These are specimens grown on up land and clearly show what can be done in the way of fruit growing on our bench lands.

Bro. Dean of the Coquille HERALD devotes the entire front page of his last issue to an illustrated write-up of the W. O. W. log-rolling, will occur in that city on the 8th of October. This is a stroke of enterprise seldom equaled by a country paper, and the business men of Coquille should give the HERALD their united support. Organizer Jos. Coyan instituted a camp of the order at North Bend Monday evening with 21 charter members and 20 applications in the hands of the head physician. Chittim camp, the name given the camp at their last meeting, will have a membership of 50 by the 8th of October, and will be at the big rally on the above date. —The Evening Post.
