An Apostrophe to Wallowa Valley

By Robert Robinson, Poet of Alaska.

Wallowa, fair thou art indeed;
Thy pristine majesty
Awakes within my simple soul,
A song of boundless praise.
Thy rockribbed hills and snow capped peaks
Encompass thee around;
Like sentinels, they stand to guard
Thy daughters fair and sons,
And crystal rivulets gush forth
From out the mountain glens,
To slake the thirst of man and beast
And ripen fields of grain.
Here Nature hath been prodigal
With flood and fertile soil;
"The cattle on a thousand hills"
Enrich thy favored sons.
Within an ampitheatre
Of hills and mountain peaks,
White capped and blazing with the sun,
Thy limpid loch doth lay.
Protected there from warring winds,
Serene and calm it rests—
A mirror of its pine clad shores
And azure tinted skies.
Here denizens of stream and wood,
Disport themselves at will;
The artist, bard and sportsman bold—
Each finds his Mecca here.
So far removed from city's strife,
Amid the largess Nature gave,
With mountain air kissed by the pines,
In peace, thy people dwell.
Thrice blessed indeed, thy people art,
Within this vale to dwell
In peace and plenty; Nature's own—
The Children of the Soil.

Johnny Reubens, a former scout of General Howard, is making his annual visit to Wallowa.

Arthur Taggart, who has spent a number of weeks with his father, W. E. Taggart, here, left Friday for Milton.

If you don't like poetry don't stay away from the opera house on Tuesday next. Mr. Robinson's Alaska verse is different.

The Georgia Minstrels drew a crowded house Thursday night. Every seat in the house was sold and a number stood to hear the performance. The entertainment was very satisfactory to the big audience and the first-class band was a big feature.

J. C. Shackelford, who recently purchased a large fruit ranch at Clarkston, Wash., and removed to it from this city, is putting up a home cannery large enough to care for his own fruit, says the Clarkston Republic. He expects to have it completed in time to can all the late peaches.

The beautiful poetical tribute to Wallowa lake, in this issue is from the pen of the Alaska poet, Robert Robinson, now visiting this valley. Mr. Robinson will lecture at the opera house in this city Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week. This poem, which Mr. Robinson has kindly given us permission to publish will make a delightful souvenir of the author's visit to Wallowa, and will find place in many scrap books throughout the county.

WILL LOCATE STEAM LAUNDRY IN ENTERPRISE

W. R. Sherwood of Hood River, is preparing to locate a steam laundry in this city. He has ordered the machinery and expects to be on hand to install it in a few days. Mr. Sherwood intends to erect a building for the laundry here.

Pain In the Left Knee

Women often suffer from pains called "ectatic" which are really reflex from the uterus. In such cases the pelvic trouble must be corrected to cure the pain. Osteopathy is successful in these cases also. The pain felt by many women at the inside of the left knee is almost certainly a reflected pain and indicates uterine disorder, not necessarily serious, but certainly needing attention. Osteopathic physicians find that variations from the normal position of the lower segments of the spinal column with the attendant contractures of ligament and muscle that such a lesion entails, are very productive of sciatica and that corrective treatment in the back will cure the malady. Thus you will see that anatomical ills causing sciatica may be located anywhere between the middle of the back and the knee. It is the part of the osteopath to find the disturbance and correct it, if restoration is possible, no matter where it is.

NO PREACHING SUNDAY AT M. E. CHURCH

There will be no preaching service at the M. E. church Sunday, as is announced elsewhere in this paper, as the new pastor, Rev. Meredith, did not arrive today as expected.

EXPENSE IN CRIPPEN'S CASE RECORD IN LONDON.

Scotland Yard Never Before Expended $25,000 on One Crime.

It is estimated that pursuit, capture and trial of Dr. Crippen will cost the taxpayers of London $25,000. Never before has Scotland Yard spent so much in the pursuit of any criminal.

A large item in "the Yard's" Crippen bill is the cost of telegrams and cables giving descriptions of Crippen, which were sent to many continental, American and Canadian police headquarters. This item will amount to $2,500.

Twenty-five thousand large posters, containing descriptions of Crippen and Miss Le Neve, with reproductions of their photographs and handwriting, were scattered broadcast up and down two continents. Fifty clerks were engaged night and day for a long time in wrapping, addressing and mailing these posters. That will be a costly item.

Then there is the expense of sending Inspector Dew to Canada and the expense of another detective and a wardress who have gone to Quebec to look after the prisoners on their way back to England. Then there is the reward of $1,250, which will have to be paid to Captain Kendall of the steamship Montrose. There is, too, the cost of the long coroner's inquest, with the fees for analytical chemists.

The trial of Crippen will not be very expensive, nor will it last long. English criminal courts move with swiftness and without technicalities. It is not expected that Crippen's trial will consume more than three or four days.

If he is sentenced to death he will be hanged on the third Monday morning following the day of his conviction. Convicted criminals under a recent statute have the right to appeal, but the appeal court works swiftly and, like the lower court, pays little attention to technicalities.

Few Picture Shows in Cape Town.

There are only two moving picture shows in Cape Town, South Africa, and the entertainments are of a somewhat higher average than those given in the smaller cities of the United States. The evening shows are packed to overflowing.
