

SOCIAL EVENTS

J. G. W. Club Twice Entertained - - - Other Parties and Banquets.

The J. G. W. club have been delightfully entertained the past week. The first occasion was given by Mrs. E. E. Johnson in honor of Mrs. Stanley Dollar, of Oakland, California.

The rooms of the Johnson residence were handsomely decorated with spring blossoms and pussy willows. In the dining rooms the candle shades were pink, shedding a faint glow over the tables which were centered with baskets of china lilies. The place cards were of pink rose design and the favors were baskets of pink and white, filled with salted nuts.

The merry evening came all too quickly to an end and with regrets the guests bade their hostess and Mrs. Dollar "Bonne Nuit."

Present besides the hostess and honor guest were:

Misses Ester Asplund, Mary Davenport, Clara Sherwood and Mesdames M. O. Hawkins, Frank Leslie, Chas. Endicott, Ida Owen, C. McC. Johnson, Calvin Slagle, Fred Slagle, J. A. Lamb, Wm. Lyons, Benjamin Currie, Edward Lorenz, F. E. McKenna, George Lorenz, Chas. Harlocker, Henry Lorenz, Tracy Leach, J. E. Lawrence, Austin Wilson, Chas. Howard, A. Folsom, A. Gould, Chas. Skeels, Jane Williams, Edward Mochler, of Marshfield and Thos. Mohl, of Bandon.

Dinner by Mrs. Fred Slagle

A dinner was given Monday evening by Mrs. Fred Slagle in honor of her sister, Mrs. Butler, of Bandon and for her niece, Miss Fern and Miss Mamie, of Klamath Falls, who have been visiting in Coquille for some time.

The following were present: Misses Fern Lovar, Mamie Lovar, Clara Sherwood, Mary Davenport and Mesdames E. E. Johnson, C. McC. Johnson, J. A. Lamb, Benjamin Currie, F. E. McKenna, Chas. Harlocker, Ed. Mochler, Tracy Leach, Harry Butler, Fred Slagle, C. Slagle, M. O. Hawkins, Chas. Endicott, Ida Owen, Wm. Lyons, Edward Lorenz, Geo. Lorenz, Henry Lorenz, J. S. Lawrence, Aaron Wilson, Chas. Howard, Jane Williams, Chas. Skeels, Bert Folsom and Miss Inez Bunch.

The dining room was hung with festoonings and baskets of freesias and narcissuses. The dining table was elaborate in every detail and Mrs. Butler's charming little daughter, Gertrude, and Miss Helen Sherwood daintily gowned in white embroidered dresses proved themselves clever little serving maids.

During the evening Mrs. Gertrude Lorenz sang a group of songs and Mrs. Hawkins followed with instrumental selections.

Senior Banquet.

Perhaps the most tastefully prepared and delightfully served of all the banquets given by the students of the Coquille high school was that of the class of 1917 at the W. O. W. hall last night. Each of the five courses was dainty and delicious. The menu was as follows:

Chicken a la Coquille, Potato Cones, Celery de Millianne, Jelly, Nut bread, Pickles, Olives, Divinity Salad, Wafers, Masked Apples, Nabiscos, Coffee, Mints.

Following the banquet the following program was given, Ada Downs, president of the class presiding: Reading C. A. Howard. Vocal solo Miss Bay. Inspiration John L. Gary. Vocal solo Mrs. Gambell. Reading Miss Newell.

Those seated at the festive board were Ada Downs, Edna Robison, Arthur Hooton, Mrs. C. A. Howard, John L. Gary, Miss Mabel Bay, Euel Philpott, Alexander Lowe, Will Philpott, Leanna Curry, Clara Heller, C. A. Howard, Mrs. John L. Gary, Leslie Schroeder, Zelma Girang, Mrs. Gamble and Miss Ada May Newell.

The class is deeply indebted to Mrs. Strang, Mrs. Will Downs and Miss Newell, the class advisor, for assistance in planning and preparing the delightful banquet; also to Misses Marvel Skeels and Gwendolyn Endicott for serving.

Mrs. Lamb Entertains.

