DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

The only former mistresses of the White House living are Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has opened elaborate headquarters in the Arlington hotel in Washington.

Victoria Daniels, a nineteen-year-old Chicago girl, is the champion holly wreath maker of that city. She made 352 holly wreaths in one day of ten hours, exceeding by sixteen the record of 336 made by Emma Vogel a year ago.

Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, is a pretty girl, with blue eyes and fair hair. She is a fearless horsewoman, a tireless rider and the winner of a scholarship which she is proud to think, would enable her to continue her studies if she were to be thrown upon her own resources.

Miss Alice Paul, the American girl who was sentenced to an English prison for taking part in the recent suffragette outbreaks, comes of an old Quaker family of Moorestown, N. J. She took honors at Swarthmore college, later had a postgraduate course at the University of Pennsylvania and then went to England, where she was studying when she became interested in the equal franchise question.

Things Theatrical.

Vera Michelena is to appear in "The Flirting Princess."

Frederick Lewis is to rejoin the Sothern-Marlowe company.

Nance O'Neil has made a big personal success in "The Lily."

Frank Daniels is playing an indefinite engagement at Daly's in New York in "The Belle of Brittany."

Dick Lee, to prove his versatility, undertook lately to play a different character in each of the four acts of "A Little Brother of the Rich" in New York.

Miss Mary Moore, the leading lady of Sir Charles Wyndham, who is accompanying him on his American tour, is also a partner with him in his London theater.

The place of George Arliss in "Septimus" has been taken by Claus Bogel, who was the star's understudy. Mr. Bogel played the role of the French soldier in the story.

Recent Inventions.

To a Philadelphian has been granted a patent on a machine to pass tobacco leaves in bundles under X rays to kill the small insects which infest them.

A patent has been granted on an electric rat trap which resembles a rather flat bell. When a rat climbs up on it to reach the bait it completes a fatal circuit.

A piano stool that will accommodate but one person under ordinary circumstances, but which contains leaves which can be spread to hold two to play duets, has been invented by a Chicagoan.

By inventing a hairpin the prongs of which normally are close together, but which may be sprung open to insert, a Pennsylvania woman has designed a device more secure than pins of the usual form.

Sporting Notes.

Syracuse ice racing light harness clubs will unite.

The Boston Americans are after new grounds for 1912.

Cornell has won eastern cross country runs ten times in eleven years.

Alfred Shrubbs has won ninety-five out of 101 races since coming to this country nearly three years ago.

James A. Murphy of New York has bought his old love, Star Pointer, 1504, and the first two minute pacer is certain of a good home as long as he lives.

Dan Patch, 1:55 1/4, has covered more than 70,000 miles since going into the exhibition business. What has been announced as his final appearance in public took place last Thanksgiving day at Los Angeles, where he scored over Minor Heir in 2:15 1/4.

Three Kings.

The German emperor is very popular with officers of the imperial army. His nickname among the German soldiers is Herr Lehmann.

King Edward was recently awarded four first prizes for his exhibits at the Smithfield cattle show. His majesty is a tenant farmer, not a landlord, and pays a large sum every year in rent and taxes for his holdings.

King Gustave of Sweden tried to find out the facts concerning the recent great strike in his country, but without complete success. Now he disguises himself and works among artisans of various sorts unknown that he may have knowledge of actual conditions at first hand. Recently he carried sacks of coal as a stevedore for several hours.

Short Stories.

There are over 7,000 beekeepers in this country, and product of their hives last year was enough to fill a train of cars over 400 miles long.

According to the Indian Spectator, a curious marriage is reported from Kathiawar, India, where a man of seventy has married a girl of nine.

Italy will commemorate this year the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of its kingdom by an international exposition at Turin from April till October.

Polar Reflections.
How awful 'twould be to live at the pole,
With no back yard but an icy shoal
And no front lawn but a big, deep hole—
At the pole!

Nowhere to get your breakfast roll,
Nowhere to buy a load of coal,
Nowhere to go for a pleasant stroll—
At the pole!

Nowhere to sit on a grassy knoll
Or the mossy side of a fallen bole
And idly loaf and invite your soul—
At the pole!

Doesn't it seem a little droll?
There's nothing to do but to enroll
Your name upon fame's glittering scroll—
At the pole!

—Carolyn Wells in New York Tribune.

Professional Advice.
Father Dooley had just tied the knot. He looked expectant, the bride looked sheepish, and Pat, shifting from one foot to another, looked guilty. At last he began, "I—don't like to be mane, father, but I changed me clothes in a hurry and left me wages in me other pants." Then he added in a whisper: "Take me down in the cellar. I'm a plumber, and I'll show ye how to fix the gas meter so 't won't register more than 40 per cent." —Success Magazine.

