COLQUHIT ON THE WILSON ADMINISTRATION

The Texas Governor Denounces Wilson's Administration as the Greatest Failure in History.

"The Wilson Administration has been the greatest failure in the history of the Presidency. The South is a land literally flowing with milk and honey, it has made one of the biggest and best crops in its history, and yet, because of the utter incompetency of the men in charge of the Government, its business is prostrated, its credit is impaired and thousands of its people are starving.

"The Administration's tariff law was pledged to lower the cost of living, and it has had the contrary effect. By putting raw materials on the free list and keeping the protective tariff on manufactured goods, it has condemned American farmers by hundreds of thousands to peonage, and has enabled the manufacturers, getting their raw materials cheaper, to charge higher prices for their goods which they have done. Hides were free listed, and shoes have gone higher.

"This is true of virtually every single item similarly treated in the Administration tariff law. The American farmer gets less for his raw materials, the American workingman pays more for the finished product, and both are robbed further to enrich the protected manufacturing trusts and combines.

"The Administration's foreign policy has been imbecilic. It has allowed England to dictate conditions as to cotton shipments that enabled the English spinners to rob American cotton growers of half the value of their crop. England stopped American shipments until the English spinners bought their supply at 6½ cents a pound and stored it in Texas and other Southern warehouses.

"The Administration's repeal of the Panama Canal tolls exemption law, in violation of the party's National platform, was another weak surrender to England. If free tolls had not been repealed, hundreds of American-owned ships, flying a foreign flag, would have come under the American flag to get the benefit of the exemption, and we would today have an American merchant marine competent to carry our goods to foreign markets. We have no such merchant marine and to supply it the Wilson Administration is proposing to spend the taxpayers' money buying a subsidized National shipping service.

"The Wilson-Bryan management of the Mexican affair has been an egregious failure. They landed an American army in Vera Cruz to force Huerta to salute the flag, and have brought it back without getting the salute.

"They now ask Congress to appropriate over $500,000 to pay the expense of that ridiculous expedition. For what? What did it accomplish? It set all Mexico aflame against the Americans, not only in Mexico but in Texas, where all along the north bank of the Rio Grande there are 10 Mexicans for one American.

"It brought on a reign of terror all along the Texas border, so that when the Federal Government refused to afford protection for our people in their own state I was forced to send 1200 Texas troops down there to give it. Mexican bandit gangs were crossing the border into Texas, raiding and terrorizing our scattered people. Women and children were huddled together in brick houses, menaced with murder and worse.

"My desk was flooded with telegrams from chambers of commerce, bankers, stockmen and other responsible citizens praying for protection at points all along our 1200-mile frontier.

"The Federal Government had only 60 troopers at Brownsville to cover more than two-thirds of that long border. When I rushed the Texas State troops down there, stationing a company at each of the principal border towns, I instructed them not to cross the river nor in any way to violate the neutrality law, but at all costs to protect the lives and property of of Texas people.

"Secretary of War Garrison telegraphed me that he thought it unwise to have two military forces occupying the same territory under separate commanders and suggested that I withdraw the state troops. I wired him that I would withdraw the Texas troops when he sent an equal number of United States regulars to take their place. And I kept our men there until he did send an equal number of regulars to replace them, at every place where our men were stationed.

"Wilson and Bryan have stood by, encouraging one gang of bandits after another, while people were being butchered all over Mexico, while the vast American interests in that country were being confiscated and shot to pieces, and today the Mexican chaos is worse than at any time since Madero was assassinated. Villa is the dictator of the country and I understand that all he wants is to be chief of police of the City of Mexico, with control of the gambling concessions in the City of Mexico and Juarez. Our Government has kept England and Germany from restoring order in Mexico, and has itself done nothing but contribute to the disorder and lawlessness by its vacillating watching and waiting policy—if it can be called a policy. The property interests of Mexico and the big American exploiters of Mexican resources have got control of the situation absolutely, and these same interests have got the ear of our Government at Washington.

"The Administration's anti-trust laws are bare-faced fakes, so far as protecting the people from trust oppression is concerned. These laws please nobody else so well as they do the Standard Oil, Steel and other great trusts.

"I am afraid the National election of 1916 will, because of the failure of these policies, end the Democratic National regime. The policies of the Democratic National Administration have wholly failed either to curb monopolies or to lower the cost of living for the people, and they have materially contributed to deprive millions of wage earners of employment.

What is a Kilowatt

From Newport Signal:

An Eastern editor explains what a kilowatt is by saying that after diligent inquiry he finds that a kilowatt is a kilowatt, to which a Western editor replies by defining a kilowatt more fully as follows:

Now let us enlighten you as to what a kilowatt is. A kilowatt is a measure or a weight or a certain term by which we can find out how much gasoline it takes to run an engine, to generate a certain amount of electricity, to load an amount of wire with a certain amount of energy sufficient to produce a certain amount of heat that when forced through a certain kind of platinum wire that is suspended in a certain shaped glass bottle will illuminate a certain amount of space in certain buildings as in such case made and provided. You find out by certain figures in simple proportion. You multiply the gas by the conscience of the proprietor of the electric light plant, divide this by the motor on the wall, and add whatever you cannot multiply. The answer will come in dollars and cents. Just divide these by the price you pay per kilowatt and multiply again and find out what a kilowatt is. It is something you can't see, that you pay for according to what someone tells you who don't know what he is talking about and proves by a meter that runs by guess and by gad and is attached to the wall by a hired man with machine grease on his nose. You know just how many kilowatts you have had, just what they cost apiece, but you don't know how big they are, what they look like, who made them, what shape they are, if all are of the same size or how old they are before they are ripe.

We Simply Ask the Men to Stay Sober

OUR factory rules demand "sobriety," not "abstinence." What our employes do after knocking off work is up to them. We don't tell them they can't go into a well-run saloon under penalty of being discharged. If we did, they'd be justified in leaving us.

Our best men are those who drink their healthful, stimulating beer. They are the ones that punch the time clock promptly in the morning and do the most work during the day. They are good boys and know that drinking beer moderately means True Temperance. If we told them they couldn't drink after work we'd drive them to secret indulgence and deprive them of useful, harmless pleasure. Result—materially diminished mental and physical buoyancy and low efficiency during working hours.

Our men pursue their own lives and gratify their own tastes without molestation. Most of the officials of this factory drink beer moderately because it is beneficial and refreshing. They wouldn't ask the boys to give up what they themselves wouldn't think of quitting.
