Love or Hate?

Is your life controlled more largely by your likes, your loves or by your dislikes, your hates? asks a writer in the Christian Herald. It would be well to think about this searchingly.

Malice, envy, resentment, hard thoughts of any sort, poison first the heart in which they originate. They make a brackish, unhealthy pool, where all kinds of bad mental conditions will generate.

It is only in our loves that we really live.

What we hate is dead to us, and the wider the range of our hates the narrower our lives.

It is a beautiful belief that every kindly act, word, thought or impulse continues in its influence forever, brightening and sweetening the world, and that every evil deed or thought permanently destroys a part of the sum total of human happiness. Certainly this is the effect upon the life in which the thought originates. Every thought elevates or lowers, purifies or debases.

Love thoughts are wings. Hate thoughts are weights.

Your own feeling is reflected back to you from others. If you give love you get love. It is one of the things the more of which you give the more you have. Love is born a twin and cannot exist without its counterpart. It is your own attitude that attracts or repels others. According as we love or hate, we surround ourselves with an atmosphere of inviting sweetness or hedge ourse in with a barbed wire fence. People are lovely to you or hateful, just as you love them or hate them. This is not mere seeming, but one of the truest actualities in the world.

Love is the light in which we see and live. Hates are malarial mists in which we blindly grope and miserably die.

Man's Weakness.

It is because men are prone to be partial toward those they love, unjust toward those they hate, servile toward those above them, arrogant to those below them and either harsh or over-indulgent to those in poverty and distress that it is so difficult to find any one capable of exercising a sound judgment with respect to the qualities of others.—Confucius.

A College Education

Dean Holmes of the Pennsylvania State college, after spending months gathering statistics and reducing them to orderly form, has discovered that the money value of four years at college is $20,000, or a financial return of $5,000 for every year so spent.

Dean Holmes' investigations reveal the fact, which at first seems a little disconcerting to the advocates of university training, that the average earnings of a bachelor of arts amount to $1,157 a year, not quite $25 a week. But the situation brightens for the colleges when we learn that the average earnings of the noncollege man are only $318, not $10 a week.

The difference between these two sums is $800 and since the average man lives thirty years after leaving college his financial reward for four years of more or less arduous undergraduate toil is evidently something more than $20,000.—World's Work.

Politeness.

Politeness is perhaps instinctive with some, but with the majority it is a matter of training, of the slow and careful discipline of voice and eye and carriage. Under this training all the angles of personal vanity and self-consciousness are rubbed off, the person becomes adorned with grace, ease, gentleness and simplicity, and what may seem to the untrained observer as the perfection of naturalness may be simply the perfection of culture.

Mistaken Duty.

See your duty clearly and honestly before you act. People are very often hasty to say, "I thought it my duty to do such a thing." It too frequently happens that what they thought it their duty to do was some mischievous which lay miles out of their way. At a late computation fully one-half of the bad things done out of the ranks of the avowedly vicious are done under the impulse of a sense of duty.

Home Cookery

Scotch Broth.

Three pounds of mutton from fore quarter, two quarts of cold water, one-half tablespoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, one small onion, one-half cupful each of carrots and turnips cut in small cubes, two tablespoonfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of pearl barley. skin and fat cut meat in small pieces; add water, seasonings, vegetables, barley and flour mixed with a little cold water. Cook slowly from six to eight hours. As water evaporates add enough to make up for that lost by evaporation.

Fine in the Apple Season.

Line the sides only of a baking dish with a rich biscuit crust. Pare and core enough apples to fill to the top of crust when sliced. Season with cinnamon and sugar. Add a little water to make some juicy sauce, but not enough to make it soggy. Cover with more crust, piercing to allow the steam to escape. The crust when baked should be about half inch thick. If the dough is patted out instead of rolled it is not so apt to be tough.

Stuffed Peppers.

Grind a pound of lean beef and one-half pound of pork or veal, mix with three tablespoonfuls uncooked rice, pepper, salt, a chopped onion and a tablespoonful of fat or butter. Clean the peppers, take out the seeds and fill them with this mixture, then strain a can of tomatoes into a stewpan, add a pinch of sugar and salt and simmer the peppers for two hours in this. When done thicken the sauce with a little flour.

Berry Mold.

Take a stale loaf of bread, cut in thin slices and spread lightly with butter. Stew a scant quart of small sweet berries of any kind and when soft add sugar to taste. In a deep dish put a layer of the bread, pour over a quantity of the boiling mixture, then add more bread and fruit until all has been used. Cool, set on the ice and serve very cold with a little whipped cream.

Getting Juice From Lemons.

If lemons are dried and do not seem to contain much juice just pour boiling water over them and let them stand until the water is cold. You will be surprised at the amount of juice they contain, and the juice is not weakened by the water.

WANTS TO KNOW WHAT'S BECOME OF THE "DOG LAW"

Editor of the News,
Dear Sir:

Do you have any idea why the dog law that was passed some time ago is not enforced against these worthless curs that are running around town.

I, for one, demand that the City Marshal will sally forth and make observations and report.

There is no use to put a good and much needed law as this on our statute books and then let it become obsolete. I say let us stop feeding this army of worthless dogs.

Respectfully Yours.

A Citizen.

LOCAL HONOR GUARD AT WORK

Last Monday night the Honor Guard girls had a lively and jolly time at the home of one of the members, Mabel Teal.

The girls are not contented to drop their enthusiasm after sending the Christmas boxes to Our Boy but are going ahead with their invaluable work.

As the roll was called each member responded with prudent suggestions for future work. One suggestion was to make a large service flag and embroider the name of each boy of Falls City in service in a star; They also intend to make a flag for each family who has a brother or son in the Army or Navy. Work on these will begin next meeting.

The girls are also going to make scrapbooks for the boys.

Two letters of thanks from boys who received Christmas packages from them were read, which created in the girls a new desire to keep their work progressing.

Forty-five dollars was cleared at the recent entertainment given by the Honor Guard, so after the Christmas boxes were paid for there was left a remainder of $10. With this they are going to make the flag.

The Misses Sybil Wilson and Lavita Howell were chosen editors for the Honor Guard Magazine.

Corn popping over the fireplace was enjoyed by the girls after which they went home.

The Junior League under the direction of Miss Hammond, held a reception at the church Tuesday eve. Officers were elected for the year as follows:

YOU START AT ZERO

We all start out in life from Zero mark. It is uphill all the way. The higher we go the more we are looked up to. The man who attains success must take himself seriously, look to his own interests and conserve his strength, wealth and ability. Many people are depositing their money with this bank, paying by check, and furthering their own interests, thereby raising their marks high above zero on the gauge of life
