

FEED THE BRUTE

That is What the Ladies of the Norway Section Did at Annual Meeting.

Tuesday was a holiday in the Norway, Arago and Fishtrap country. On that day was held the banquet and educational meeting which the ranchers of the upper and lower river are making an annual event. It is a get-together affair for better acquaintance and understanding.

All ranchers from Powers to Bandon were invited to attend the meeting Tuesday and a crowd of 200 gathered. Few, however, came from below Coquille or above Myrtle Point. The feast, which usually comes first in an affair of this kind, was more than could be asked. E. E. Hampton, who was formerly in the hotel business, said there was the best lot of cooks in that section that he ever saw anywhere and after sampling their culinary contributions the Sentinel scribe heartily agrees with him. There were chicken, sandwiches galore, pickles, beans, macaroni, salads, cookies, cakes, pies, coffee and milk—that is all we can be sure of, because we did not get past one table, the dinner being served cafeteria style. But that everyone had enough and that of the best we are sure.

After the tables had been cleared away J. L. Smith, acting as chairman of the meeting, introduced H. A. Chaplin, of Wisconsin, who has recently been appointed a representative of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, Dairy Division. He is president of a cheese association in Sheboygan county, and the principal owner of a large cheese factory there.

While not recommending the abolition of creameries, Mr. Chaplin said there was more money for the dairyman in cheese than in butter, and that in Sheboygan county, Wisconsin, where many creameries formerly operated, there are now over 100 cheese factories and not one creamery. On this, his first trip out here, he had, he said, gone from the California line to northern Washington and Coos county was the finest dairy section he had yet seen.

Standardization of cheese is his hobby and while he said he had seen better cheese from Coos than from Tillamook, he had also seen worse, and Coos county was judged by its poorer products rather than by its best. Tillamook cheese is standard as to quality, style and size and has a national reputation, which Coos cheese does not, because of this lack of standardization.

Prof. W. A. Barr, of O. A. C., confined his remarks to the balanced ration for dairy herds, talking for his text a story of the young woman who asked her mother, in view of her approaching marriage, how to preserve domestic harmony in the home. The mother's reply was, "Feed the brute." Prof. Barr gave the same advice in regard to dairy cattle.

Ivan Lowrey, of Monmouth, told how the stock on their breeding farm there were fed, as to quantity, season and age of the animals.

The new tester of the Myrtle Point Association, O. H. Bryant, was introduced and acknowledged the introduction to his patrons in a fitting manner.

J. E. Norton, as president and H. A. Young, as secretary of the Coquille Commercial Club, were called on for remarks as was C. Milton Shultz, of the Myrtle Point Enterprise.

Mrs. Albert Schroeder, who as chairman of the "feed" committee, was called on, replied that the ladies were acting on Mr. Barr's injunction for securing domestic felicity.

To complete the re-organization of the upper river testing association the following officers were elected: President, W. C. Cutler; vice president, John Carl; secretary-treasurer, L. P. Trigg; and these with Albert Schroeder and Verne Lundy form the board of directors.

About four o'clock the meeting formally adjourned after a very filling, instructive and entertaining afternoon.

Those from Coquille who were present were: J. L. Smith, J. E. Norton, S. M. Nosler, W. L. Kistner, Earl and A. W. Graham and H. A. Young.

Coos Outranks Tillamook.

J. L. Smith recently received a newspaper from Tillamook county telling of the campaign going on there for more silos. The article stated that there were now 21 silos in Tillamook county. And that county has national fame as a dairy and cheese section, while Coos county, which is just coming to the front as a dairy center and will eventually earn and be entitled to the prestige Tillamook now enjoys, has 250 silos within its limits.

Meeting of German Club.

The German Club met last Thursday with Miss Newell at the Fred Belloni residence. This was the first meeting of the club since last semester and was a reception to the new members, who came in from the German I class. After the members arrived they were entertained for a short time with enjoyable conversation. A program which Miss Newell had planned was carried out by the German II people. It was as follows:

- I. Willkommen—Herr Leslie Schroeder.
- II. Die Wacht am Rhein—Der deutsche Klub.
- III. Unserer Sieben—Herr Paul Kirshman.
- IV. Die Lorelei—Der deutsche Klub.
- V. Das Lustspiel—Die Waldfrau.
- Die Parsonen.
- Die Waldfrau—Fraulein

Zelma Strang.
Die Mutter—Fraulein Edna Robison.
Betty (Ihre Tochter)—Fraulein Leanna Curry.
VI. O Tannenbaum—Der deutsche Klub.

