A Comprehension Educational Display.

Portland, Jan. 8.—Plans for the educational department of the Oregon Centennial have been outlined by General Supervisor R. F. Robinson and approved by the State Commission. Professor Robinson is planning a display of educational methods in the Exposition state which shall embrace the work done by every school in the state, and every grade in every school. Probably so comprehensive a display was never before attempted for an exposition.
The state will be organized by counties, each county being made an exhibit unit, although cities that so desire may separate exhibits. The work will be arranged by grades, commencing with the primary and ending with the high school. This plan will enable visitors to understand the educational work of the state in the order of its development. Circulars on the subject will be sent to every school in the state. Compositions of pupils, drawings and paintings made by students, and photographs of school rooms, class rooms, and pupils will be features of the exhibit. Several schools have already arranged for exhibit space, among these being the University of Oregon, the Oregon Agricultural College, and the Monmouth Normal school.

To Defy Custom.

Oregonian News Bureau. Washington, Jan. 4.—Senator Mitchell is expected to reach Washington tomorrow morning. If he arrives while the Senate is in session, his course will be closely observed, as there is general curiosity to see whether or not he will appear on the floor of the Senate while resting under indictment. Should he adhere to precedent he will not go in to the Senate chamber, but will remain in his committee-room. If he acts in accordance with the wish of many of his colleagues, expressed to Senator Fulton today, he will disregard custom and resume his seat as if nothing had occurred. It rests entirely with Senator Mitchell to determine what course he will follow. If he chooses to continue to participate in the proceedings to the Senate, no objection is likely to be raised.

"Vulcan" Will Come to Exposition.

Portland, Jan. 8.—The monster iron statue of Vulcan which was exhibited by Birmingham, Ala., at the St. Louis Fair, will be displayed at the Lewis and Clark Centennial at Portland next year. The statue will remain in St. Louis for four months, when it will start on its long journey to the "Rose City."
Vulcan was cast in iron from a model built by the well-known sculptor, G. Moretti, and all of the metal used in its construction as well as the minerals composing the foundation, are from Alabama mines. The exhibit cost $20,000 and required almost a year to complete it. Vulcan tips the scales at 100,000 pounds and stands 57 feet high in his socks.
The statue will probably stand at the entrance to the Mines building at the Western World's Fair.

Slim Chances for River and Harbor Bill.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The prospects are that this session of Congress will not pass a river and harbor bill. The committee on rivers and harbors has been considering a bill for some time with a view to making an early report, but among the leaders in the House there is a disposition to let the bill go over for this session, on account of the condition of the treasury. Cutting of a river and harbor bill would be in line with the determination of the House leaders to adhere to a policy of strict economy in Government expenditures.

Any school district in need of an experienced teacher can be put in communication with one by enquiring at this office.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Department clerks in Washington are excited over a rumor that their working day is to be lengthened one hour. So far there have been no resignations.
Citizen Polen-kowski of Chicago says the way to solve the rum shop question is to have neither side-door, nor rear door to the saloon and to exclude women. Another precaution might be to close the front door also and to exclude men.
"Thousands of people think themselves to death" says a medical journal. The statistics of those who talk themselves to death will be sent in at the close of the congressional session.

David Belasco has successfully defied the theater trust once more by converting Convention Hall, Washington, into a theater and producing the play "Adrea" with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the title role. Everyone wishes that the beef trust had its Belasco.
A man brought before a police judge said he went on a spree because he had no one to whom he could give Christmas presents. Scarcely any man is too temperate to let such an occasion for celebration pass.
The Revue Generale de Sciences of Paris states that too rapid mental development of the negro will exterminate the race. People in this country consider extermination in this way somewhat remote.

Some one is engaged in inventing an automobile that will go on water, and be especially useful for crossing the oceans. When it breaks down at least one won't have to walk home.

Insanity and suicide are on the increase in large cities because, it is alleged, of the urban conditions of crowding and haste. The Iowa State Board of Control reports an alarming increase of insanity and suicide throughout the state which is primarily an agricultural section, without any great cities. How will the alienists explain this?
Senor Quesada, the Cuban Minister to the United States gives a very encouraging report of conditions in the Island. He says there has been only one sporadic case of yellow fever since the war in Havana. The government of the country is also improved. The day is past when a policeman could carry on a business of burglarizing by night the houses he had guarded by day.

A clergyman down East is urging that the parents shall sit in the parlor during the time their daughter is courted. The rule would work great hardship to all parties.

Tom Patterson wanted only young men to try her. Now, she perhaps wishes she had been tried by that familiar bald headed contingent.

Tom Lawson, the frenzied finance man, confesses that he once prevented Addicks committing suicide. This is no venial offense.

Col. Watterson finds Paris less engaging than it was forty years ago. He is not unlike the woman who revisited Paris after an absence of forty years and said that there was a great change in the manners of the gay city—that the men did not follow her as they used to do.

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years from rheumatism," says W. H. Howard of Husband, Pennsylvania. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried, in fact, she is never without it now and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

A piano for sale on easy terms. Will take part in trade. Enquire at this office.
