ANOTHER BIG ORCHARD

From the Corvallis Gazette.

J. A. Vanzandt, general manager and sales agent of the Falls City Orchard Company, was in Corvallis recently in conference with members of the O. A. C. faculty in regard to the analysis of soils to be found on their property. The company, of which W. Yates and Mr. Vanzandt are heavy stockholders, owns 500 acres about two miles from Falls City and it is the intention to set this to such fruit as analysis will show it to be adapted for. This ground is the H. P. Grant farm, owned by him since 1848, and having passed from his ownership only very recently. The farm is widely known for its richness of soil, and Mr. Vanzandt has confidence that it is ideal orchard land. While here he hopes to make arrangements for a graduate in horticulture to oversee the work to be done in the near future. The intention of the company is to produce a great orchard along lines calculated to obtain the best results, regardless of cost.

IS INTERESTED IN FALLS CITY

To the Editor:

As a prospective resident of Falls City, I am somewhat interested in the movements of the Commercial Club of your city. I took occasion to go to the Union station several times and interviewed some of the colonists who came from the East, and found none who had ever heard of Falls City, Ore. Most of them stated that they became interested in Oregon by reading advertisements and articles printed in their home towns and in the magazines concerning this State. (If this idea could be acted upon it would help to make Falls City a familiar name in many sections of the East).

Nothing is so successful as co-operation! Let us get together and boost and we all will benefit therefrom.

I expect to settle affairs so as to be able to locate in your city within four or five months, and you may rely on me to do my share in helping to boost for Falls City.

In the meantime, please inform me on what conditions one can join your commercial club.

I am an Eastern man, and have been in Portland only about a year, but I am the "advance guard" for quite a number of other Eastern people who also will locate in Falls City.

Congratulations on your recent election to the presidency of the commercial club.

Respectfully,
ARCHIBALD J. LYON.

[Mr. Lyon and all his friends will be welcomed here. He is the kind of booster Falls City needs and will fully appreciate. Membership fee in the commercial club is 50 cents and monthly dues 50 cents; publicity and other work is paid for by voluntary subscriptions.—Ed.]

AN OLD TIME FEAST.

The Proper Caper in 1675 Was to Serve Thirty-two Dishes.

Our ability to eat, if one may judge from the old records, ancient cookbooks and such bits of literature as deal with the subject, is slowly dying out. A half glass of milk and a piece of bread are supposed by some persons to be an adequate meal for a man of today.

As against this it is interesting to set down what Gervais Markham in 1675 sets forth as "a human may keep in his family for the entertainment of his true and worthy friends." First warning the master of the feast that he must consult the season of the year, since summer affords what winter wants, and vice versa, he goes on to say:

"It is good for him who intends to feast to set down the number of his full dishes—that is, dishes of meat that are of substance and not empty or for show—and of these sixteen is a good proportion for one course unto one mess (meal), as thus for example: First, a shield of brawn with mustard; secondly, a boyled capon; thirdly, a boyled piece of beef; fourthly, a chine of beef roasted; fifthly, a neat's tongue roasted; sixthly, a pigge roasted; seventhly, chewets bak'd; eighthly, a goose roasted; ninthly, a swan roasted; tenthly, a turkey roasted; eleventh, a haunch of venison roasted; twelfth, a pasty of venison; thirteenth, a pigge with a pudding in the belly; fourteenth, an olive pie; the fifteenth, a couple of capons; the sixteenth, a custard of dousets. Now to these full dishes may be added sallets, fricassees, quelque choses and devised paste, as many dishes more, which make the full service no less than two and thirty dishes, which is as much as can conveniently stand on one table and at one mess. And after this manner you may proportion your second and third mess, holding fulness in one half the dishes and show in the other, which will be both frugal in the spender, contentment to the guests and much pleasure and delight to the beholders." —Harper's Weekly.

The Four Lettered Name of God.

Is it not passingly singular at least that the name of God should be spelled with four letters in almost every known language? In Latin it is Deus; Greek, Zeus; Hebrew, Adon; Syrian, Adad; Arabian, Alla; Persian, Syra; Tartarian, Idga; Egyptian, Aumn or Zent; East Indian, Esgi or Zenl; Japanese, Zain; Turkish, Addi; Scandinavian, Odin; Wallachian, Zonc; Croatian, Doga; Dalmatian, Hogt; Tyrrhenian, Eher; Etrurian, Cher; Margarian, Oese; Swedish, Codd; Irish, Dich; German, Gott; French, Dieu; Spanish, Dios; Peruvian, Iian.