VII. Heil dir im Siergerkranz—Der deutsche Klub.

One of the unique features of the program was the dramatization of the German story, Die Waldfrau. The plot of the story is of a poor widow and her daughter, Betty, who live near a forest. Betty takes care of the goats and spins during the day. She is very fond of dancing after her noon day lunch. The forest fairy appears and asks her to dance. Betty forgets her work and is much grieved when it is time to go home. The forest maiden makes Betty and her mother very happy by giving them some magic coin.

The forest dances were accompanied by music. The students took their parts well, acted in a realistic manner and spoke the language fluently and expressively.

After the program the constitution was read and the German I people joined the club. Next some German games were played and a few German anecdotes were told.

A buffet luncheon was served, consisting of kaffee kucken and kaffee and schokolade zurkerwerk.

Before going home a few German songs were sung which were enjoyed by both the old and the new members.

Those present were: Die Fraulein: Mabel Bay, Alice and Leanna Curry, Ada Downs, Gwendolyn Endicott, Bessie Johnson, Vera Kelley, Ada M. Newell, Mildred Norton, Edna Robison, Zelma Strang, Maud Toates; Die Herrn: C. A. Howard, J. W. Noblet, Arthur Hooton, Paul Kirshman, and Leslie Schroeder.

School Notes.

The high school students have been privileged to listen to two excellent addresses during the past week. On Wednesday J. C. Herberman, the lecturer, who had appeared in the Lyceum course the previous evening, talked about the things that go to make up a happy and successful life. Many of the students pronounced this address even better than the lecture Tuesday evening.

On Thursday morning, Miss Cowgill, of the Oregon Agricultural College, addressed the high school as well as the seventh and eighth grades on the subject of manual work in school. Miss Cowgill considers domestic science and manual training to be absolutely essential to a first class high school. However, in the absence of these subjects she suggested that the students could profit greatly by taking up the industrial club work carried on by the Agricultural College in conjunction with the state department of education.

The superintendent has made a regulation to the effect that students shall not be called to the telephone during school hours except in case of rare emergencies. Messages will be delivered or students will be requested to call up at the close of school but they will not be called out of class to answer the phone. This regulation was made necessary by the great number of calls that come in daily.

Mr. Howard was faculty lecturer for last Monday. He took for his subject, "Good Manners and Conventionalities."

Can't Keep Good Testers.

County Agent Smith has a hard time keeping efficient cow testers for the Coos county associations. Recently two have resigned, A. B. Black the last of three brothers to hold the position in succession in the Coos Bay association, and K. Nelson, of the upper river association. Mr. Black has just received a fellowship at O. A. C., which will mean a great deal in opportunity, and went out there the middle of the week. Mr. Nelson has accepted a much better position in Washington. O. H. Bryant has been secured for the upper river work, but no one has yet been found for the Bay association.

Best Game of the Year.

One of the cleanest and best basketball games played here in years was that between the Myrtle Point and Coquille high schools at Masonic Hall last Saturday night. The local five played the visitors clear off their feet and playing the same sort of a game with the other schools would have gone through the season with an unbroken string of victories.

John Stanley, who has recently been made captain, and Paul Crouch played the game of their lives. The latter was in fine form for basketball shooting and made a number of unexpected and wonderful throws. Fred Lorenz, Philip Johnson and John Oerding were not behind the other two in spectacular defensive work. The team work was fine and the boys played together like a well-oiled machine. Many attempts to score by the visitors were stopped when it seemed improbable that they could be.

The score of 20 to 3, however, does not indicate the playing ability of the two teams, as Myrtle Point put up a good game and was simply overpowered by the concentrated attack of the locals.

It is greatly to the credit of the Coquille players that they paid no attention to the coaching of two or three spectators to "rough it."

The preliminary game between the Junior and Sophomore girls' teams resulted in a 12 to 1 victory for the Sophs. The larger part of the crowd present was pulling for the Juniors, who have been unlucky the year. Mary Ellen Law scored all 12 points for the Sophs, the rest of the team relying on her to make the score.

There was a good attendance at the games and everyone was enthusiastic over the championship form displayed.

MATTRESSES

Why It Will Not Stretch.—The ticking is sewed in tubed form before the filler (see 1) is placed into it. The dotted curved seams (see 2) on the wrong side of the ticking take up the stretch.
Eliminates 40% Strain on Tuffing Twines.—By slip stitching a fullness is provided (see 3) and being drawn down and up into the filler (see 1) of mattress by (see 4) tucking twines. Elasticized Perforations, Durability.—The top and bottom ticks are made in duplicate, each ticking point directly opposite each other and when drawn down into the firm elastic fabric filling, leaving top and bottom ticks perfectly smooth, and double the wear of any other mattress.
