A Darned Shaw Joke.
After addressing an Edinburgh meeting for ninety minutes once Mr. Bernard Shaw remarked that the time was a quarter to 10, and he had intended to finish at 9 o'clock. He did not seem in the least fatigued; the audience were also quite fresh, and when the speaker was about to sit down loud cries of "Go on!" were raised on all sides. "Do you really wish me to go on?" Mr. Shaw asked. He was answered by renewed cheering and more shouts of "Go on!" Great was the disappointment, therefore, when he replied, "That is the exact point at which an experienced speaker sits down," which he accordingly did.

An Artist's Mustache.
The mustache was not viewed with favor in England in the middle of the last century. An anecdote is told of the late Thomas Cooper, the English artist, to illustrate. He was brought before a magistrate in 1846 on some minor charge and was described in the police report as being "fashionably dressed, with large mustaches." The Art Journal of the date, commenting on it, said that "no member of the Royal academy perpetrates the atrocity of mustaches, a most un-English affectation." Mr. Cooper became a member of the academy a few years later.

Sunshine and Long Life.
Some towns on the Italian side of the Swiss Alps are noted for the great number of sunny days. Carabiotta and Pentillino, near Lugano, head the list with 327 and 331 sunny days respectively in one year. Possibly because of this liberal amount of sunshine the percentage of old people is exceptionally high in the canton of Tessin, forty-four per thousand being over seventy years old and ten per thousand over eighty.—New York Post.

Discourteous.
"What do you think?" exclaimed the theatrical star proudly. "They are going to name a new cigar after me!" "Well," rejoined the manager, "here's hoping it will draw better than you do."—Exchange.

Force of Habit.

State Lines.
Texas has an area of more than 265,000 square miles. The state of Georgia leads in negro population with 1,034,813. California is the longest state, has the highest altitude, the lowest depression. Idaho has more than doubled its population in the last seven years and more than quadrupled it since statehood—1890.
German Gleanings.
Nearly 20,000 women are employed in Prussia as brickmakers. Germany imports about 3,000,000,000 eggs in a year, or forty-six eggs for every inhabitant. One-seventh of the income of the working classes of Berlin is said to be spent in alcoholic drink. In the pottery industry in Germany females earn $2.16 to $3 a week, and the males earn $2.88 to $7.20.
Flower and Tree.
The fruit of the male fig tree is never eaten. Plant life rarely thrives under yew and ash trees. There are now more than 12,000,000 apple trees bearing in Canada, while 3,000,000 more are growing up. Bamboo trees do not blossom until they attain their thirtieth year. They then produce seed profusely and die.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.
