Elmer Ransom of New Plymouth, Idaho, arrived in Enterprise Thursday and is looking over the north country with a view to either buying or taking up a homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Shaw returned Thursday from Seattle, after a stay in the Washington city of about a year. They expect to make their home here permanently. Enterprise welcomes them again, they having been here last spring before leaving for Seattle.

Mr. John Able of Flora, well known in the north part of the county, visited LaGrande last Wednesday to make final proof of homestead at the land office in that city.

Mr. Rancher: Did you know that W. J. Funk & Co. are agents for the famous John Deere alfalfa rakes, stackers, plows, and all the Deere agricultural implements? Come in and let us quote you prices.

Mrs. T. M. Dill, county president of the W. C. T. U., visited the union at Joseph Thursday, and gave a report of the state convention which she attended as a delegate.

Mrs. W. H. Dilworth and two children arrived here from Portland Thursday evening. They will make their future home in Enterprise, coming originally from Rock Island, Ill. W. H. Dilworth is engaged in an editorial capacity on the Chieftain and the News-Record.

If you should want anything in the line of gasoline engines, pumping plants, and similar outfits, come to us. We handle the Fairbanks Morse and Co's engines and machines. Let us give you prices and show you that we can save you money. W. J. Funk & Co.

The work on the concrete rip-rap along the river's edge at the residence of Mr. W. H. Graves on River street, is about completed. This quality of rip-rap will no doubt prevent any possible washing away of the grounds about the residence, and will keep the river permanently in its channel on that side.

The rapidly with which city lots are being sold in Enterprise demonstrates the stable, persistent growth of the county seat. The only difficulty the newcomer here experiences at first is that of getting a house to rent. When a residence property is vacated usually there are several on the waiting list ready to move in.

Mrs. Fred Pierson of Joseph, who about one month ago was taken to LaGrande Hospital for an operation for appendicitis but which was postponed on the advice of consulting physicians until she recovered from the attack, has been under osteopathic treatment for the past few weeks and has so far recovered that an operation will not be necessary.

When in Enterprise, call at W. J. Funk & Co's and get prices on the famous John Deere agricultural implements. Let us quote you prices especially on alfalfa rakes and stackers. Don't buy till you get our prices.

Mr. W. W. Zurcher, well known throughout Wallowa county, has opened the Meadow Dairy, some two miles and a half from Enterprise, and is now prepared to furnish consumers with milk, cream, buttermilk and various dairy products. Attention is called to Mr. Zurcher's advertisement in this issue.

Mr. J. O. Kiddle of Lostine, spent Friday in Enterprise shaking hands and conversing with friends and business acquaintances. Mr. Kiddle has charge of the flouring mills at Lostine, and states that the country round about that place is settling gradually and that the business volume of the town is increasing in proportion. Mr. Kiddle had been on a trip to Joseph, stopping in Enterprise on his return to Lostine.

Messrs. Davis and Ward are making extensive improvements and additions to their pool hall and lunch and soda water counter.

Joseph J. Gill of Zumwalt was in the city attending to business matters Thursday.

L. Couch, the popular Wallowa real estate dealer, was in Enterprise transacting business Thursday.

Mr. A. C. Carpenter who recently sold his stock of jewelry to Martin Larson, has been somewhat under the weather for several days. It is hoped by his many friends here that he will recover his usual good health.

Owing to the funeral services tomorrow in Enterprise the game of ball scheduled to be played with Joseph on the Enterprise grounds has been transferred to Joseph, and the return game will be played in this city on Sunday, May 1.

J. E. Bruce arrived from North Yakima, Wash., last evening to look over the farm purchased last fall by Mr. Purdin, who is in partnership with Mr. Bruce. Mr. Bruce will visit here for a few days when he will return to North Yakima and rent his present holdings and then return to Wallowa county to make his home.

MORE IMMIGRATION.

According to the preparations and the statements of both railroads and large real estate firms, there will be a greater influx of colonists and homeseekers to Oregon, this year, than during any previous year of the state's history. Oregon in general and Wallowa county in particular are glad to know of this.

