Roy Wernick, one of the company with which the E. E. Johnson mill has a contract for furnishing several million feet of spruce this year, and R. K. Booth, formerly with the Smith-Powers company, but now connected with a lumber sales company at Astoria, were in town several days last week and this, looking after business interests.

W. A. James, who runs a market garden in the north part of the city, has like so many others been bothered with moles. So he took to trapping them with the result that he has just received a check for $4.82 from Funton Brothers, of St. Louis, for the 82 pelts he sent them. This is making these pests pay for the labor of making way with them.

The Women's Study Club met last Friday afternoon and spent two hours and a half very pleasantly. After the usual preliminary discussion of business, the time was devoted to the lesson on home nursing. The club will meet next on February 16. Members not present at the last meeting, who have not paid their dues, are reminded that it is the time of year to pay them.

The first of the two Coconian dances is to be held tomorrow evening (Saturday) and not on the 14th as we stated last week or the 12th as the Herald announced. It is a little peculiar that both papers should have announced different dates and both wrong for this affair.

The band and the Coconians have been making great preparations to give their guests one of the best public dances ever held tomorrow evening. The masquerade dance on Washington's birthday will also be an exceptional occasion and should be borne in mind.

Henry Holton, who spent a month at Corvallis in January taking the Coconian's short course, says that he visited some of the largest creameries in the Willamette valley, notably the one at Independence, while he was gone and that some of them are as completely equipped and satisfactorily arranged as is the Coquille Valley Creamery. In fact, it is doubtful if there is one outside of Portland which compares with it in this respect.

BEQUEATHS MAID $20,000. Carl Struhsack, 22-year-old student at Willamette College, died at his home in Portland, Ore., on Monday, Jan. 27, 1914. His estate is estimated at $20,000.

His estate is estimated at $20,000. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Struhsack, of Portland, are the adoptive parents of the late Carl. He was a member of the Willamette College Glee Club and was a member of the Willamette College Athletic Club.

FOUND ANCIENT CITIES. Harvard Expedition Explorer Reports Discoveries in Peru. Panama.—Dr. W. L. Moore of Baltimore, returning from the Harvard expedition into the valley of the Marañon, in Peru, a tributary of the Amazon, reports the discovery in this hitherto unexplored and virtually uninhabited region of two ancient cities. Novel reptiles were also found.

Best Pay For New Roof. Hicksville, O.—Charles E. Sinn, living northeast of here, noticed two years ago a hole in the side of his residence near the roof. The other day he engaged carpenters to take off the old roof and replace it with a new one. The results of the two years of labor on the part of the bees were discovered. The honey extracted amounted to 275 pounds, 250 of it being of the best quality, and could have been sold for enough to pay for the entire roof.

Carlisle an Intemperate Smoker. For about seventy of his eighty-six years Carlisle smoked and made most of his contemporaries smoke. The trouble with him was that he was too fond of smoking a rank pipe on an empty stomach. That gave him pains and his contemporaries particular pains, for "yur said Carlisle" was as savage as a most home dog all the time.

He really cared for but two men in the world, Tompkins and Dickens. All the rest were "pair, feckless, reckless, intemperate bladders and gas bags," and all because Tom did not know how to clean his pipe and keep it clean and would smoke before breakfast.—Exchange.

Wants Dam for Power. One of our professional men suggests that by building a dam across the East fork of the Coquille in the Brewster valley canyon, it would be possible to impound sufficient water to furnish almost unlimited water power—sufficient to run all the mills and furnish all the electric power that will be used in Coos county for a generation to come. The suggestion was made that the enterprise was one which might probably be undertaken by the county, but that, of course, would be impossible at the present time. We have little idea of the area of the water shed drained by the east fork, but the possibility of building a dam in the canyon that would hold all the flood waters is evident.

Piano Tuning. M. O. Warner tunes and repairs pianos and organs. Been annual visitor here for past 29 years. His work is absolutely A1 and his prices moderate. The Penalty of Impudence. Mr. Stewart (the elder Sothorn) had incurred Miss Laura Koma's displeasure at a rehearsal. She summoned him to her dressing room, and as soon as he entered she began a violent tirade. Mr. Stewart stepped quickly to the gas jet which illuminated the sacred chamber and, turning out the gas, plunged the room into darkness. "What do you mean, sir? How dare you?" stormed the lady. "Pardon me, Miss Koma," said that impudent Mr. Stewart; "I can't bear to see a pretty woman in a temper." And under cover of the darkness he made his exit.—R. H. Sothorn's "The Melancholy Tale of 'Me'."

When a man says two can live as cheaply as one it means he is not married, but thinking about it.—Newville