Mrs. J. A. Lamb entertained the Auction Bridge club and a number of invited guests at her home yesterday afternoon in a very charming manner. As the name indicates auction bridge formed the afternoon's diversion. The rooms were tastefully decorated with Huckleberry, ferns and narcissus. At the close of the playing, Mrs. Lamb served dainty refreshments. The members present were Mesdames A. J. Sherwood, L. H. Hazard, O. C. Sanford, Jane Williams, E. N. Butler,

Chas. Harlocker, F. E. McKenna, C. A. Howard, Cal Slagle, Fred Slagle and Miss Clara Sherwood. The other guests were Mesdames C. McC. Johnson, H. A. Young, T. B. Currie, Ed. Lorenz, Bert Folsom, E. E. Johnson, W. H. Lyons and Master Maurice Williams.

Married at Bandon.

Miss Zettie Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gibson, of this city, was married at five o'clock last evening in San Francisco to Kenneth Ely, Rev. Silby, of Calvary Presbyterian church officiating. The bride is a graduate nurse from the German hospital in San Francisco, having recently completed the three years' course. The groom was formerly employed here by the Estabrook company. He at present holds a responsible position with a lumber company of the California metropolis.—Bandon World.

Eighth Grade Party.

A party was given at the home of J. H. Oerding last evening by the eighth graders in honor of the members of that class who have just secured their diplomas and are entering high school next Monday. A most enjoyable evening was spent at games, after which refreshments were served. The guests of honor were Nadine Schow, Fred Harlocker, Majorie Hazard, Paul Johnson, Everett Briner, Kirk Shalley, Ida Oerding, John Oerding, Chrystal Lafferty and Eric Piep.

Sin Brings Sorrow.

That "where sin is, sorrow shall answer for it," is again proved in the case of Maury I. Diggs, whose sentence to prison for taking a young woman out of California for immoral purposes, has just been confirmed by the United States Supreme court. He subsequently secured a divorce from his wife and married the girl he had wronged. But by doing that they did not evade the inevitable penalty. Writing to the newspapers to make an unavailing protest against putting her husband in jail, the woman who was Martha Warrington, closes with what sounds like the wall of a lost soul:

"The sentence carried out at this late day can benefit no one. We are already broken in fortune and reputation, in family, in spirit. From this punishment there is no escape. And it is enough."

Only $30 a Day.

F. D. Clough, who is mining on the Cape Blanco beach, was in town the first of the week trading at the stores. When asked how rich the sand was he is working, he replied: "Oh, nothing extra; I'm taking out about $30 a day." And he had some nice samples of gold and platinum that went to show that he was really taking out the values. Since it was first discovered in early days the Cape Blanco beach has been one of the richest beaches along the coast, and several fortunes have been mined in its sands. Even of later years, when most of the black sand deposits have been stripped of their rich values, the beach continues to yield good returns to the miner. Platinum that was thrown away by the early day miner is now its richest product.—Port Orford Tribune.

Gold on South Slough.

Speaking of the deposits of placer gold in Southwestern Oregon, the report of the State Bureau of Mines and Geology says:

Mr. John R. Smith claims that a bed 12 to 14 feet thick on South Slough, in Coos county, runs from 40 cents to $18.00 a ton in the precious metals. He states that this bed lies about 60 feet above the level of the slough, and that another bed, 10 to 20 feet above the one first mentioned, is 30 inches to 7 feet thick, and runs from $3.57 to $130 a ton in gold and platinum. The second bed is covered by from 4 to 20 feet of overburden. He further claims that each of 5 samples selected from the smaller beds yielded assays of better than $70 a ton.

This is the last call for the Sentinel-Evening Telegram combination at $4.50. On the first of February the price of the Telegram will go up to $5.00 a year and the best figure we can make on the combination after that will be $5.50 for the year.

Coquille Wins 21 to 19.

The Coquille High School basketball ball five made an excellent impression on a large and enthusiastic audience at Masonic Hall last Friday evening the occasion of their first championship game at home. That they won from Marshfield High was of course a matter of congratulation, but the team work shown and the ability to break up their opponents' game at critical points showed that they were playing with their heads as well as with their hands, and promises a fine record for this year's team.

The final score was 21 to 19. Coquille closed the first half with a 12 to 7 lead and the way they were going led their supporters to have visions of a large score victory. But the Marshfield lads came back in the second half and gradually crept up until the count was in their favor by a couple of points. Then the locals made the spurt which gave them four points and the game in the last few moments.

Had Marshfield been a little more accurate in throwing foul baskets there would have been a different story to tell, for they must have missed 15 or 18 attempts. Coquille likewise lost points in the same way, but not so many as did their opponents.

