The Anti-Saloon people are putting up an aggressive campaign and are determined to make Oregon Dry. The prohibition movement is gaining and we may expect to see great changes within the next few years.

Some of the Democratic newspapers complain at the persistency shown by Dr. Withycombe in his campaign for governor. Surely some of the powers should intervene. This complaint sounds like the wail of the French President, when the Germans were lickin' the socks off them, that the German shells destroyed great buildings. It is to be presumed that the Doctor is not "playing horse" but is out to win.

Raising the "wind" to run the government by means of a War Tax in times of peace has caused the Democratic leaders much grief. Just how to raise the required sum without creating too big a howl from the dear people has been the question. The European war has proven a great subterfuge, yet it was pretty generally known, before war began, that the removal of the tariff had placed the administration in a critical condition and plans were being made to meet the emergency. If Uncle Samuel were engaged in the pleasant pastime of chasing the festive greaser across the sand dunes of Mexico, or swatting the heathen Jap, there might be some satisfaction in the situation.

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

The eighth annual Linn county fair opened September 23.

George M. Cole, 58 years old; registered at the university of Oregon as a freshman.

Michael Tynan, for the last 45 years a resident of Roseburg, is dead at his home in Roseburg at the age of 87 years.

Klamath Indians and settlers as far as North Bend are getting large quantities of winter fruit from the wild plum thickets.

The Cottage Grove Commercial club urges voters of that section to work for the reestablishment of the Oregon Normal at Ashland.

The state fish and game commission has granted right of way through property at the Bonneville Hatchery for the Columbia Highway.

The Oregon hop industry and harvesting of crops will be shown by moving pictures at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

The boys' and girls' industrial contest for Douglas county, held at Roseburg in connection with the county fair, was a complete success.

C. W. Washburne, one of the oldest pioneers in the north end of Lane county, celebrated his ninety-third birthday anniversary at his home south of Junction City.

John Warner, chief engineer of the Albany fire department, won the silver medal donated for the best shot by the Albany Gun club in contests during the summer.

The 49th session of the Columbia annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, convened at Tangent, with Bishop Mounson, of San Antonio, Texas, in charge.

John Tate, of Portland, was elected second vice-president at Buffalo, N. Y., of the National Laundrymen's association of America, which is going to Portland for its 1915 meeting.

Lewis Langvish von der Haydt, believed to have been a member of German nobility and a general in the Franco-Prussian war, died at the state insane asylum. He was 88 years old.

Woodburn district hop men harvested most of their crops before the rains came and the yield is said to be 20 to 25 per cent less than last year with exception of a few yards which showed gains.

Robert Griffin, Cottage Grove's second mayor and a veteran of the Civil war, because of the new requirements for citizenship in Oregon, has taken out his second papers at the age of 80 years.

Civil War veterans of Salem, Silverton, Woodburn, Independence, Dallas, Stayton and other parts of Marion county at a meeting at Salem decided to hold reunions in Salem in December, in Woodburn in April and in Silverton in August each year.

Secretary of State Olcott says that all aspirants for nominations at the recent primary have filed statements of expense with the exception of Mrs. Claudine S. Faust, of Dufur, nominee of the progressive party for representative of the 29th district in the legislature.

Bids probably will be invited soon for the construction of a pipeline and water system to extend from Clackamas to Oregon City. The plans, already drawn, estimate the cost of the work at about $225,000. One feature will be a reservoir with a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons.

The biggest week in the history of The Dalles will be the one commencing September 27, during which the big Wild West show, The Dalles Rodeo, the annual Wasco county fair and meetings for homecoming pioneers will be held. It will be homecoming week in The Dalles, and all former residents of the city have been invited to return.

The extension division of the Oregon Agricultural College is taxed to the utmost to provide judges, lecturers and demonstrators for the many agricultural and school fairs being held in all parts of the state. Last week almost 20 representatives officiated at 11 different fairs. This week 12 engagements are scheduled. The total for September and October is over 30.

Having decided to make compulsory the use of the safety logging bunk, Labor Commissioner Hoff announced that he would invite the six companies offering the bunks for sale in this state to equip a train with their devices for demonstration purposes. Each company will be asked to equip one car of the train so the representatives of the logging companies may have little trouble in determining which they intend to adopt.

Potato experts of the United States department of agriculture, Holland and Germany, are in Portland. Professors H. S. Jackson and F. D. Bailey, of the Oregon Agricultural college, will have charge of the party during its investigation of the potato question and potato diseases in Oregon. The visitors include Dr. W. A. Orton, leading potato disease expert of the federal department; Dr. Otto Appel, of Berlin; Dr. John Westerdik, of Amsterdam; A. K. Fisher and William Stuart, specialists of the federal department.
