SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1910.

And now we're having vigorous protests against "colored oleo." It sounds like a kick on the second part of a minstrel show, but it isn't.

If Hobson and his jingo crowd keep bellowing "War, war!" when there is no war, the people will refuse to take the real thing seriously.

It is all very well for cities to pass ordinances limiting the length of women's hatpins, but the crying need of the hour among downtrodden hubbies is some soft material out of which rolling pins may be made.

Too bad that Captain Amundsen's north pole quest is to be called off. It would be worth while to know whether the pole has become disgusted and gone out of business.

So far there has been no popular outburst of indignation because the senate committee refused to vote a pension of $10,000 a year to ablebodied ex-presidents.

Hungary's parliamentary row wound up with a rapid fire of inkstands, books and other missiles aimed at the ministers of the king, while ours began and ended with talk not always sane, but tolerably safe.

You can reduce or increase the cost of living by just the difference between the failing price of last year's potatoes and Bermudas.

Political Reformers Work Uselessly.

By A. LAWRENCE LOWELL, President of Harvard University.

THE popular clamor against party bosses should not be so strenuous. As a matter of fact they exist in very few states. Many people rail against the political machines when in their own little private affairs they have the EXACT COPY OF A POLITICAL MACHINE WORKING ON A SMALL SCALE.

THE EFFORTS OF GOOD MEN TOWARD REFORM OFTEN REMIND ME OF A WOODPECKER IN CAMBRIDGE THAT STROVE MANY HOURS ONE AFTERNOON TO PECK A HOLE IN A TIN GUTTER PIPE.

The discussion by political scientists as to the referendum and initiative, the reform of municipal government and proportional representation are CONDUCTED MAINLY IN THE AIR. Reformers are prone to imagine that a new device will work as they intended it to work.

But the only fair supposition is that men will remain under any system essentially what they are—A FEW GOOD, A FEW BAD AND THE MASS INDIFFERENT to matters which do not touch their personal interests. We hear much of the excellence of municipal government abroad, and how much have we heard about the real causes of that excellence? Men in public life are inclined to disregard suggestions from academic regions. The subject of direct primaries is a burning one at present. Public opinion on this question is in a strange state of chaos.

Doctors of Today Too Cold.

By Dr. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health of Pennsylvania.

THE PRESENT DAY HURRIED, UNFEELING METHODS OF A GREAT MANY DOCTORS HAVE LOST FOR THEM THE RESPECT WHICH IN THE PAST MOST PEOPLE HELD THEM IN.

In order that the physician may wield the influence that he did of old and regain his place of authority in the community, I would suggest a happy medium between the worthy of bygone centuries who practiced the art of medicine and the modern man who practices the science as well as the art. During office hours he would GIVE EACH PATIENT HIS SOLE AND INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION. Of course he would have lost no time in answering the call to the sick mother. Knowing the father intimately, he would have had a friendly word with him, a promise to see him again and let him know the character of his wife's indisposition. He would MAKE A MENTAL NOTE OF THE CONDITION OF THE CHILDREN AS HE PASSED THEM with a friendly smile.

The Rubber Plant In 1735.

The first accurate information regarding the wonderful rubber plant was furnished by La Condamine, a French scientist who was sent in 1735 by the government of France to measure an arc of the meridian near Quito. This brought him to the heart of the rubber growing country, and much valuable information was thus obtained.

Prompt relief in all cases of throat and lung trouble if you use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pleasant to take, soothing and healing in effect. Sold by all dealers.

Unknown London.

There is not a single man living who knows all London, who has been through every street or into every crescent, square and terrace. This seems a hard saying, and it is one which visitors from abroad or the colonies find it impossible to believe, but nevertheless it is absolutely and incontrovertibly true. Let any one take a map of London and try to mark in red ink all the streets which he can honestly say he has visited and he will have to confess that he knows but little of the metropolis of the world and that the red marked streets are but as nothing compared with those which he has had to leave untouched.—London Globe.

Diarrhoea should be cured without loss of time by a medicine which like Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy not only cures promptly but produces no unpleasant after effects. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. Sold by all druggists.

Advertising a Dogs' Cemetery.

For several years Parisians and English visitors to Paris have made pious pilgrimages to the dogs' cemetery on the Ile des Ravageurs, just outside the city. There they have read with emotion such inscriptions as "A Mon Toutou Adore," "A Mon Malou Cher" and many others of a similar kind. But it now transpires that these tender tributes were the invention of some enterprising stone carver who, when the graveyard was opened in 1899, was given a monopoly for the tombstones to be erected over the graves of canine favorites. In order to attract others he erected fifty stones in various parts of the cemetery and engraved apocryphal inscriptions on them.—Paris Cor. London World.

Every family and especially those who reside in the country should be provided at all times wth a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. There is no telling when it may be wanted in case of accident or emergency. It is most excellent in all cases of rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by all dealers.

Visiting Cards.

While it would be difficult to say just when visiting cards were first used, we are quite certain of the fact that they are not of very ancient date. Apparently they were adopted in English society before they were generally used on the continent. It was probably about 1700 that they came into fashion in Great Britain, and it was as late as 1770 when they were introduced in Paris. It appears that the first visiting cards were regular playing cards, the backs of which were used for the address.—New York American.

Your tongue is coated.
Your breath is foul.
Headaches come and go.
These symptoms show that your stomach is the trouble. To remove the cause is the first thing, and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will do that. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by all dealers.

When Melbourne Was Scared.

Melbourne has never seen any real fighting, but it has had several scares. Its people for a long time cherished the delusion that the Russians had designs upon their city. Twice Russian admirals dropped in there casually, took soundings and landed observation parties. Once the citizens were aroused from their beds in the small hours of the morning by cannon booming and rocket firing down the bay. "The Russians at last!" was the general cry. But it was only a too joyous British captain who had made a record passage from London.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets assist nature in driving all impurities out of the system, insuring a free and regular condition and restoring the organs of the body to health and strength. Sold by all dealers.

Origin of the Name "Bloodhound."

The bloodhound was first known in England as the sleuthhound, later as the English bloodhound—not on account of his thirst for blood, but because of his pure breeding, the same as one speaks of a pure bred, pure blood or blooded horse. He was first introduced in England by that good sportsman William the Conqueror. Later he was known in France as the St. Hubert and in the eighth century as the Flemish hound. There were no real English bloodhounds in America before those sent over by Edwin Brough to the New York dog show in 1888. The registration of the American Kennel club shows that they were the first imported and the first ever registered.—Recreation.

Political Burglaries.

It was through a stolen document openly seized by the British ambassador in Berlin that the British government first learned of the recognition of the independence of America by France. The British minister was Hugh Elliot, and he had the desk of the French minister forced open to obtain the copy of the treaty he wanted. In 1855 a sensation was created by the discovery of a plan by which secret documents were systematically abstracted from the Russian embassy in Berlin, being copied at night in the interests of another nation and replaced in the drawer at the embassy in the morning. The burglaries had been taking place for two years before they were discovered.

The Disappointed Prodigal.

Slowly, with bowed head and faltering step, the prodigal son walked up the garden path.

His father, an old man, wrinkled and white bearded, stood at the door.

"Father, father," cried the P. S., "I've come home to die!"

"Just my luck!" groaned the old man. "I let your insurance policy lapse last month!"
