

See how easily it fills itself!

—just a dip in ink and one simple thumb-pressure on the "Crescent-Filler." Isn't that fountain pen "class"? Isn't it a downright relief and soul-satisfying comfort to eliminate the troublesome, inky dropper-filler and tight screw joints?

In Memory of Little Elmo Keith

Little hands are lightly folded,
On the little pulseless breast,
And the soul has gone to Jesus,
Now in heaven he is at rest.
Angels come with drooping wings,
Gentle words from Christ to bring,
Little feet are tripping round,
Walking now on Holy ground.
Now he stands with wondering eyes
Drinking in the glad surprise,
Sweetest note in Angel band,
Golden harps for tiny hands.

Celebrates 78th Birthday

A birthday celebration was given at the home of Mrs. Jemima Murphy in the Oakdale district, three miles from Falls City, last Sunday, in honor of her 78th birthday.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather an assembly of eighteen relatives gathered at the home to pay homage to one who had passed the allotted time of life. At the noon hour dinner was served and the guests partook freely of the chicken and other delicacies that had been prepared in a tasty manner for the occasion.

Mrs. Murphy is the mother of six living children, three being dead, and is still hale and hearty and except for a few infirmities incident to a person so far advanced in life, is still able to attend to her household duties.

There were gathered at the occasion, four generations. A photograph of the group was to have been taken, but on account of the absence of a daughter, Mrs. Mattie Drumeller of Sheridan, it was postponed. Mrs. Murphy is a pioneer of Polk county, coming here thirty years ago, when the region now known as Falls City was a wilderness and during that time has seen the country develop into progressive towns and fertile farms.

The friends of Mrs. Murphy wish her much pleasure in the days to come.

Short Change Artists Come to Grief

Last Saturday a couple of crooks accompanied by a female of perhaps no better reputation blowed into Falls City and attempted the short change stunt upon the unsuspecting public.

Their first attempt was at the postoffice where one of them bought 10-cents worth of postage stamps and gave a $10 gold piece in payment and attempted to get Mr. Mehrling rattled but failed and they drifted across the street to the Idaho where they met with better success. They soon separated Bob Throckmorton from $5 in cash. They came to town in an automobile driven by the aforesaid female and after this transaction they proceeded to make their get-away. It was only a few minutes until Bob realized that he had been frisked and he sailed out with blood in his eye intent upon capture. On his way down the street he ran amidship of Pat Murphy, the city marshal and attempted to shanghai him. But Pat wanted to take a glimpse of the sailing orders and get his artillery on deck before he slipped his cable. By the time they reached the garage the auto of the fleeing crooks disappeared in the eastern horizon. Pat declared that they had reached neutral waters and if there was further pursuit according to international law it would be necessary to invoke the aid of the constable. This was done and chase given.

In the meantime the crooks feeling safe had stopped at Pedee and fleeced a merchant there out of $5 and before they could get under way again the fleet from Falls City swooped down and gathered them in. They were taken before Judge Holman at Dallas who ordered that they make restitution and pay all expenses and linger not on the order of their going, but to "GIT."

Seeking a Location

Last week two gentlemen were here looking for a location for a dairy. They either want to rent or buy. They stated that the range in their section was poor and they were seeking greener fields. This is what Falls City is in need of—producers of wealth.

Good Bread Makers

That the art of good bread making will not be lost to Falls City was demonstrated at the County fair last week. Prizes were won by Lavrene Myers, Lucile Tichnor, Sybil Wilson, Lorena Treat, and Evelyne Johnson.
