"JERRY" RUSK IS ELECTED SPEAKER

WINS EASILY ON FIRST BALLOT—BEN SELLING PRESIDENT OF SENATE.

Hon. J. P. Rusk of this county was elected speaker of the house of representatives Monday afternoon on the first ballot receiving 25 votes to 22 for Eaton and 2 for Thompson. The latter had withdrawn, his supporters going over to the winner practically in body during the noon recess. Rusk had 5 votes to spare, as 30 was a majority.

Eaton at once moved the election be made unanimous, Thompson seconding the motion.

Ben Selling of Portland was elected president of the senate, receiving 17 votes to 8 for Bowerman and 4 scattering.

Both selections are victories for the progressive element in the Republican party. All the old machine gangsters, even dead duck Charlie Fulton, tried to encompass their defeat. It is a statement No. 1, anti-assembly victory.

TOTAL ASSESSMENT OF WALLOWA COUNTY 1910.

The state tax commission has finally completed its work of assessing public service corporations and equalizing values between the various counties of the state.

The amount of such tax levied by the commission, as equalized and apportioned among the counties of the state, for Wallowa county is $1,396,125, or considerable less than was expected, the equalization between the counties cutting it down. The valuation returned by Assessor Miller was $10,459,415, and adding the corporations tax would give a grand total of assessed value for this county in 1910 as $11,855,540.

This was cut down for state tax purposes to $10,233,109, and our per cent of state tax was fixed at .012112. Wallowa county must pay $16,373.25 state tax and $474.22 for support of Monmouth normal.

Marriage Licenses.

Jan. 4—J. A. Wilson, 30, farmer, Imnaha; Myrtle Neil, 17, Imnaha. Jan. 9—Wm. L. Gaskill, 32, traveling man, Beaverton; Maud M. Eaton, 18, Enterprise.

Killing Coyotes Along the Imnaha

Profit and Pleasure From Killing the Varmints—Nice Weather On River.

Jan. 8.—Fine weather; the roads are dry and dusty; some wild flowers still in bloom. How is that for Wallowa county?

Harry Vaughn has begun to feed his herd of full blooded Herefords. Harry has a fine lot of Herefords and is taking good care of them.

E. B. McGarry, who was on the retired list for a few days, is out and going again.

Mr. Crawford, champion fruit hauler and freighter of this city, has his barn about completed, which will add greatly to the value of his ranch. Josh Matheny has his livery and feed barn completed. This we need here for a long time. Josh gets up and moves when he starts.

Miss Rowena Johnson is ill of scarletina. Dr. C. A. Ault attended the case. She is up and around again.

Mad coyotes are raging over Imnaha. Mr. Thompson killed one some time ago, Lawson Beecher shot one with a 22 rifle and Mr. Punch Morrison was attacked by one while chopping wood and killed it with the ax. Mr. Beecher's dog went mad 10 weeks after he had a scrap with a coyote, and Grover Wright's dog went mad in 8 weeks.

Mr. Thompson and partner have returned from Horse Creek where they were trapping coyotes. They were also pleasant callers at C. E. Young's cow camp where they spent a few days. They had poor success, Mr. Thompson says; coyotes aren't so plentiful on Mr. Young's cow range as in other parts of Imnaha.

C. E. Young who was at Enterprise on business, and visiting with his family, has returned to his cow camp to remain the rest of the winter. He is not feeding any cattle yet but expects to begin to feed soon.

The Imnaha school has closed for a week on account of scarletina.

RUFF AND REDDY.

WOOL INNOCENT OF HIGH COST OF LIVING

WOOLGROWERS OBJECT TO LAYING ALL OR PRINCIPAL BLAME ON SCHEDULE K.

The woolgrowers of this county who were in attendance at the state and national conventions held in Portland last week, have returned with glowing accounts of the good time enjoyed, the splendid hospitality of Portland, and the serious, practical benefits derived from the meetings.

Hon. Jay H. Dobbins of this county was re-elected vice-president of the state association, and also elected vice-president for Oregon of the national association, Fred Falconer was a member of the committee on finance of the state association, and Mr. Dobbins of the committee on resolutions.

Both conventions expressed themselves in no uncertain terms about making Schedule K (the wool schedule) the scapegoat for the many and manifold sins of manufacturers, trusts, finance masters and transportation charges made unnecessarily high to pay dividends on thrice watered stock and bonds.

The hue and cry against the high cost of living has been cunningly directed by the bloated trust robbers in big cities against the only bit of effective tariff protection afforded the real producers of the country—farmers and stockmen. If it succeeds, the "clever" Aldriches, Hales and Cannon may find they have pulled the whole tariff structure about their ears; the farmers and stockmen may get up as much nerve as the Canadian producers, and go to headquarters and "demand" fair and equal treatment for all.

Following is the entire article on tariff in the resolutions as adopted by the state convention:

"We, the Woolmen of Oregon, view with alarm the threatened onslaught by Congress on the wool tariff, knowing as we do that the reduction of the tariff will of necessity cripple, and perhaps destroy our industry. The ideas expressed by many people that sheep men are making a large profit is very erroneous. The large expenses incurred, which have from year to year increased, have brought the expenditures and income very close together, leaving a very small margin of profit. This fact we have every confidence will be ascertained and reported by the Tariff Commission. We therefore welcome the Tariff Commission without reservation. We point out, as we have pointed out before, that the cost of wool in an all-wool suit of clothes amounts to less than $3.00, and that therefore the reduction of the tariff would not necessarily cheapen the cost of clothing
