general treasury the size of the camps makes no difference. The camp here desires to increase its membership from 50 to 75 and the head camp has sent in District Organizer A. D. Cridge to help out the camps in Wallowa county.

The Woodmen of the World is celebrated for placing a monument over the grave of every deceased member. It has placed thousands of them, all costing $100 each. It has an enviable record for paying its claims promptly and without lawsuits, never having had but two in Oregon in the eighteen years of its existence. This order is stronger in Oregon than any three of its kind put together and has done an immense amount of good in relieving distress both to the families of deceased members and the living members themselves.
