CLARKSTON MEN PRAISE HILL LAND

HEAVY INVESTORS SATISFIED WITH PURCHASES—RAILROAD DOWN GRANDE RONDE?

C. Murdock of Clarkston, who bought the J. W. Emmons ranch of over 1900 acres on Day Ridge a few months ago, was in town the first of the week in company with Mr. Emmons, completing final details of the deal.

Mr. Murdock is a man of varied experience in several states, Iowa, Minnesota, Washington and Idaho, and has been a money-maker in all of them. He was concerned in land deals, both farm property and town sites in the East, and has owned and still owns considerable real estate in Asotin county. He was for a year or two, publisher of the Clarkston Republic, and he got out a bright and new paper while he held down the editorial chair.

Mr. Murdock is mighty well pleased with his big investment in land in his county and predicts a great future for farming in the hills. He also has faith that the North country will be served with a railroad in a comparatively short time. In addition to the published intentions of the North Coast, backed by the final location survey work there is unmistakable evidence that there is something doing up the Grande Ronde. Timber cruisers have been cruising all the timber on both sides of the river to way below Troy. While no great body of timber has yet been purchased, and the identity of the employer of the cruisers is unknown, there have been many straws pointing to the largest manufacturer of lumber in this section of the state. This and other reasons are back of the persistent rumors that the O. R. & N. will be extended at least as a logging spur, from Roadova to Troy or below.

Mr. Murdock has backed up this faith by other purchases up north until he now owns over 2000 acres on Day Ridge and a quarter section near Bartlett. His son is managing the big ranch on Day Ridge and his family have resided there this summer.

W. E. Howard Here.

W. E. Howard, of Clarkston, who has made heavy investments in hill land north of this city, was here this week looking after his property. Mr. Howard is well satisfied with his land which includes the major portion of Ant flat, and confidently looks forward to the day when all the arable hill land here will be held at as high prices as the Asotin county wheat land.

County Court To Convene At Troy

Will Hold Meeting To Consider Project of Bridge Across Grande Ronde.

The county court will hold a meeting at Troy, Saturday, October 9, at 10 a. m., and all residents of that vicinity or others interested in the building of a bridge across the Grande Ronde river at or near Troy, are invited to be present.

This general invitation of the court ought to result in the biggest gathering ever in the North country, if the people came out in proportion to the need for a bridge.

The Grouse, Troy and Eden country is among the most fertile in the inland Empire, and while there are many fine ranches there now, if it had transportation facilities it would become in a few years the most thickly settled part of the county. But even with a bridge the change will be marked, for at present the settlers depend for all communication with the rest of the county upon a ferry that proved so uncertain last winter that the people received only three mails in a month.

The bridge is not only a public necessity, but would be a good investment as it is admitted that the increase in assessed valuation would pay the county for its expenditure in a few years.

A representative of a steel bridge company was here Wednesday, conferring with the court.

LAND DECISIONS OF IMPORTANCE

HOMESTEAD ENTRYMAN WINS OVER TIMBER FILING—YOUNG WINS CONTEST CASE.

Two land decisions of interest to Wallowa county people were received this week by Conaway & Corkins.

One was in the case of Joseph N. Ferguson vs. James Rice. Ferguson had filed application for a homestead on the 1/2 nw 1/4 and 1/2 sw 1/4 sec. 17, twp. 4 north, R. 41, and Rice made application for a timber claim on the same land. The land office at La Grande permitted the timber filing and rejected the homestead entry. The case was appealed to Washington through Conaway & Corkins and the decision was reversed, the homestead entry being permitted and the timber filing cancelled.

The second case was the government contest filing against Charles Young who on March 28, 1901, made entry on sw 1/4 se 1/4, se 1/4 sw 1/4 sec. 32, t. 2n and lot 3 and se 1/4 nw 1/4 sec. 5 t. 1n, range 46e, W. M. Mr. Young submitted final proof April 29, 1903. The department of the interior decided that Mr. Young's proof was sufficient and ordered that his patent be granted.
