Owing to her mother's illness Miss Wood was unable to go away to trim as she had intended, but has engaged an expert trimmer from the wholesale house who will arrive shortly and a beautiful line of Fall millinery goods will soon be on display.

DR. CLYDE T. HOCKETT.
Candidate for joint representative of the 24th Representative District, subject to the voters of the Republican party, at the primary nominating election, to be held in said Representative District, September 24th, 1910.

I was born and raised on a farm in Douglas County, Oregon, and received my education in the Oregon schools.

I have always been a firm believer in, and an advocate of sound Republican party principles.

I believe in the holding of a State assembly before the primaries, for the purpose of perfecting party organization and formulating a party platform, and the recommending of candidates for State offices, according to their competency and fitness, and the direct primary for making party nominations.

I believe in the enforcement of all laws and the management of public affairs in the interest of efficiency and economy.

If I am nominated and elected, I will, during my term of office, oppose any legislation tending to repeal or nullify the direct primary law.

I will favor the improvement of the standard of schools; the publishing of our grammar school text books by the state; a modern and uniform system of high way improvements; a more rigid enforcement of our inspection laws; keeping in mind the interests of the taxpayer first, last, and all times.

C. T. HOCKETT.

Not For Himself.

"It does me good to see a pompous man get his," said a stockbroker. "I have a friend who just about believes the Lord created the earth in seven days for his especial benefit. He has a fine home on Long Island, with a retinue of servants, but his wife is a semi-invalid, and it falls to the lot of Mr. Pompous to execute various commissions for her in the city. The other day she asked him to stop at a clothing store and get a couple of white duck jackets for the butler. I happened to be with him when he entered the store. Striding majestically up to a sallow little salesman, he said, with much impressive dignity: "I wish to purchase a couple of white walter's coats." "Yes, sir," said the little salesman. "What size do you wear?" "Mr. Pompous got red in the face spluttered and gurgled, and then as if fearing to trust himself to speech turned on his heel and strode from the place. He left me at the next corner, and has avoided me ever since."—New York Sun.

An Experience at Hull House.

Even death itself sometimes fails to bring the dignity and serenity which one would fain associate with old age. I recall the dying hour of one old Scotchwoman whose long struggle to "keep respectable" had so embittered her that her last words were gibes for those who were trying to minister to her. "So you came in yourself this morning, did you? You only sent things yesterday. I guess you knew when the doctor was coming. Don't try to warm my feet with anything but that old jacket that I've got there; it belonged to my boy who was drowned at sea nigh thirty years ago, but it's warmer yet with human feelings than any of your confounded charity hot water bottles." Suddenly the harsh gasping voice was stilled in death, and I awaited the doctor's coming, shaken and horrified.—Jane Addams in American Magazine.

Empty Titles.

William Jennings Bryan once joked about our American fondness for titles. "You all know of the colonel," he said, "who got his title by inheritance, having married Colonel Brown's widow? But I once met a general who got his title neither by inheritance, nor by service, nor by anything you could mention. "General," I said to him, "how do you come by this title of yours, anyway?" "Why, sir," said he, "I passed my youth in the flour trade and for twenty-seven years was a general miller." "I know another titled man, Judge Greene." "Are you, sir," I once asked him, "a United States judge or a circuit court judge?" "I ain't neither," he replied. "I'm a judge of boss racin'."

Fear.

Fear causes more disease than do microbes, more deaths than famine, more failures than panic. It costs more than war, is always a failure and is never necessary, said a medical man. Fear weakens the heart's action, induces congestion, invites indigestion, produces poison through decomposing foods and is thus the mother of auto-poisoning, which either directly causes or greatly aids in the production of quite 90 per cent of all our diseases.

Simplified Spelling.

"Why did you take Elnora away from school, Aunt Mahaly?" a lady asked her cook one day. Aunt Mahaly sniffed scornfully. "Cause de teacher ain't satisfactory tuh me, Mis' Mally. What you reckon she tell dat chile yistidy? She 'low dat IV spell four when even a idjut 'ud know dat it spells ivy."

Miss Anna Richards returned Tuesday from several days camping at Minam, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. L. F. Massee of La Grande, whose guest she had been. Mr. Massee will also spend Sunday here.

Peter O'Sullivan for many years a resident of this community but now located at Ritter, was in the city Friday, shaking hands with old friends. Mr. O'Sullivan sold his farm on Alder, joining the J. Haas property, about five years ago and removed from here. Mrs. O'Sullivan, who was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Cowman, at Joseph, was taken ill, and Mr. O'Sullivan and another daughter, Miss Mary, came, but she is now improving.

Those intending to see the famous Richards & Pringle's Georgia Minstrels on Thursday evening next would do well to reserve their seats as early as possible on Monday. The coming of this great show has been much more widely advertised than is usual, and reports indicate a record breaking crowd. Already advices have been had of theatre parties from Joseph and Lostine, and many people living as much as ten and twelve miles in the country have signified their intention of being present. There are upwards of thirty people in the company and it carries a carload of special scenery. The band of twenty-five pieces, led by Fred Simpson, next to Arthur Prior the greatest trombone soloist in the country, will give a free concert on the street immediately after the arrival of the train, to which the public is invited.

OPENING OF SCHOOL.

It is officially announced that both the Enterprise public school and the Wallowa county high school will open Monday, September 5.

WATSON FAMILY MOVE TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

W. E. A. Watson and family leave Saturday for Sardis, Chilliwack valley, B. C., where Mr. Watson has purchased an elegant home. His brother, W. J. Watson, and uncle started with two cars of horses and other property Thursday morning. Fifteen head of horses were in the shipment. Mr. Watson and family are accompanied by Miss Marks, of Kent, England, the children's governess.

Mr. Watson recently disposed of his fine Akler Slope ranch and the change is made in the hopes of benefitting the health of their eldest daughter, Marjorie.

Mr. Watson has been a resident here for 17 years and Mrs. Watson has been here 16 years, coming direct from her England home, and beginning her married life on Alder Slope. A host of friends whom their long residence here has drawn about them regret their departure from Wallowa county and hope that health and prosperity may await them in their new home.

ORDINANCE.

An Ordinance requiring the City Treasurer of the City of Enterprise, Oregon, to execute a bond in favor of the City of Enterprise, Oregon, in the sum of Two Thousand Dollars.

The City of Enterprise does ordain as follows:

Section 1. It shall be the duty of each and every person, elected, appointed or acting as City Treasurer of the City of Enterprise, Oregon, to execute and file with the City Recorder of said City of Enterprise, a bond in the penal sum of
