Baker has voted to adopt the commission plan of city government, also to change the name of the municipality from Baker City to just Baker. The only officers elected in Baker hereafter will be a mayor and three commissioners, on whom all responsibility is placed. If any subordinate is derelict in his duty, if the saloons don't obey the closing law for instance, the people know just where to place the blame. It sounds most too business-like to be true. Hundreds of American cities are getting clean, efficient government for the first time by this plan.

The La Grande Observer is shouting "Vote 'er straight." The Observer should take a tumble to itself and catch up with the times. The day of that partisan cry passed 29 years ago. The voters of Oregon are not machines; they are thinking, reasoning men who vote for men and principles regardless of party.

If Bowersman doesn't stop flopping and slipping, it will be pretty hard for even the machine Republicans to vote for him.
