Vergere, died at the family home in this city Thursday forenoon at 11 o'clock, after an illness lasting since Friday, when she was stricken with paralysis, and suffered other strokes Saturday and Wednesday, never regaining consciousness after the last stroke. The deceased had suffered from the disease for the last six years, having a together 16 strokes. Funeral was held Friday, May 14, from the home, Rev. W. P. Samma officiating; interment in the Enterprise cemetery.

Besides the aged husband, one son, F. L. Vergere, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Giovannoni, both of this city, survive. Mrs. Vergere was a life-long member of the Catholic church, a good christian woman whose life was devoted to unobtrusive household duties and to the care of her family.

TIMBER ENTRYMAN
VICTOR IN APPEAL

the land was more valuable for agricultural purposes than for timber and stone. The taking of testimony consumed six days.

Register Bramwell rendered a decision in favor of the timber and stone claimant and held the case for dismissal. The case was appealed and Register Bramwell's decision was affirmed. Attorney O. M. Corkins of Enterprise appeared for Metzler and J. T. Williamson for O'Brien. The case was one of the biggest contests heard in the local office for some time. The plaintiff has one more appeal to the secretary of the interior if he chooses to avail himself of it. If the appeal is not taken the important decision written by Register Bramwell and sustained by the commissioner general will stand as a precedent in the decision of the remaining cases.

HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY STOPS FLAG BATTLE

The freshman-senior flag battle at the high school has been ended by a faculty stop-order. The freshmen say the order showed partiality because their flag was flying at the covered point and the seniors could not get up on the roof and take it down. The especially think they were unfairly dealt with because they were compelled under fear of suspension to replace the ladder and take down their own flag.

The faculty say they were not partial as they had before ordered the senior's flag down, and furthermore the contest had gone too far, locks being taken off doors, and the attic ladder, used to go out on the roof in case of fire, had been torn from its fastenings and taken from the buildings.
