Count Seiki Terauchi, New Premier of Japan

Lieutenant General Terauchi, who recently succeeded Count Okuma as premier of Japan, has had an honorable career in the service of the mikado. His greatest achievement was the annexation of Korea. Made governor general in 1911, he was instrumental in revolutionizing the Korean policy of Marquis Ito, his predecessor. At the end of his second month in office the formal annexation of Korea to Japan was announced to the powers. He is a native of Chohn, sixty-four years of age, and entered the army in 1871 as sublieutenant. He worked his way up quickly and in 1897 became a lieutenant general. Later he served as inspector general of military instruction and vice chief of the general staff. In 1902 he became war minister, which position he held until made governor general of Korea, nine years later.

Suit Involves Titles of All Oakland Realty

Mining Man Would Establish Validity of Spanish Grant Dated in 1820

Oakland, Cal. Nov. 29.—Prepared with maps and documents that date back to 1820, William Muir, mining man, is taking steps to attack titles of virtually the entire city of Oakland in series of suits, the first of which has been filed.

Muir has been collecting data for more than 25 years to show the validity of the old Spanish grant made by Don Luis Peralta of the San Antonio ranch which takes Goat Island, a portion of San Francisco bay and land as far as the crest of the Coast Range mountains.

Muir is now negotiating with government officials in Washington to substantiate his claim. He is working, he says, on a plan for a tunnel under San Francisco bay and he wants to establish his title to certain lands before beginning the project.

MINISTERS ARE STIRRED UP

Tacoma Pastors Take Sides Over Efficacy of Bible Preaching

Tacoma, Wash. Nov. 29.—Tacoma ministers are wrought up over the statement made before the Ministerial Alliance by Rev. Frank Dyer, pastor of the First Congregational Church, that, while the Bible was written by the best thinkers of the time, preaching today must be based on the thought of the best thinkers of the present.

Fellow pastors took an adverse view of the subject, and declared that preaching today should be founded on the Bible as it stands rather than upon the modern view of truth of Christianity. Dr. Dyer had some supporters and the argument waxed warm.

MAKE YOURSELF A REALLY FORCEFUL MAN

Charles M. Schwab states in the American Magazine that integrity and personality are two important things in salesmanship. He says: "Integrity, incidentally, is one of the mightiest factors in salesmanship. If you have a reputation for stating facts exactly, for never attempting to gain momentary advantage through exaggeration, you possess the basis of all successful salesmanship. "Next to integrity comes personality—that indefinable charm that gives to men what perfume gives to flowers. Many of us think of salesmen as people traveling around with sample kits. Instead, we are all salesmen every day of our lives. We are selling our ideas, our plans, our energies, our enthusiasms, to those with whom we come in contact. Thus the man of genial presence is bound to accomplish much more, under similar conditions, than the man without it. If you have personality, cherish it; if you have not, cultivate it. For personality can be cultivated, although the task is not easy. "Nothing is so plentiful in America as opportunity. There are more jobs for forceful men than there are forceful men to fill them. Whenever the question comes up of buying new works we never consider whether we can make the works pay. That is a foregone conclusion if we can get the right man to manage them. "All successful employers of labor are stalking men who will do the unusual, men who think, men who attract attention by performing more than is expected of them. These men have no difficulty in making their worth felt. They stand out above their fellows until their superiors cannot fail to see them."

THE WAY YOU LIVE.

- Engage in nothing that cripples or degrades you. Your first duty is self culture, self exaltation. You may not violate this sacred trust. Yourself is sacred; profane it not. Forge no chains wherewith to shackle your own members. Either subordinate your vocation to your life or quit it forever.—Amos Bronson Alcott.

Scolding a Bad Habit.
Scolding is mostly a habit. It is often the result of nervousness and an irritable condition of both mind and body. Scolding is a habit very easily formed. It is an unreasoning and unreasonable habit. Persons who once get into the way of scolding always find something to scold about. If there is nothing else they begin scolding at the mere absence of anything to scold at. It is an extremely disagreeable habit. It is contagious. Once introduced into a family it is pretty certain in a short time to affect all the members.

Must Efficiency Be Its Own Reward?

A business man went through a siege of stenographers—one more inefficient than the others, and his business suffered because of their mistakes. Then he secured an efficient worker. The customers lost to him by former carelessness came back. He confesses that his correspondence has never been so well handled, and he takes pride in saying that he can go on business trips and his letters and customers will be as efficiently handled as if he were at the desk. This man's salary has gone up from $2,200 to $4,500 a year by reason of his efficient worker, while the salary of the stenographer has increased from $9 to $11 a week. Is not this injustice more common than employers realize? Would it not be to the point if employers sometimes took an inventory of their offices and checked up those who are a vital part of their success and acted accordingly? The worker in the ranks is just as important sometimes as the head, only she is so often forgotten.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Sober Man's Day.
This is the day of the sober man. The man who leads a clean, honest, temperate life may not be brilliant, but he stands a better chance of succeeding than his more accomplished brother who burns his brain with drink. Men of practical business have found after years of experience that it is better and safer to have about them men who are sober and who come to their work with clear heads than to have experts who cannot be relied upon.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

TOMORROW'S HANDLE.

- Every tomorrow has two handles. We can take hold of it by the handle of anxiety or the handle of faith.—Emerson.