Enterprise and Wallowa county offer much to the settler. As a county Wallowa is but in the dawn of her development. She is a county that grows opportunities. Her opportunities will continue to multiply with every cultivated rod of ground, every increase of wheat and fruit and vegetable production, every strip of timothy land snatched from the grasp of wild nature and made to contribute to the prosperity of man. As a city Enterprise will respond to every furrow made by the new settler. She will rise in her demands, as a market, with each increased area of cultivation. And she will build factories and homes, businesses and public institutions commensurate with each stage of Wallowa county progress.

Enterprise was so named because she was conceived in a spirit of enterprise, founded upon a labor of enterprise, and pressed to development by a determination of enterprise. Naturally there are no drones in Enterprise. The drone, we confess would not do well here, because he would not do anything. But for the eastern man crowded off the populous acres of his eastern nativity, Enterprise and all Wallowa county offer untold promises of wealth based upon bedrock facts of untold natural resources.

If it is true, as we have no doubt, that the present year will witness the greatest influx of homeseekers of any previous year, Enterprise and Wallowa county will get and merit their share of this number. We have water power that is going to waste. We have hundreds of thousands of acres of land waiting the cultivator. Mountains covered with snow feed the unfailing drinking water supply—a supply that is always pure and cold and clear as crystal. We have homes for men, pleasure for big investors, and prosperity for everybody. Come to Wallowa—and come to Enterprise.

BREEZY NOTES FROM THE FLORA COUNTRY

The first permanent settlers there. He is a genial whole-souled man man whose friends are a legion and all are sorry to hear of his suffering and nearness to death's portal. His wife, two sons and a daughter are at his bedside.

John Reese has been awarded the contract for carrying the mail between here and Bartlett via Troy and Grouse. His contract is for four years and begins July 1 next.

It is expected, the new ferry at Troy will be in commission by Saturday, April 23.

Personal Notes.

Lincoln Austin is taking the census of Flora and Paradise precincts, and he also has Mud Creek. H. A. Galloway is working at the same job in Lost Prairie and Grouse.

J. A. Crossland, who owns a fine fruit ranch on the Grande Ronde river, just above Troy, was out with a load of fruit trees the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Myers and little grandson of Mud Creek were in town Monday. Their son Claude, who runs a meat wagon, supplying all the farmers and lumber camps for many miles around, was also here Monday.

Mrs. Ida Edwards has bought the residence property in which she resides, from Richard Myers.

A. C. Miller, the Enterprise insurance and loan agent, was transacting business here, in Lost Prairie and Paradise Wednesday. He came in Tuesday and reports the road in good condition between here and Enterprise.

Roy Edgeman, who had been teaching school at Grouse, passed through Tuesday night on the way to his home at Chico.

Mina Hulse returned Monday from Southern Oregon where he had been the last year.

The new road by the Miller school house to Wallowa is all but impassible, and the stage is forced to come the old route.

John Holloway is moving from Lost Prairie to the A. Moore place just north of town.

COUNCILMEN ACCEPT THEIR NOMINATIONS.

All the councilmen nominated at the mass meeting last Thursday night have accepted the action of caucus, and will run for the office. In addition a petition is being circulated placing Mr. J. W. Bickford also in nomination. This gives the voter five candidates from which to select two city councilmen, all of the candidates men well known in the city's affairs.

NEVADA RESIDENT MAY LOCATE IN ENTERPRISE.

Mr. Elmer Keltner of Goldfield, Nevada, brother of S. D. Keltner, the well known local hardware dealer, arrived in Enterprise from near Goldfield last week, and while he has not yet fully determined upon the matter, yet thinks seriously of remaining in Enterprise. Thus the county seat of Wallowa, without discharging too many bouquets at her, appeals to all visitors. The Enterprise Press extends a cordial welcome to Mr. Keltner, and to all newcomers. Watch Wallowa grow is the slogan.

NEW GENERAL SALESMAN FOR W. J. FUNK & CO.

