MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

S. S. Endicott wants the Sentinel for the Myrtle Point news. Put him on the list so he will never be missed.

Tom Guerin, manager of the Guerin hotel, is absent in Portland on business. His brother, Harry, is conducting the hostelry during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Panter are waiting for some of the ice to go out before going to Alaska, where there is gold. They will join Mr. Panter's father.

Ben Shull is sawing his own lumber for another big barn on his South Fork Hartley ranch.

The average yield of spuds per acre in this neck of the Coquille valley is 200 bushels. The largest yield reported is by W. H. Carlile, on Middle Fork.

Mrs. Alice Viola Rackleff, wife of Lyman Rackleff, passed away suddenly on Friday of last week, death being due to heart failure. The funeral services were held at the residence, Rev. Mr. Vernon, of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The ladies of the Shamrock circle, of which she was a member, conducted the services in the Myrtle Point cemetery. Mrs. Geo. Rackleff will take the two infant children left motherless.

Jess Bright was in Monday and told us of one of his horses rearing up and striking him in the chest with its fore foot, not viciously but in play. It did not hurt him much nor did he consult a doctor.

Miss Mabel Agnew Lundy, while at North Bend last week as an Epworth League delegate, visited Mercy Hospital to see Mrs. J. O. Stemmler, whom she found feeling well, cheerful and improving as rapidly as possible under the conditions. Mrs. S. is glad to see friends from Myrtle Point.

Some of the H. S. people gave a refreshment entertainment consisting mostly of ice cream, but before they were ready to serve it some other H. S. people surreptitiously acquired the entire stock, and although the J. P. and Recorder knew of it soon afterward there has been no redress for the would-be ice cream eaters.

A. W. Bontrager, late expert machinist with the L. H. Pearce Garage, has resigned and accepted a like position in Coquille.

The advance man for the Barnes trained animal show—"the greatest on earth"—was here. All he asked for was concession, otherwise he would take it to the next town.

L. H. Pearce now has an elevated and illuminated sign before his place of business which sick autos will rejoice to see from afar.

N. W. Perkins, eldest son of N. G. W. Perkins, has gone for a few months' stay with his uncle at Parkfield, Cal., where he will take a course in buccaroing and have a good time generally. N. W. is the young man known by his friends and family as "Olas."

H. Christenson, a "meat" from Bandon, was here Tuesday. This is the place where there are cattle.

The Modern Woodmen of America are forging ahead and may be the strongest lodge in membership here. They now have a class of 64 whose applications are pending, and which will make their membership about 100. They are establishing a club and reading room for the members.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Lang, father and mother of Alfred Lang, cheesemaker for Mr. Christenson in Myrtle Point, are here from their home in Lebanon for a few weeks' visit in the hopes that this climate will benefit their health.

Dr. Pemberton reports a baby boy for Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCracken last Sunday in Coquille.

A son of L. A. Myers, down the river, had his head badly cut in an accident in a swing. Dr. Clark was called.

Mrs. Graney, of Gaylord, had his finger so badly split that Dr. Pemberton had to take seven stitches to close the wound.

Uncle Jerry has been here fifty years and thinks the last winter the most disagreeable. He is a good judge of "goods."

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Cotton were delighted by the arrival of a baby girl Sunday, Dr. Pemberton announces.

We are glad to see new, fresh sparrows from the ground, if it is 15c or two for a quarter.

Miss Annie Short, one of the students of the high school who has been absent for some time on account of sickness, is now reported as convalescent.

The Coquille Hardware seems to be all the time making tanks for creameries.

G. A. R. Department Commander Dr. J. E. Hall, of Portland, arrived here Tuesday morning and was met by the Grand Army "boys," who with the aid of the Woman's Relief Corps, served dinner in Lundy Hall—beans and coffee and too many other good things to remember. The old veterans present were Hatcher, Mullen, Hermann, Graham, Huling, Buell, Billings, King, Endicott, Brownson and

Come in and See Us

A visit to the store is worth while. We have just added a new up to date display counter to our equipment. This keeps our bulk goods under cover and yet enables you to see what you are buying.

Arnold. The visitor was introduced by our city engineer, Mr. Tonney, in his usual to-the-point manner. Dr. Hall said the "Old Boys" are now but relics, but live ones, all the growers having passed on. He said that war meant a permanent union, not separation. He also said that it is better to hand the flowers as we go through life than to only stack them over the grave. The meeting was then turned into a "Camp Fire" and we had old soldiers' stories. Everyone was glad he had met the commander and each other.

A check artist has been here and gone, but some of us will remember him, for he is a prepossessing-looking Gentle and now possesses some of our money for which he gave us his check, perforated, for from $15 to $30, according to his estimate of its victim. He posed as a life insurance agent and wore logger boots into the country to see "prospects," and we believed him and he is gone. He went early.