Fate's Jolts.
If fate hands out a bump to you,
Don't quit the game.
There is no soft, upholstered road
To wealth or fame.

Keep plugging right along and say
When you fall flat,
"Another jolt from fate, but I Expected that."

A grin is better than a groan.
Life's road is tough.
But jolts won't stop you if you're made
Of proper stuff.
—Detroit Free Press.

Word From Er'er Williams.
Ef de ferryman ain't dar wen you gits ter de river an' de steamboat's done blowed up think o' yo' swimmin' lessons an' jump in, but fer de Lawd's sake don't holler fer rope wen you git half way 'cross or de world 'll laugh at you an' make you mad enough ter wish you wuz lost in de wilderness.—Atlanta Constitution.

To Get the Fourth Dimension of Space.
[As understood after reading article headed "Boy of Ten Addresses Harvard Teachers."]

Take a hecatonicocahedrigon and multiply by four.
A sexicoahedrigon plus half as many more.
Put in some polyhedrigons where gaps suggest a minus
And you'll have a polyhedral-perpendocahedrigon.
—New York Times.

Fixed Ratio.
Actor (on the road)—I suppose you have no idea what the size of our house will be tonight. It varies, doesn't it?
Native—Well, you kin generally tell purty accurately by dividing the number of people in the company by two.
—Puck.

Cheerful Events.
Molly for a husband sighed—
She pouted, so 'twas prated—
And Anna pined to be a bride
Till she was nigh prostrated.
But Cupid came to join their side—
To mate they both were fated,
And thus was Molly mollified
And also Anna-mated.
—Kansas City Times.

Appearances.
"Bliggins seems very busy."
"Yes," answered the jealous professional acquaintance. "He has an arrangement with the operator by which his telephone is rung up every three minutes when he has callers."—Washington Star.

Double Stitch.
The sewing circle
Meets each week
At a given point
Because they seek
Savages to dress
In coat and gown—
Likewise to dress
The neighbors down.
—Chicago News.

Turned In.
"I suppose you see some funny things turned in here?" asked the man in the pawnbroker's shop.
"Oh, yes," replied the "uncle;" "a man was in here this morning who turned in his toes."—Yonkers Statesman.

Clean Bill.
He found a welcome in the sky
That's worth your while to win;
Paid up his debts and said goodby,
And the angels said, "Come in!"
—Atlanta Constitution.

A Sure Thing.
Mickey Junior—Wasn't it Patrick Henry who said, "Let us have peace?"
Mickey Senior—Nobody by th' name of Patrick iver said anything loike that.—Judge's Library.

Big Miller Writes:
We learned a goodly thing or two
Right here upon the farm.
A cocktail on the fence won't do
No livin' soul no harm.
—Boston Herald.

Natural Result.
"And what did he do when the waiter poured that steaming soup down his neck?"
"Got hot under the collar, of course."
—Philadelphia Ledger.

Made to Order.
That "brevity's the soul of wit"
At time we think is corking—
That is, we think the saying's fit
When other folks are talking.
—Boston Herald.

The Reason Why.
Kicker—Why doesn't the bride marry the best man?
Snicker—She has to marry the man she can get.—Judge.

Poetical Tom Tucker.
Little Tom Tucker
Sings for his supper.
Where will he land?
Right on his upper.
—Saturday Evening Post.

Colonist Rates

To OREGON and the Great Northwest

The management of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co. takes great pleasure in announcing that the low rates from Eastern cities, which have done so much in past seasons to stimulate travel to and settlement in Oregon, will prevail again this Spring DAILY from March 1 to April 15, inclusive.

People of Oregon

The railroads have done their part; now it's up to you. The colonist rate is the greatest of all home-builders. Do all you can to let Eastern people know about it, and encourage them to come here, where land is cheap and home-building easy and attractive.

Fares Can Be Prepaid

At home if desired. Any agent of the road is authorized to receive the required deposit and telegraph ticket to any point in the East

Remember the Rates

From Chicago, $33; from St. Louis, $32; from Omaha and Kansas City, $25. This reduction is proportionate from all other cities.

completion of this great packing house is a big boost for the producers of livestock not only in this state but throughout the Northwest. The killing department is prepared to handle about 500 cattle a day as a starter and has a capacity of 1000 hogs and sheep. The interest shown in livestock production throughout the big territory tributary to this market will largely determine the magnitude of operations by the new plant. Hogs reached $11.10 during the past week.

It will soon be time for purchasing Spring requirements in farm implements. The E. M. & M. Co. have a complete line at reasonable prices.