Mr. R. A. Grier, originally of northern California, but more recently of Washington, arrived in Enterprise Wednesday last to accept a position as salesman in the employ of the W. J. Funk and Company here. Mr. Grier is a gentleman of family, and expects to make Enterprise his home intending to have his family follow him as soon as he is settled in his new position. Mr. Grier comes highly recommended by traveling men who have known him for years in business, and he will find a congenial atmosphere both in Enterprise and with the firm which employs him.

HERE TO ORGANIZE NEXT YEAR'S LECTURE COURSE

Rev. Ellis of the La Grande Christian church, visited Enterprise this week, arriving here Thursday. Mr. Ellis comes in the effort to organize a lecture course for the coming winter. He met with the Enterprise Commercial club Thursday night, presenting the series of entertainments, five in number, supplied by the Ridgely Lyceum bureau.

HARRY CHENOWETH IMPROVES FROM SERIOUS OPERATION

Harry Chenoweth, brother of Mrs. Sarah Maxwell, is improving from an operation in a hospital in Salem. Mr. Chenoweth is well known here where he lived up to a few years ago. He was raised and lived most of his life on the Merry place on Alder Slope.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Moore made a professional trip to Wallowa Friday.

SONS OF W. H.
DILWORTH DROWN.

Ham, the younger son, floating near the water's edge, and the cap of Landrum, the elder, was afterward found floating, half submerged, about eight feet from the shore.

The alarm was given and the people responded immediately. Willing men waded into the reservoir, and after a brief search the body of William, the younger, was carried from the water, and a few minutes that of Landrum was found. The physicians did all in their power to resuscitate life, but the little tots had doubtless been in the water two hours, possibly more.

Obituary.

Landrum L. Dilworth was born in Moline, Ill., March 23, 1900. His little life was full of sickness from the first, and he spent one summer in Grand Valley, Colorado. After the dawn of his eighteenth month he grew stronger, and continued to improve until he grew into the fine little fellow he was at the time of his death. For extreme tenderness of heart and generosity of impulse he was remarkable.

William W. Dilworth, called by the pet name of "Buster" by his parents, was born in Moline, Ill., April 19, 1902. He had just observed his eighth birthday anniversary the Tuesday before his death, in Portland. His brief life was one of supreme contentment and childish happiness, thoughtful and reflective for one of his years, and like his brother loved by all who ever knew them.

Both boys expressed themselves happily at coming to Enterprise, where their parents came to remain permanently. It is in this beautiful spot, on the hill both the boys expressed delight with, that they will be laid to rest.

Funeral services will be held from the Presbyterian church Sunday at 10 o'clock a. m., conducted by Rev. Samuel Harris, assisted by Rev. C. E. Trueblood.

MARTIN LARSON BUYS THE A. C. CARPENTER STOCK.

Martin Larson, the well known Enterprise jeweler, purchased the jewelry stock originally owned by A. C. Carpenter, the deal having been closed last Thursday night. Mr. Larson has consolidated the stock with his own, adding to it new goods, until the jewelry store presents a neat array of everything in the jewelry line.

NEW LANDLORD AT SLEDS.

Flora, April 21—M. B. Dickson, the new landlord at Sled Springs, arrived there today and took charge. J. S. Chambers and family, who have conducted the well known half-way stopping place since last June, leave tomorrow for Fort George, upper British Columbia, where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers have run a first-class hotel and the traveling public is sorry to see them leave. The new landlord, Mr. Dickson, has leased the place from Mr. Chambers. He comes from Grants Pass.

Gleanings.
Osteopathy, in my opinion, is no longer an experiment but a science, and it seems to me that the legislature ought to take the same cognizance of it that they do of other schools of medicine.—Senator R. L. Taylor, of Tennessee.

When he understands his profession, which implies that he understands thoroughly human anatomy, blood distribution and the distribution of the nervous force, the osteopath is a scientific man, valuable to the human race.—New York Evening Journal.

Gold Leaf.
While a leaf of gold is so thin that it is impossible to measure its thickness, scales have been made which weigh it accurately. One leaf weighs one-fifth of a grain. It is so light that a breath will blow it away. Held to the light, it is translucent and greenish.
