Who Got the Baby?
 Once upon a time a crocodile stole a baby and was about to make a dinner of it. The frantic mother begged so piteously for the child that the crocodile said:
 "Tell me one truth and you shall have your baby again."
 The mother replied, "You will not give him back to me."
 "Then," said the crocodile, "by our agreement I shall keep him, for if you have told the truth I am not going to give him back, and if it is a lie I have also won."
 But the mother said, "If I told you the truth you are bound by your promise, and if it is not the truth it will not be a lie until you have given me my child."
 Who got the baby?
 No Sense of Proportion.
 The young man who had spent his efforts for several years without result in studying art was talking with his practical uncle, who had patiently paid the bills.
 "Of course," said the young artist, "I know I haven't made much of a go of it, but I don't think you ought to advise me to try something else. You know it's best to put all your eggs in one basket and watch that basket."
 "Um! That may be, Charlie; but did you ever think how foolish it is to put so many baskets around one buntam egg?"
 The Indian Empire.
 With a population of about 300,000,000 the Indian empire is governed by some 1,000 Englishmen.

Not Strong Minded.
 "Your wife, Clark, is, I should say, a strong minded lady."
 "There you would be wrong. I should rather describe her as brittle minded."
 "Brittle minded?"
 "Yes; she's been giving me pieces of her mind for years."
 An Easy Arrangement.
 Wife—Am I, then, never to have my way in anything? Husband—Certainly, dear. When we are both agreed you can have your way. When we differ I'll have mine.
