NOTED LIBERIAN IN LONDON.

Widow of First President at Age of Ninety-two.

As the republic of Liberia is attracting a little of the world's attention at the present time it is interesting to note that there still lives near Battersea park, London, Mrs. Jane Roberts, widow of Joseph J. Roberts, who was elected the first president of Liberia in 1847.

Mrs. Roberts was born in America in 1818, the daughter of a Baptist minister named Waring, and went to Liberia with her parents, both octogenarians, in 1824. She married Roberts in 1836 and visited with him most of the European courts in the fifties. She lived for over seventy years of her life in Liberia before going to London.

PRINCE A POOR LAWYER.

Fails to Clear German Burglar in First Case.

A laborer who appeared in the prisoners' dock in a Berlin police court on a charge of burglary had something of a shock when he heard the announcement that his defense would be conducted by his serene highness the Prince of Ratibor.

The accused having no counsel, the court had appointed the young prince, who is a member of the ancient house of Hohenlohe, to defend him. It was the prince's first case. The royal lawyer put up a spirited defense, but the evidence was too strong, and his first client was sentenced to four years penal servitude.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS FROM OTHER CITIES IN OREGON

The alumni of the Oregon Athletic College have organized an association in Vale.

Medford, following along the line of Baker City, has also asked for commodity rates on certain articles from Portland.

Acting Governor Jay Bowerman has issued his proclamation for Labor day, setting aside Monday, September 5, as required by law.

In an opinion written by Attorney-General Crawford, the state printer is advised to print all arguments handed to him by the secretary of state.

A consignment of 30,000 rainbow trout and 10,000 catfish fry from the Clackamas fish hatchery have been planted in the lakes of Klamath County.

J. T. Harper of Tygh valley has filed his declaration of intention to be a candidate for representative from Hood River and Wasco Counties in the democratic primaries.

To date, six postmasters in Oregon have asked that postal savings banks be established in their towns, and nine banks have applied to be made depositories of postal funds.

The water and light plant of Hillsboro was attached by the sheriff, at the instance of J. W. Shute, a local banker and capitalist, for the sum of $15,500 and interest.

The Medford Commercial Club has voted to raise $10,000 by subscription to buy a building site for a $100,000 hospital to be conducted by the Sisters of Providence.

The opening of the forty-ninth Oregon state fair, on Monday, September 12, will usher in what promises to be the greatest state fair Oregon has ever held.

The little village of Harriman, 35 miles southeast of Burns, was swept by a disastrous fire early Sunday morning that destroyed the only business block in the place, in which were located the store, hotel and postoffice.

James W. Nathan, colored, was killed by his wife in their home at Portland during a scuffle over the possession of a revolver. Death was almost instantaneous. The woman said after her arrest that her husband had threatened to shoot her.

C. P. Strain, assessor of Umatilla County, has filed his declaration of intention with the secretary of state at Salem, to become a candidate for the democratic nomination for railroad commissioner.

Oregon has at last a naval reserve, with Portland as the home of the first division. A second division may possibly be established at Astoria when the organization gets on a good working basis. A commission for the state naval reserve has been granted.

Farmers in the mountain country adjacent to Weston are preparing to plant commercial orchards, and 30 or more have contracted for trees. Visiting experts have pronounced the mountain soil to be well adapted for winter apples and pears without irrigation, and each of the farmers interested will plant from one to ten acres of these fruits this fall.

Eight hundred thousand dollars was added to the total sum that will be expended in railroad construction begun in Oregon this year by the letting of the contract for the building of the "Coyote cut-off" on the main line of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company.

The Great Northern Railway has presented to the prize committee of Lane County Fair Association two beautiful silver cups and a large assortment of ribbons, to be distributed among competitors at the coming fair for various degrees of excellence of grain, vegetables and fruit.

Construction is being pushed on the Klamath Falls-Natron line, but no construction is being done by the Oregon Trunk in Klamath County. Surveyors are at work in the Wood river valley and vicinity. No locations for the line from the head of the Upper Klamath lake to Klamath Falls have been made. It is believed that the road will be built to that the vast timber holdings of the Weyerhaeuser Company can be tapped.

Now that the forest fires in Southern Oregon are dying out, the extent of damage is found to be far less than the early estimates. On the contrary, the fires have been a benefit, according to George F. King, owner of extensive timber areas in Jackson County. Mr. King says the fires in many instances have burned only the underbrush, which permits a growth of grass and leaves the forests in less danger of subsequent fires.

An average reduction of 16 per cent on the rates of Wells, Fargo & Co. was decided on last evening after a two-days' conference between the railroad commission and officials of the express company. While the short hauls are not materially changed, there are substantial reductions on the long hauls. The new rate sheet will be effective about October 1 or as soon as the express company can make its revision.

Many Uses of Sand.

The sands of the sea are singularly useful. They are of primary importance in glassmaking. They have an important place in warfare, as a bank of sand twenty inches thick is proof against modern rifle shots. The electrical properties of sand show that it has positive electricity, although a rod of silica, the chief constituent of sand, is negative.

The singular drying effect which occurs when a stretch of wet sand is pressed by the foot is due entirely to an alteration in the piling of the sand grains. Normally the grains are close together, but abnormal piling is brought about by pressure of the foot, the space between the edges of the grains being enlarged and the water drained away. If the pressure of the foot is continued the sand becomes wetter than ever, the partial vacuum quickly bringing water from the surrounding sand.

In quicksand the moving character is thought to be due to the imprisonment between the grains of gases from organic matter.—Chicago Tribune.

BITTERNESS.

Bad temper is its own scourge. Few things are bitterer than to feel bitter. A man's venom poisons himself more than his victim.—Buxton.
