Youths Arrested As Horsethieves

Two Boys Accused of Horsestealing
Arrested in North Country—
Seven Horses Taken.

Grouse, Sept. 28.—Geo. D. Boston has just returned from Astoria where he placed in jail two boys accused of horse stealing. The oldest is Frank Pellissier, aged 18, and the younger, Brittan, is 15 years old. He is a brother of the boy who was said to have been kidnapped at the oil gate on Blue Mountain a few years ago. J. H. Ingram, a farmer near Dayton, Wash., saw the boys lying in a straw sack and becoming suspicious drove his horses from the pasture and locked them in his barn. The next day supposing the lads were gone he turned the horses into the pasture again.

The boys went on to Walla Walla where it is stated they stole a horse, saddle, bridle and shaps. The Pellissier boy had a saddle horse while the other had none. They then went back and took six horses from the pasture where they were first seen lying in the straw sack.

The sheriff of Columbia county was notified and he and the man who had lost the horses pursued the thieves, and as it had been raining they soon struck the trail and followed them across the Blue Mountain to Fred Pellissier's where they found four of the horses in the pasture, two in the barn, and the boys in bed. Each of the boys has served a term in the reform school.

The sheriff placed handcuffs on the boys, who were as lively and full of fun as though on their way to school, not seeming to realize that the way of the transgressor is hard.

DEATH RECORD.

The six weeks old baby of Mr. and Mrs. George Hale died Saturday at 1 p. m. of acute inanition.

RACKET STORE SOLD.

The racket store has been purchased from Coleman Bros. by Mrs. Serepta Weaver and daughter Miss Ethel, and will be conducted under the firm name of Weaver & Weaver, the new proprietors taking possession Saturday.

Money spent on booze is wasted, spent on clothes is vanity, spent on food is gone, and fooled away is wicked; but money spent for seed or a fruit tree is wisely invested.

BUSINESS CHANGES.

Clarence E. Vest has purchased the dray line of Smith Bros. and took possession Friday. Henry Bauer will have charge of the work for Mr. Vest.

The high prices obtained for Hood River apples are largely due to organization of the growers through which deals were quickly made. The unity of the apple growers of that section from the start has had great effect on the land values. It pays to organize. Producers unite, applies to horticultural as well as industrial workers.

One reason why land is scarce in the west is because a lot of grafters bribed congress a generation ago to give them a total of nearly 173,000,000 acres of land.

It pays better to be behind everybody else in getting fall grain sowed, and thus have the ground well stirred than to hog over it and have it half done.

DELUSIONS AS TO OSTEOPATHY.

Seldon has the world ever revealed and acknowledged any new scientific discovery of radical importance without first showing its "conservatism" by maligning it more or less. Osteopathy has probably not had more than its share of this and has been too busy growing and reaching out into new territory to resent it very much. It is now practiced in every state and territory of the Union, almost all of the states have fully recognized it by legislative enactment and its good work is the best answer to its traducers. But there are a very great many people who, not having read of the new science in a systematic manner, have acquired ideas about osteopathy which are far from correct. These ideas are passed along to neighbors and friends, with no intention of wronging osteopathy or its practitioners, but with that inevitable result.

In this manner many utterly false ideas have become prevalent in certain circles of every community; and it is the purpose of bringing the truth to the attention of all who are willing to inform themselves before passing judgment.

One frequent idea is that, as no drugs are used, osteopathy is one of those "occult" curative schemes that are constantly coming to the surface only to vanish after a short life. As a matter of fact, it is quite the opposite.

It is based on anatomy and physiology, in which subjects its students are even more thoroughly trained than is the case in the colleges where the drug treatment is taught. It is the primary idea of osteopathy that there is a mechanical cause for every disease not due directly to poison, and this cause is sought out and corrected.—Right Way.

Ferguson and the Rabbits.

Robert Ferguson, the poet, was first matriculated at St. Andrew's university in the session of 1764-5. It was the custom at this time for each bursar to take his turn in invoking "blessing" at the meals. The college table having been surfeited with an unbroken diet of rabbits in various forms of cookery, Ferguson, on being called to say grace, repeated what are now celebrated lines:

For rabbits young and for rabbits old,
For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold,
For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough
Our thanks we render, for we've had enough!

It may be added Ferguson was not sent down, but the rabbits were "rusticated."

A Convenient Topic.

"I wonder what persuaded Mr. Bliggins to believe in reincarnation?"
"The fact," replied Miss Cayenne, "that so few people know anything about it. It enables him to have the conversation almost entirely to himself."—Washington Star.

An Isle of Many Names.

The French island which was known as Bourbon under the ancient regime was named Reunion under the revolution, Ile Bonaparte under the empire and Bourbon under the restoration and is Reunion now.

A Maker of Bulls.

Some excellent bulls are credited to William Aroll, who was a London police judge in the thirties of the last century. He once remarked to counsel, "If you can show precisely at what moment the offense was committed and prove that the prisoner was not there when he did it, he could not possibly have done it." And he sagely added, "We cannot divest ourselves of common sense in a court of justice." Of a similar character was an axiom he once delivered himself of, which has been maliciously fathered on many other occupants of the bench. "If ever there was a case of clearer evidence than this case, this case is that case."

His Fate.

There was a young fellow named Mike,
Who decided to go on a strike.
"In future all work,"
He cried, "I will shirk!"
Now you see poor Mike hike down the pike.

Tax on Hats.

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII's reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s. 6d. Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle.