N. D. Pratt, the popular furniture man, has sold his business here to Henry A. Schroeder, deputy postmaster, and Wm. Berry, the piano man. Mr. Berry will conduct the store and they are assured of success by pleasing the people. They are now taking stock.

L. A. Rasmussen, of Bandon, is in town this week on business.

P. W. Laird, our roadbuilder, is out with his grader levelling the cloddy and holey roads.

Gus Bender, merchant of Broadbent, was in this week on business. He says another of those interesting debates will be held there next week, that our Myrtle Point people ride up in the night to hear.

W. H. Carlile, of Middle Fork, is pleased with visitors. Two of Mrs. Carlile's relatives and two nephews of Mr. Carlile arrived this week from Millwood and as they are stalwart young men looking for a job they will go where work is plentiful, the Smith-Powers logging camps. Mr. Carlile is the man who raises the biggest crops of potatoes and the biggest hogs.

Our young men with good red blood in their veins are lining up to serve their country—that is those who have come forward have proved their thus far.

Mrs. Ed. Rackleff was in attendance at the funeral of her relative, Mrs. Lyman Rackleff, Sunday. Her home is now in Florence.

The bank examiners are here this week and the banks are pleased to find they are "right."

After a couple of days of no rain all kinds of humanity gets out to dig in the ground to make garden. Very straight rows and crooked ones, which produce more; and then it rains some more.

F. A. Collins has a new automobile, a Dodge. It's the first time he has ever pleased to have to Dodge anything.

Murray Bright, the North Fork steamboat man, has bought a Henry Ford automobile. It is said nothing can stop a Ford car except, maybe, the war in Europe.

Mrs. Frank Wooley, with her daughter Beulah and son Clarence, are here visiting her sister, Miss Vera Potter, and Miss Clara Crawford.

The general salesman for the Coos and Curry Counties Dairymen's Association reports another big sale of cheese to the government.

Thomas Barklow is another one having no more use for his good barn and is making it over into a garage and dwelling house.

Mr. Goodrich, father of Mrs. Andrew Houge, was taken quite ill yesterday. He came here about a year ago from Los Gatos, Cal., and has his home with the Houge family.

Mrs. E. A. Dodge, who is in Mercy Hospital, is so much recovered that she will be home Sunday. Mr. Dodge will go over and bring her home.

The Rev. James Moore, Dis. Supt. for the Eugene District of the M. E. Church, will be here Sunday and preach morning and evening.

F. L. Lundy received a telegram that his sister, Mrs. Elma Dudley, of Glen Elder, Kansas, had passed away. She was also a cousin of Mrs. Eva E. Lane and W. E. Lundy.

Ora Marsters, of Caching Creek, was in town yesterday to have Dr. Leep dress his hand from which he had cut a finger.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Andrews have returned from Powers and will make their home here. He will resume his business of "on the road" clothing solicitor.

N. D. Pratt and family will not remain here since he has sold his furniture store. He has fine property in Albany and other business to keep him busy.

Our Albert Barklow bought our Bill Hughes' ranch Wednesday. One of the considerations is that Bill is to finish the house and barn under construction as no architect and builder could be found capable of carrying out the specifications. Mr. Barklow will at once occupy the place and show us some up-to-date farming. Mr. Hughes with his sister, Leona, will go to his land in Shasta Valley, Siskiyou county, California, and remain, till they come back.

Mrs. Ed. Lewellen had so far recovered from the results of the major operation which she recently underwent that she was taken to her home Wednesday. Her mother, Mrs. Summerlin, has come in from their country home and will care for her during her convalescence. Mrs. Albro, the nurse, will return to her home in Powers and make garden until others call.

A patriotic demonstration was made here last Sunday. There was a parade by men, women and children, headed by the Home Guards led by George Tonney. They entered the McCloskey building where they were addressed by Rev. J. F. Vernon and all sang patriotic songs, led by Rev. Mr. Drake. All acknowledged the services the young men were volunteering to their country.

Clarke Fensler, of the Hub Clothing and Shoe store, is another young man who is waiting orders which will call him to the Coast Artillery.

Mr. Van Winkle, a photographer from Portland, has been taking some very fine pictures in town. Among them are those of the grammar school where the faces of each of the kiddies may be readily recognized. He is no relation to "Rip."

County Epworth League.

The Coos county Epworth League at the close of its annual session at North Bend last Sunday night, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President: Mrs. Dr. J. A. Richmond, Coquille.

Vice - presidents: Miss Clara Sweeney, North Bend, Mrs. C. H. Raymond, Marshfield, Mrs. E. Philpott, Bandon, and Mrs. Geo. Rackleff, Myrtle Point.

Correspondent: Miss Brainard, Marshfield.

Secretary: Miss Ruby V. Cooley, Marshfield.

Treasurer: Miss Hattie Sweet, Coquille.