No individual player could be picked out as the star performer, for each one played the game every minute. Paul Crouch threw several field baskets that were dandies and Chas. Oerding played his usual steady game, running the ball down the floor on several occasions when Marshfield was threatening. Otto Davis was in the play most of the time, while Fred Lorenz time after time broke up plays where Marshfield looked sure to score. John Stanley at center outplayed his opponent and never missed a chance to go into the thick of it no matter how rough the going. It is a mighty good team and can hold its own with the best there is in this section.

There is no game scheduled for tonight, but next Friday Coquille goes to Myrtle Point to play the strong high school team there.

The two preliminary games to the big event proved very entertaining. The Freshman girls, who last year swept all before them, were humbled by a five called the "Outlaws," composed of seniors, juniors and sophomores. They lost 13 to 5.

The game between the little fellows was won by Marshfield 12 to 10. That the Marshfield boys were larger than themselves did not seem to bluff the Coquille lads a bit and they waded in, occasionally although frequently brushed aside by their bigger adversaries. Those who played in this game were Myron Varney, Wellman Ball, Don Pierce, Billy Tyrrell, Everett Briner, Purl Woodruff and Guy Mintony.

Water-proof, Rot-proof, Sanitary

If you have Congoleum on your floors, you can run a mop over them and they will be cleaner than any swept floor. Congoleum is waterproof right through—water cannot injure it. Compared with printed linoleum, Congoleum is more durable, more attractive, more waterproof, yet the price is less. Congoleum requires no fastening—any one can lay it—it won't curl up.

Congoleum Rug Borders, laid next to a rug or carpet, give the actual appearance of polished oak.

The water-proof qualities of CONGOLEUM Rugs make them ideal for kitchens and bath rooms where cleanliness and sanitary conditions are essential. On the porch, they are storm and sun-proof. In sitting rooms, in dining rooms, halls, bed rooms, their rich patterns add greatly to the beauty of the home. And if low-priced rugs are desired for dining room, bed room or kitchen, Congoleum Rugs are absolutely what you want and are a mighty fine thing to have.

How to Lay and Care for CONGOLEUM Coverings

Congoleum should be kept in a moderately warm place 24 hours before unrolling. Don't unroll when cold. The floor should be swept clean to see that the surface is smooth and even. Fill in wide cracks or depressions with putty.

Congoleum lies perfectly flat on any floor.

If Congoleum is fastened to the floor it will not give satisfaction, as this will cause it to buckle. Tacks, nails, brads, cement or any special fastenings, together with their expense and bother, are eliminated when you use Congoleum.

Like everything else in your home which is in constant use, Congoleum requires a little attention to insure the highest degree of service. If such attention is given the results secured will be eminently satisfactory. You will find Congoleum a high-grade material—durable, waterproof and rot-proof.

In cleaning Congoleum, use a mild soap, like Castile, Ivory or Fairy Soap, with lukewarm water—not hot water. Never use sand soap or any cleansers containing alkali.

An occasional coat of any good varnish or Liquid Veneer will more than repay for the slight expense by greatly prolonging the life of the material, renewing the surface and retaining the beauty of the pattern.

WHAT THEY SAY

The F. H. Smith Store of Sidney, N. Y., wrote us the following unsolicited letter regarding their durability test of a Congoleum Rug:

"In February, 1915, Congoleum first came to our attention, and so to satisfy ourselves we placed a rug on the stone walk in front of our entrance where the traveling public would be obliged to walk over it when on the street as well as those entering the store. It has been scraped with a shovel when cleaning the walk and commercial trucks have been rolled over this rug and still it is in good condition. We consider it a great wearer."

Following is a copy of a newspaper article describing the Congoleum durability test made by a dealer in Jackson, Miss. Read it:

"The most severe test ever given a rug has just been given a Congoleum Rug by the Heidelberg Furniture Company, when they placed one of these rugs on the concrete sidewalk in front of their store and let it remain three months. This rug was subjected to all kinds of weathering. "Mr. Heidelberg stationed a man in front of the store one half day, and in this way arrived at the fact that the rug was walked on more than four hundred thousand times."

4 1-2x6, $1.95 We have received notice from the manufacturer that there will be an advance in prices shortly and if you need a rug get it now.

6x9, $3.90.
