Gentlemen: I am informed that a rumor is afloat on the river that the steamer Kilburn has no through rates with the railroad to Coquille City, Myrtle Point and Bandon. Allow me to inform you, that this is a mistake. We have the same through rates as the Alliance people and we respectfully ask you to give us at least part of your patronage. By comparing your freight bills by our boat with the other line I think you will find it to your advantage to do business with us. Hereafter the Kilburn will leave Marshfield every five days making three trips per month each between Coos bay and Portland and Coos bay and San Francisco via Eureka. Thanking you for your patronage I remain, Yours truly, HENRY SEUGSTACKEN, Agent Steamer Kilburn, Marshfield, Oregon.

J. O. Christie Instantly Killed. On last Friday the most horrible accident which has ever occurred in the history of our city happened as the eleven o'clock train from Myrtle Point pulled through Front street to the depot. As the train came in a number of persons were just starting to the depot, the way leading down the tracks to that place, and J. O. Christie, secretary of the Coquille Coal and Lumber Co., was among them, being on his way to Marshfield to meet Mrs. Christie, who was on her way up from San Francisco on the Breakwater, to join her husband at this place. Mr. Christie who had been talking with parties near the corner of Mr. Skeel's store, and as the train drew near started in the direction of the depot, following the planked street alongside the side-track, following this a short distance past the switch when it seems he concluded to follow the sidetrack, and deliberately stepped down onto the track. At this time the train was "not more than ten or twelve feet behind him, but he evidently fully believed the train to be on the other track and paid no attention whatever to the advancing locomotive, and before anyone could warn him he was struck by the pilot and thrown to the ground. For about twenty feet he was dragged by the pilot where in a bruised condition he was left lying directly across one rail where the body was completely cut in twain by the wheels, the locomotive and two loaded cars passed over it, leaving it in a horribly mangled condition. There were three persons in full view of the unfortunate man at the time, O. C. Shaw, a traveling man, being but a few feet behind him, Bud Mansell, a few feet at one side, and the fireman on the locomotive, Ira Chapman. Corner Mingus, of Marshfield was notified at once, and was brought over as soon as a train could be had, the locomotive here being the only one on the road in running order, and empaneled as jurors, D. H. Johnson, C. A. Gage, G. A. Robinson, L. H. Hazard, H. N. Lorenz and J. A. Lamb, who rendered as a verdict that the deceased came to his death by accident. The deceased was 67 years of age and leaves a wife on this coast, all other relatives living in the East. We give the following from the Daily Coast Mail: TO BE BURIED AT SAN FRANCISCO. George Fellows came over from Coquille yesterday, to break the sad news of her husband's death to Mrs. Christie, who arrived on the Breakwater. Mr. Fellows performed his unenviable task as gently as possible, and the bereaved widow, though heart-broken, bore up bravely under the affliction, and signified that it was her wish that the remains be taken to San Francisco for burial. Mr. Fellows, who is an old friend of the family, made the necessary arrangements, and the body was brought over on a special train and will be shipped on the Breakwater, by which steamer Mrs. Christie will also return. W. T. Langlois, keeper of the Tillamook lighthouse, passed through town yesterday on his way to Langlois where he will visit his father and other relatives and friends. Before returning to his labors he will visit his wife and others at Roseburg and Riddles. Obituary. Sarah Snapp Kilburn was born in Newburyport, Massachusetts, Feb. 16, 1840, died Feb. 3, 1905, age 64 years, 11 months and 18 days. She came around Cape Horn to the mouth of the Columbia river with her father, who was a sea captain and ship owner, in the year 1845. Her home was in Portland, Oregon, until she was sixteen years of age, when she married Thomas Norton, and with him she went to San Jose, California, to make their home. To this union was given five children, three girls and two boys. Her first husband died in San Jose, after which she was married in Santa Cruz, Santa Cruz county, California, to her present husband, John T. Jewett. To them were born four children, one son and three daughters, who with three of the children by her first husband, and her present husband are left to mourn the loss of wife and mother.
