ILLINOIS BRIBERY SCANDAL GROWS

Chicago.—Discovery of several new sources of information resulted in the uncovering of more corruption and bribery that attend the acquittal of Lee O'Neil Browne of the charge of bribing legislators to vote for William Lorimer for United States Senator.

It was shown that a majority of 12 men who voted to discharge Browne who was charged with handling the purse strings in the campaign to buy vote for Lorimer had been the guests at a great jollification and banquet that concluded with a tour of various places of amusement at a late hour of the night.

So secure did the participants in this affair feel that they held the wine dinner and "rounding up" less than a week after the verdict was returned in court. In this function Attorney Charles Erbstein, one of the tria of lawyers who represented Browne, and who now is charged with having "fixed" at least one juror, is declared to have played an important part.

But even in the face of this open jollification, evidence of the use of money in the handling of the case Attorney's office but for the fact that the two men who already have confessed—Grant McCutchen, a juror, and Harry T. Stacy, a chauffeur—were dissatisfied with the amount paid them and believed they were being "double-crossed."

BANK CASHIER SUICIDE.

Doors of Seaside Institution Are Closed.

Seaside.—Rather than face a term in state's prison and hundreds of his fellow citizens who put their faith and money into the Bank of Seaside, which he had wrecked to save from a financial crisis a lumber company controlled by him and his brother, E. N. Henninger, the cashier, committed suicide on his doorstep here.

The bank did not open its doors and its condition and the loss that will be suffered by depositors in the crash of the institution will not be known until the bank examiner has made an investigation.

The wrecking of the bank, with its tragic climax that came when the cashier blew out his brains with a rifle just as a fellow citizen and friend passed his residence, furnishes as dramatic a story of high finance as can be found in fiction.

Corvallis.—The winter short course at the Oregon Agricultural College will commence January 3, continuing for a period of six weeks and will be followed immediately by a special course commencing February 13 and extending over a period of one week which will be known as Farmers' Week. Man Killed and Robbed. Salem.—As he drove under the covering of a lonely bridge near the State Reform School, two miles south of this city, J. E. Roberts, a well-known real estate dealer of Salem, was shot and killed and then robbed of $500.

Roberts was found dying on the planking of the bridge by Earl Gardner, who drove onto the bridge shortly after the realty man was attacked. Gardner, however, did not hear the shooting, and the murderer or murderers had escaped in the darkness.

Two bullets had pierced Roberts' hat and a third lodged in the left side of his head, near the top of the skull. He lived but an hour, dying without regaining consciousness.

NEITHER REACHED POLE

London.—A dispatch from Copenhagen declares that Knud Rasmussen, who went to Etah to investigate the North Pole discovery claims of Dr. Frederick Cook, is now convinced that neither Cook nor Peary reached the pole, and that no one has yet come within hundreds of miles of the top of the earth. Rasmussen's conclusions are based on his own investigations and on statements made to him by Missionary Olson, who questioned the Eskimos used by both Cook and Peary.

As high as ten cars per day have left Hood River for New York City.

12,000 ACRES THROWN OPEN

Lakeview.—The throwing open to settlement of a tract of about 12,000 acres in the Lakeview land district, which has been a part of the Silver Lake Irrigation project in northern Lake county, has created quite a demand from the officials for information regarding these lands. The lands are nearly all close to Silver Lake, and some of them are along its shores. The soil is deep, rich and capable of growing grain and alfalfa without irrigation. One feature that commends the new lands to settlers is the fact that good water, fuel from the forest reserve and lumber within a reasonable distance of the land are to be obtained at slight effort, and while this is not in a citrus fruit belt, it is one of the most productive portions of Oregon, and one that is being rapidly opened to railway transportation. The climate is the healthiest in the western country. This land is to be opened November 25 to settlement, and those who desire these lands will have to be here before that time to get located and be able to settle by that time.
