Little Miss Burbridge and Her Gift From J. P. Morgan.
Little Miss Virginia Burbridge of New York has the distinction of being the youngest fellow of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. And she has the further distinction of being made such by the famous financier and art patron,

LITTLE MISS VIRGINIA BURBRIDGE.
J. Pierpont Morgan. Mr. Morgan paid $5,000 to make her a member. And she is only the daughter of an east side janitor. But her mother has a taste for art and with her baby daughter went to see an exhibition at the Metropolitan museum in which Mr. Morgan was much interested. They happened to be the first ones on hand, and the great financier, noting the interest in art displayed by the mother, took a fancy to reward her by making her daughter a fellow of the famous art institution which he has done so much to make what it is. Little Miss Burbridge does not quite realize yet what a distinction she enjoys.

Lots of Vowels.
In the Hawaiian language every word ends in a vowel. A Hawaiian finds it almost impossible to pronounce two consonants together, and in English he has the greatest difficulty in pronouncing any word ending with a consonant. Mr. Hale in his Polynesian grammar says: "In all the Polynesian dialects every syllable must terminate in a vowel, and two consonants are never heard without a vowel between them. It is chiefly to this peculiarity that the softness of these languages is to be attributed. The longest syllables have only three letters, and many syllables consist of a single vowel." Again, no syllable, as a general rule, in the Bantu family of African speech can end in a consonant, but only in vowels.

M. Labouchere was once held up by the German customs service and had all the contents thrown out of his trunks.
"Put those things back!" said he to the men who had emptied his trunks.
"That is your affair," they answered.
"I stay here until you do," he replied. "But give me a telegraph form." On the form M. Labouchere wrote: "To Prince Bismarck, Berlin.—Regret cannot breakfast with your highness tomorrow. Held here indefinitely." Quick as lightning the officials packed the trunks!

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a very valuable medicine for throat and lung troubles, quickly relieves and cures painful breathing and a dangerously sounding cough which indicates congested lungs. Sold by all dealers.

Up to Date.

"Well, well," remarked old Mr. Pastanogon, "the young women of today are not what they were in my time."
"No?" replied Miss Huskie.
"No, indeed. Why, all you young women nowadays are muscular athletes."

Some Devonshire Superstitions.

Some Devonshire superstitions are mentioned in London Notes and Queries, but why some of them should be regarded as superstitious and why confined to Devonshire does not appear clear. For instance, it is held to be unlucky to put your boots on the table, to put on your coat inside out, for two persons to wipe themselves on the same towel at the same time, to permit a baby to see itself in a looking glass before it is two years old and to open the street door on New Year's morning to a person with light hair.—Exchange.

Foley's Honey and Tar loosens and cures the cough and expels the poisonous germs, thus preventing pneumonia and consumption. Refuse substitutes and take only the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package. Burnaugh & Mayfield.

Cold Comfort.

In a country store a young boy was under discussion by the cracker barrel committee. Jones had just remarked: "That boy's a regular fool. He don't know nothing. He don't know enough to come in when it rains." Then he discovered the boy's father, who had overheard the remark, and, wishing to appease him, he said: "Waal, Sam, 'tain't your fault. You learned him all you knew."
