WILL OREGON HELP?

Insurgency is sweeping the country. It begins to look like a rout for Cannon, Aldrich and their followers.

Insurgency is simply a demand for decency and honesty in public servants, and a fulfillment of party pledges.

Regularity as typified in Cannon, Aldrich & Co. is the latest form of Vanderbilt spirit—the public be damned.

Roosevelt has placed himself at the head of Insurgency, and with such able lieutenants as La Follette, Dooliver, Cummins, Bristow, Murdock and many others, will win a glorious victory for truth and justice.

Will Oregon help?

The way to do it is to see that no Joe Cannon men are nominated for congress.

THE ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES.

Jay Bowerman, the assembly candidate for governor, is a "nice" fellow. All good politicians are. And you bet, Jay is a dandy politician.

The way he and a few Portland machine politicians worked that assembly was enough to make a horse laugh.

THEY chose the delegates and the delegates chose JAY. Wasn't it wonderful?

That's what Dr. Withycombe, Smith and the other good men who were given the dirk, are saying as they dress their wounds.

Don't vote for Jay because he's a nice fellow. There are hundreds of just as nice fellows right here in Wallowa. Remember the company he keeps and the dirty politics he stands for.

The best way to rebuke the fellows—the assemblyites—who say you haven't sense enough to know who to nominate, is to vote for anybody but an assemblyite.

Watch this paper. Next week and the week after the complete list of candidates who were nominated by the assembly or who are known to be assembly men will be printed in Black Type Like This.

LEAVE THEM AT HOME.

The assembly was a vicious, malicious blow at the direct primary. It is the last spasmodic kick of corrupt, machine politics in Oregon against the better method.

Though dying, the old machine is still dangerous when galvanized into ways that are dark and tricks that are treacherous, by the money of interested interests.

The only safe plan is to vote for no assembly man. See that every one is left at home to think it over. He will emerge a few years later, a wiser and better man.

ENEMY OF THE PRIMARY.

Statement No. 1 is a vital part of the direct primary law, providing for the election of United States senators by the people. Kill Statement No. 1 and we would have the old method of selling the senatorships to the highest bidder at Salem.

Make no mistake. Every man opposed to Statement No. 1 is opposed to direct nominations by the people. Spot him. He is an enemy at heart of the direct primary.

READERS DICKENS' DEBTORS.

Stamps Suggested to Aid Author's Impoverished Descendants.

The payment of conscience money to celebrate the approaching centenary of Charles Dickens' birth is the suggestion of a London editor. To the great novelist's present day admirers it is pointed out that Dickens did not live to draw one-tenth of the profits from his books and received no royalties whatever from America. Besides all this, three of his children and his seventeen grandchildren are in comparatively poor circumstances.

It is estimated that, allowing for loss and the wear and tear on the 24,000,000 copies of Dickens' works that have been issued, 2 cents royalty on each copy would realize half a million of dollars. But this is recognized as impossible, and it is therefore suggested that every owner of one of Dickens' books buy a Dickens stamp for each volume, thus certifying that the royalty of 2 cents has been paid.

The stamps would be put on sale throughout the world in 1911. It is proposed that the sum thus raised be handed to the representatives of the Dickens family to be used as they may see fit. A strong committee will be formed to handle the matter.

Scotch Co-operation Pays.

In Dunfermline, Scotland, the Co-operative society does a yearly cash business of $1,500,000, and its membership numbers 7,659.

Queer Looking Worms.

New Zealand, Australia, the Samoan and the Solouian islands as well as portions of the Hawaiian group are the homes of various species of worms with thick, heavy bodies and with a well defined neck connecting the body with a head that is a startling reminder of that of the monkey. In the Sandwich islands they are called "mata-ki-ki," which means "creeper with a child's head." An old New Zealand legend says that at one time they were of immense proportions and threatened the extinction of all human life on the islands.

Exact Thomas.

Thomas Hour, the devoted servant upon whom Gilbert White, the English naturalist, depended to carry out his garden plans and to look after his comfort in many ways, was noted for his exactness. Mr. H. C. Shelley, in "Gilbert White and Selborne," gives an amusing illustration.

There was one occasion when Thomas came to report, "Please, sir, I've been and broke a glass."

"Broke a glass, Thomas! How did you do that?"

"I'll show you, sir," he rejoined as he disappeared for a moment. Returning with a glass in his hand, he let it fall on the floor, remarking:

"That's how I broke it, sir."

"There, go along, Thomas; you are a great fool," said his master, adding to himself, "and I was as great a one for asking such a foolish question."

To Make it Shorter.

"Mother writes that she will be here tomorrow for a short visit, my dear," said a young wife.

"Very well," replied her husband, and as he left the house he patted his little boy on the head kindly and said, "Bobby, didn't you ask me to buy you a whistle and a drum the other day?"

"Yes, dad."

"Well, I will bring them home to-night!"—London Telegraph.
