An Economical Man. A commercial traveler told of a man who was riding on a train and pretended to become III after eating a sandwich. The man opened his grip and took out a hot water bag. "He got a sympathetic porter," the commercial man continues, "to fill the water bag with boiling water, and then be opened up his lunch basket, took out a piece of fried steak and warmed it up on the water bag. You talk about your light housekeeping! Then after he had warmed the steak be cut it all up with a pair of scissors and fed it to himself with a pair of sugar tongs, because be would not take a chance with a fork going around a curve. But his finish was a limit. After he had eaten the steak he unscrewed the stopper of the water bag and poured himself out a cup of hot coffee. He had the grounds in the bag all the time."

Dying to order is one of the most sacred customs of the American Indian. Many years ago Standing Eik went to Major James McLaughlin, the author of "My Friend the Indian," and said, "Father, my wife will die today, and she wants a coffin from you." The major asked bim what the all-ment was, and he replied: "Just nothing but that she heard the ghosts calling and must go." Somebody had told her, it turned out, that she was sick, so she had "painted for death," and all her relatives had gathered about to bemoan her-and incidentally divide her property as soon as she was dead. There was no use in the major's orguing about it, so be had the coffin made.

In many cases those "painted for death" are actually builted into dying, but Mrs. Standing Elk was still too vigorous. Finally in despair she ear-ried the coffin into the house on her own shoulders, and several years later the major saw it still standing on end in her house. Shelves had been fitted into it, and it was doing duty as a cup board .- Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Mississippi Steamboating.

The steamboat age on the Mississippi began about 1821 and fourished for fifty years. As early as 1 14 the number of steambeats on the Mississippi and its tributaries is estimated at 230. and in 1842 there were 450 vessels, with a value of $25,008,000. But the golden era was from 1848 till the war. Never did the valley and steamboating prosper more than then. The sands of bales of cotton were annually shipped to southern markets, and the wharfs of St. Louis and Memphis and Vicksburg and other large ports were stacked with piles of merchandise and lined with scores of steamers.-Travel Mag-

Corrected.

It is the custom of a well known minister to point his sermons with either "dearly beloved brethren" or "now, my brothers." One day a lady member of his congregation took exeption to this.

"Why do you always preach to the gentlemen and never to the ladies? she asked.

"My dear lady," said the beaming vienr, "one embraces the other." "But not in the church!" was the instant reply.

The Cruel Reason. Mrs. Gossip-How does it come that I thought you were enemies. Mrs. nothing fit to wear and wanted to make me feel bad.

So Foolish. "She is neglecting her game of bridge dreadfully."

"Why is she doing that?" "Some silly excuse. Says the children need her. I belleve."-Pittsburg

As Ancient Custom. "I wonder if men have always complained about the food their wives prepared for them," said one woman. "I guess so." replied the other. "Adam started it."-Washington Star.

The New Cook. "-

Wifey-This pudding is a sample of the new cook's work. What do you think of it? Hub-I'd call it mediocre. Wifey-No, dear; it's tapioca,-Boston Transcript.

Disguised. Customer-I'm going to a masked ball, and I want something that will completely disguise me, Costumer-Certainly, sir. I will give you something nice.-Pele Mele. Married Women Barred.

FOREST GROVE - No married women will hereafter be employed as teachers in the public schools of Forest Grove. This is not because they have not done satisfactory work, but isther that the school board has decided to employ only unmarried women and widows-women who make their own livelihood.

Placed Himself.

"I really cannot believe you when you say that you are one of my flock!" exclaimed a clergyman who was new to his parish.

"Oh, yes, I be! I be t' black sheep!" replied the ne'er do well addressed .-London Answers.

How Bamboos Bloom

Bamboo plants are said to have the peculiarity of blooming at exactly the same time, whether in Europe or Africa, the difference in climate and surin the plants bursting into flower. They blossom rarely, but as they die immediately afterward this cannot be deplored. The plant is said to be exquisitely graceful and is easily cuiti-
