A Near Fire

Saturday afternoon the residents of the town were startled by the blowing of the fire whistle at the mill. Half of the of town people rushed to the scene of the conflagration, but the blaze was extinguished before they got there. The fire was discovered on the roof of the dry kiln, it is supposed by a spark from the burner igniting the half burnt sawdust that was on the roof. The fire was making rapid headway when discovered by the mill men and was promptly quenched.

Council Meeting

The council met in regular session Tuesday night. The minutes of the last session were read and approved. There was nothing out of the ordinary that came up and the meeting was a quiet affair. The usual number of bills were presented and approved.

Judge Teal through one of the councilmen asked permission to cut down three trees that obstructed the view of his home. On motion and seconded the request was granted providing that the trees and limbs were disposed of satisfactorily, all of which the Judge had already agreed to do.

The mayor instructed the health and police committee to make investigation as to the dumping of garbage along the banks of the Luckiamute and have a warrant issued for the guilty parties.

Another communication from Dr. Irving Mathews was read. The letter stated that he would be willing to settle the street question without any further trouble if the city would agree to pay off the costs of the suit and $150. After thoroughly discussing the matter it was decided that it would be cheaper perhaps, to accept his proposition and avoid further litigation.

A resolution was offered and adopted transferring $90 from the road fund into the general fund.

An ordinance for the preservation of trees, shrubs, flowers and other plants was presented and adopted.
