A Sprained Ankle.

As usually treated a sprained ankle will disable the injured person for a month or more, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle faithfully, a cure may, in most cases, be effected in less than one week's time. This liniment is a most remarkable preparation; try it for a sprain or a bruise, or when laid up with chronic or muscular rheumatism and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. In reducing express rates some 16 to 20 per cent the railroad commission has done pretty well, considering that the express companies have a monopoly in conjunction with the railroads. The rates are based on all the traffic will bear, however, and not on the value of the service performed says the Portland Labor Press. To any expert the expert mind accustomed to the vagaries of railroad rates it appears robbery to charge under the new rates 60 cents to The Dalles and 2.85 to La Grande, when La Grande is but three times further and the rate should be but $1.80. The fact that La Grande has no steamboat running from Portland makes the difference.

Throughout the northwest inquiries are being received by various commercial bodies for manufacturing sites and openings. Any inducement a community can offer to secure manufacturing establishments helps every property owner in it. Some Canadian provinces of the west exempt them from taxation on buildings, stored products and purchased raw material. Baltimore does the same, and finds it profitable to all to do so.

Some persons think the essence of representative government is that the people should not choose their representatives.—Collier's Weekly.

Peary cooked his own goose when he began the mud-slinging against Dr. Cook.

Union, Or., has a flour and feed mill with a payroll of $200 a week. An industry like this that manufactures local agricultural products cannot be too greatly encouraged locally.

WARNING.

Do not be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for chronic coughs, bronchitis, hay fever, asthma, and lung trouble, as it stops the cough and heals the lungs. Dr. Abernethy, the great English physician, said, "Watch your kidneys. When they are affected, life is in danger." Foley's Kidney Remedy makes healthy kidneys, corrects urinary irregularities, and tones up the whole system.

Many people delude themselves by saying "It will wear away," when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Foley's Kidney remedy, and stop the drain on the vitality. It cures backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, and makes every trace of pain, weakness, and urinary trouble disappear. Oregon Outdoos London.
Lloyd-George, the great English statesman, points out that near London land which was worth $500 an acre 50 years ago is now selling for $40,000 an acre. This may be going some in England, but here in Oregon we have land which was worth $1.25 an acre 50 years ago selling for more than $40,000 a lot. And some which sold for probably less than $500 an acre is now worth $1,500,000, bringing in interest on that valuation for ground rent alone. The producers of Oregon have been more generous to the owners of land than have the British people is the comment of the Portland Labor Press.

NAMES MADE MENAGERIE OF OREGON GRILL ROOM

There was quite a menagerie at the Oregon hotel today, said the Journal recently. Mr. Tom Lyon of Paxton Ill., came in first, with Frank Lamb of the News, Omaha, Neb. Mr. Lamb was followed closely by Joe Wolff, a leading member of the inner ring of the alleged potato trust of Greeley, Colo., and William Baer, who is not related to the Pennsylvania Baer, who figured that he had a divine right to all coal buried in Pennsylvania ground.

Charles Fox of Indianapolis, Ind., was a later addition to the menagerie. When Wolff saw Fox he sprang into the air and started for him. Indications pointed that he was going to make a square meal of Fox, but development showed that Wolff and Fox were old time running mates.

A middle aged gentleman whose grips had just been taken by the lap boy was attracted to the scene by the commotion. When Wolff and Fox stopped for rest, the late comer grasped Fox by the neck and shook him. "You sly devil, you," he shouted. Fox gazed in wonder for an instant and then shouted, "Well, if it ain't Old Cat," the best half turned out by Old Purdue, right from Posey county, Indiana—Old Tom Catt.

Then there was much handshaking. Mr. Lamb shook hands with Mr. Catt, and Mr. Catt shook hands with Mr. Lamb. And they all shook hands around, and marched in to dinner. The Lyon went in with the Lamb, the Wolf went in with the Fox and the Baer went in with Old Tom Catt. Later Bert Campbell, also of Paxton, Ill., an old schoolmate of the Lyon, joined the party. Mr. Campbell was introduced as the individual that could go eight days without a drink.

Mr. Lamb neatly broke up the dinner by asking pertly, "Who in Helen Blazes wants to go eight days without a drink?"

Mr. Campbell smoothed matters over with a smile and the statement that while he could go eight days without a drink, he never would.

At a nearby table sat Mr. G. T. Hogg and daughter, Miss Hazel Hogg of Kelso, Wash. And at another table sat John Byrd of Caldwell, Idaho. They were invited to join the party.

Why Druggists Recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. Frank C. Harrahan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says, "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purposes that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." IT PAYS.

When the dimpled baby's hungry, what does the baby do? It doesn't lie serenely and merely sweetly coo; The hungry baby be lows with all its little might Till some one gives it something to curb its appetite; The infant with the bottle which stills its fretful cries A lesson plainly teaches—it pays to advertise. The lamb lost on the hillside when darkness closes round Stands not in silence trembling and waiting to be found; Its plaintive beating echoes across the vales and meads Until the shepherd hears it, and, hearing kindly needs, And when its fears are ended, as on his breast it lies, The lamb has made this patent: It pays to advertise. The fair and gentle maiden who loves the bashful boy Assumes when in his presence a manner that is coy; She blushes and she trembles till he perceives at last, And clasps her close to him and gladly holds her fast, And as he bends to kiss her and she serenely sighs This fact is demonstrated: It pays to advertise.

Milk on a Stick.

In winter time milk goes to the buyer in a chunk instead of a quart, says a Glasgow paper. The people in Siberia buy their milk frozen, and for convenience it is allowed to freeze about a stick, which comes as a handle to carry it by. The milkman leaves one chunk or two chunks, as the case may be, at the houses of his customers. The children in Irkutsk, instead of crying for a drink of milk, cry for a bite of milk. The people in winter time do not say, "Be careful not to spill the milk," but "Be careful not to break the milk." Broken milk is better than spilled milk, though, because there is an opportunity to save the pieces. A quart of frozen milk on a stick is a very formidable weapon in the hand of an angry man or boy, as it is possible to knock a person down with it. Irkutsk people hang their milk on hooks instead of putting it in pans, though, of course, when warm spring weather comes on they have to use the pans or pails as the milk begins to melt and drop down the hooks.
