

WHITE MUSTARD THREATENS LAND

SENATOR TURNER OLIVER CONTINUOUSLY ON LOOKOUT TO STOP GROWTH.

To his credit and greatly to the benefit of every rancher in Wallowa and Union counties, Senator Turner Oliver is giving as much of his attention as possible to ferretting out patches of white mustard weed in his two counties, and is taking an active interest in laboring to check and eradicate the pest.

Fine for Letting it Grow. It will be of interest to all residents of the county to know that a fine of from $50 to $100 for each offense is levied upon any individual resident of the county who fails to exterminate the pest.

Nature of Weed. Senator Oliver has made a close study of this dangerous pest, and every land holder will agree with him when he says that a few vigorous prosecutions are necessary in order to check the encroachments of the weed upon the land.

weed to grow along their right of way. The weed is carried into the county by freight cars and the seed is so small that its dissemination is wide. Moreover the plant itself is so shaped when ripe as to roll before the wind like a tumbleweed, scattering thousands of seeds everywhere.

F. S. ASHLEY MOVES INTO NEW BUILDING

F. S. Ashley this week moved into his new business quarters, on Main street, the building being, practically completed. Mr. Ashley erected the block, designing the rooms specially for his furniture and undertaking business, and the appointments in the new quarters are up to date and all that could be wished.

Enterprise shows in this and in other instances a persistent, healthy growth which is remarked about by every traveler entering the city. Mr. Ashley's new building adds another new business block to the city.

DEATH OF MRS. NOBLES JULY 15, AT ASOTIN

Mrs. J. B. Nobles, well known by many residents of Wallowa county, died at her home in Asotin, Wash., July 15, at 2:30 p. m. She would have been 43 years of age had she lived until August 31.

Obituary. Mrs. Nobles was born in Illinois August 31, 1869. Her family moved to Missouri and later to Wallowa, Oregon. Mrs. Nobles whose maiden name was Miss Ida May Taylor resided in Wallowa eighteen years, and on January 24, 1886, was united in marriage to James B. Nobles.

Mrs. Nobles was the mother of nine children, four boys and five girls, all of whom with the father and husband, and a mother and four sisters survive her. The entire immediate family were present at

DEATH KNELL OF "NEAR BEER" IS SOUNDED BY VERDICT THURSDAY NIGHT

So-called "near beer" heard its death knell sounded in Wallowa county by the jury in the case of the State of Oregon vs. John Mitchell and John Pipes of Wallowa. Both defendants were found guilty. Alleged "near beer" was found to contain, on chemical analysis, 5.39 per cent alcohol. Ordinary lager beer was found, on analysis, to contain from 3 to 6 per cent alcohol.

A Big Verdict.

No jury within recent months in this county has made so important a decision. The finding of the jurors virtually sounds the death knell of so-called "near beer" in this county, and means that instead of the sale of the intoxicant promiscuously and openly and with impunity, it must be either "bootlegged" as in the case of whisky, or not sold at all during the operation of the present law.

The time of Mrs. Nobles' death. The funeral services were held from the Christian church at Asotin, July 16. One sister and the mother live in Santa Ana, Calif., two sisters in Missouri and one sister in Washington.

COURT ORDERS THOMAS TUCKER AGAIN APPREHENDED

This week Judge Knowles of the circuit court ordered that Thomas Tucker be apprehended. According to the sheriff's office served the order, returning with the prisoner. The matter dates back some two years ago when Mr. Tucker was charged with inciting a riot at the Makin shearing plant in which one man is alleged to have been shot through the leg by Tucker.

HORSES FRIGHTENED WHEN TONGUE COMES LOOSE

The junior member of the firm of Payne & Sheets, Mr. Sheets, met with a runaway accident the first of the week, while driving into Enterprise from the Slope. One end of the buggy tongue dropped to the ground upon coming loose from the buggy. In trying to stop the team one of the front wheels of the vehicle ran upon one of the horses, frightening the team. The harder Mr. Sheets pulled upon the lines the more closely the vehicle ran upon the heels of the horses and the harder the team ran.

Judge Knowles Son Near Death

Little Fellow With Playmates Narrowly Escapes Being Blown to Atoms.

Evert Knowles, little 10-year-old son of Circuit Judge and Mrs. J. W. Knowles, and two other little playmates narrowly escaped being blown to pieces by the explosion of a can of gun powder last Thursday at La Grande while the judge was sitting on the circuit bench in Enterprise. According to the La Grande press reports the details are as follows: David Brichoux, Albert Curry and Evert Knowles, all about 10 years of age, in some manner ran upon a can of gun powder.

PROFESSOR CONLEY MAKING OUT ANNUAL SCHOOL REPORT

Superintendent Conley is busy at work making out the annual school report of Wallowa county for the State Superintendent of Schools. Thus far the report is not completed, but the figures for total enrollment and average attendance have been assembled, and the showing is excellent. Out of a total enrollment for the county of 2116 there is shown a total average daily attendance of 1592. And out of a total enumeration of 2803 the total enrollment is, as stated, 2116.

WOOL BUYERS HERE TO DIRECT WOOL SHIPMENTS

C. P. Angell of the Hallowell, Jones & Donald company arrived in Enterprise Tuesday evening to direct the shipments of wool recently purchased by him here. Representatives of the several other wool consignees, who purchased parts of the Wallowa county clip, also arrived Wednesday and Thursday, and the woolgrowers' ware house here will be "cleaned" of wool within a few days.

SAYINGS ON OSTEOPATHY.

After the hen has stopped laying is no time to begin saving the eggs, neither should you wait until health is lost and you are bedfast before beginning Osteopathic treatment (which is what most people do.) Nature's way of doing things is always the best, and whatever assists her the most in ridding the human body of obstacles to self care and cure is the greatest physician.

Man rapidly outgrows all implements, from the scythe to the modern reaper; from the spinning wheel to the cotton factory; from mule cars to trolley lines; from drug doting to the handmaid of Nature—Osteopathy.

from Washington by Federal Commissioner G. M. Bowers, that a large consignment of rainbow trout will be brought into Enterprise within 30 days. Mr. Boatman will receive the thousands of "fry" and send them to various points in the county for distribution in the waters here.

LA GRANDE WORKMAN IS GROUND UNDER WHEELS

A. M. Johnson, employed at the Palmer Lumber mills at La Grande, was literally cut to pieces while at work on the night shift, Wednesday night. Both arms, the head, and the left leg were dismembered and the right leg and trunk horribly mangled, when the victim fell under a logging train that was being shunted upon a siding. The trunk of the body was so jammed under the front truck of the car that though the car was heavily loaded, the wheels refused to revolve. He leaves a wife, residing in La Grande.

PARADISE.

Paradise, July 16.—A little rain would help the crops. The Paradise celebration was held as announced. It was observed at both stores—half a day at each place. Frazier & Johnson are running the meat wagon. Meadows are ready to cut and some farmers are cutting grain hay. The fall wheat looks well but the spring crop is short on account of the dry weather.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Dr. J. S. Axtell of Pittsburg, Pa., a well known Presbyterian minister of that city, will speak at the local Presbyterian church Sunday. Christian church: Bible school at 9:45 a. m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:45 p. m.; preaching services at 11 a. m. by the pastor; union services in the evening, preaching services by Rev. Maynard, Gifford Ernest.
