DEATH RECORD.

Word has been received by Mrs. F. S. Ashley of the death of her father, D. C. Davis, who passed away February 1, at his home in Masada, Tenn., at the advanced age of 85 years.
Mr. Davis was a pioneer of both Union and Wallowa counties, having settled at the Cove in '69 and moving to Wallowa county in '75, where he lived 20 odd years in Alder and on Prairie Creek. He was a member of the Baptist church and a veteran of the Mexican war. In an early day no pioneer family was more hospitable, more highly respected or more widely known in Eastern Oregon than that of D. C. Davis.
His surviving children, of whom there are six and of whom Mrs. F. S. Ashley of this city is the youngest, all have homes and families in the West.

Robert Miller, the La Grande architect and a brother of A. C. Miller of this city, died very suddenly Tuesday night, February 15, at 9 o'clock. He was taken ill of neuralgia of the heart while in this city Saturday, but was able to return home Sunday. He had another short attack on Monday, but nothing serious was apprehended until about 30 minutes before his death.
The deceased was 55 years of age and leaves a widow, a daughter Isabelle, a son Robert, and an infant child, Wm. Miller of La Grande and A. C. Miller of Enterprise are brothers, and Mrs. Kirk of La Grande is a sister.

His sudden death is a great shock to his many friends in this county.
Although in business but few years in the west his handiwork is seen in a number of fine buildings, including the office structure for the Wallowa County Title & Abstract company in this city, the Jennings block in Joseph, the M. & M. Co. block and the F. J. Holmes residence in La Grande.

ADDITIONAL TWELVE MILES OF ROAD CONTRACTED FOR

The Eagle Valley News says: "It has been a question in the minds of people who are acquainted with the tremendous task of building a railroad down Snake river below Homestead, as to whether the road would be continued. It has been thought that possibly the road would not be built beyond Homestead as at this point all the rich mines of this section are accessible and the road would be a paying proposition if it were not constructed further.

"Word has been received on good authority that a contract has been let for the construction of 12 miles of road below Homestead which means that the company will push the road to completion on down Snake river and thus the company will have a water grade from Huntington to the Pacific ocean."

No court ever has or ever will ignore this immunity from personal or business involvement bestowed in return for information required by United States census inquiries. To do otherwise would impair, if not wholly destroy, the scientific efficiency of the census work. So far as the live stock census is concerned, the bureau, following fair, impartial, and unbiased methods, quickly separates the person, firm, or corporation from the facts furnished, and private or corporate identity in connection with any census data remains forever sealed and sacred in the great safes of the census office."
