Mrs. M. McDonald and daughters expect to leave tomorrow morning to make their future home in Portland.

Miss May Peterson and Miss Geneva Robinson were over at the Bay Sunday enjoying an outing at Beale Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laird are the happy parents of a 10-pound baby boy, born at the Coquille Hospital Monday.

A vision of scarlet trouserettes came near causing the dislocation of some masculine necks on our streets yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Liljeqvist, of Marshfield, are the happy parents of another daughter born the first of this week.

The only marriage license issued since Aug. 23 was one yesterday to Earl Sims and Zilpha Crooks, of North Bend.

Mrs. J. S. Barton and children are taking an outing at their beach cottage while Mr. Barton makes them week end visits.

Samples of the Sentinel will be sent to any address requested.

Our city schools will reopen on Monday, September 10.

E. E. Johnson started overland to Roseburg Tuesday morning on a business trip to San Francisco, expecting to be home Sunday.

Lloyd W. Coleman, assistant county agent, returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at his home near San Francisco last Friday.

Time at last solves all problems. We used to wonder who it was that was stealing milk and milk bottles from our back porches.

J. C. Savage with this week's issue retired from the management of the Herald. Who will succeed him in that position is not yet known.

Dr. and Mrs. G. Earl Low are disposing of their household furniture preparatory to his expected summons to the European battle front.

Hugh Harlocker returned Wednesday evening from Heppner, Oregon, where he had been for several weeks working in the harvest fields.

Capt. J. B. Graham, who broke his leg at the knee five weeks ago by slipping from a log on the river, is getting about again on crutches.

B. O. Smith, H. S. Osterhoudt and W. H. Warren, of Springfield, came down here Monday night to get acquainted with the Coquille valley.

Parties coming up from Willamette valley report that E. A. Beckett got a year and a half in jail and a $500 fine for bootlegging at Salem recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schroeder are the happy parents of a nine pound daughter born Monday and Grandpa Stanley is stepping high these days.

One of the Epperson boys from near Myrtle Point, who is now in the navy and stationed at Mare Island was visiting friends here Wednesday.

J. C. Savage has accepted a position in Roadmaster Mudgett's force, and will be engaged for some months to come on the project north of the Bay.

Mrs. C. McC. Johnson and daughters, Florence and Alice Dell spent several days last week over at the Bay as the guests of Mrs. J. Stewart Lopez.

Chas. A. Pondleton started this morning for St. Martin's Springs, Wash., where he expects to spend a few weeks imbibing the waters for the benefit of his health.

M. E. Dewitt is the new man in the Roadmaster's office, taking the position formerly held by Claud Kinsey. He and his wife came in from Portland the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lawrence, who have been visiting their parents here for some time just started Wednesday morning on their return trip to their home at Indianapolis.

Mrs. S. W. Upton, of Centralia, Wash., came in Wednesday evening for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Goodman; her sister, Mrs. J. J. Stanley, and other relatives.

Dr. Hamilton performed a major operation for Mrs. Higginbotham at the Coquille hospital Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Higginbotham have just recently arrived from Oklahoma.

E. A. Folsom is today moving his confectionery stock and fixtures from his old location to the new one in the Richmond building which he has had papered and fitted up in fine shape.

A recent letter from Raymond Jehu contains the information that he was accepted by the examining board in Minneapolis, Minn., where he now lives, and has been ordered to report for duty Sept. 5.

Aaron Wilson has secured a supply of milk from C. E. McCurdy's dairy, and that with what he is getting from the Lorens and Brennan dairies, will insure that regular deliveries will be kept up after today.

J. N. McFadden, who has been purchasing sheep in this county went out with a shipment Wednesday. His wife and daughter who were visitors here Tuesday returned to their home at Corvallis Wednesday.

E. H. Harnden has a fine dairy barn under construction over in the Fat Elk section and will soon build a residence on the same hill overlooking the bottoms in the seventy-acre ranch he bought the first of the year.

Harold Quigley, for the past three years a teacher in the Bandon schools, has been called up higher and will become an instructor in science in the Jefferson high school at Portland, the largest high school in the state.

The members of the Coos County Natal Day organization from the Eastern Star lodge here went down to Bandon this morning to participate in the annual exercises of that organization in the city by the sea today.

John C. Almack, the new school superintendent here, has arrived and was a caller at this office yesterday morning. He belongs to that innumerable company who have at some time in their lives also run a newspaper.

Last Saturday night a rancher from up the river was found on our streets a little the worse for liquor, and he was arrested and given a gentle admonition to mend his ways in the shape of a $10 fine by Recorder Lawrence.

Eight Chinamen were in town this morning on their way to Parkersburg, and eight more will go down tomorrow to open the cannery and get it ready for this season's operation. In a few days the canning of fish will be in full swing.

The ten cents a quart rate for milk here goes into effect tomorrow. This is not entirely due to war prices, but to some extent to the law requirement for sterilizing milk from herds not tuberculin tested before it can be sold for family use.

A large delegation of the members of the local G. A. R. and W. R. C. formed an excursion party on the Dora this morning for Bandon. Arriving there they will be joined by the two Bandon lodges and proceed to the beach for an all day picnic.

Whether you live inside or outside the city limits will not every lady consider the Red Cross work her own personal responsibility and act accordingly? This great work for humanity is a common cause in which we must all take a vital interest.

Henry Hegdahl was over from Marshfield Saturday laying the linoleum in the clerk's and sheriff's offices in the Hall of Records—which will be the more appropriate name of the court house annex as soon as the county records are moved over there.

Mrs. Belle Lowe and her daughter, Nancy, left Tuesday morning for Portland where the latter has a position as kindergarten teacher in the city schools. Almack will join them when he is through with the work in which he is engaged—in a couple of months.

If the plans agreed upon for the consolidation of the two Methodist churches of this city are carried out, next Sunday may be the last day in which there will be separate preaching services in those churches—and the evening meeting then is to be a union service.

W. J. Longsten came down last week from Albany, where he is unearthing a brick and tile plant to look after some street work at Myrtle Point. He was here Friday night but returned Saturday morning to Albany where he will remain about a month longer.

J. E. Norton returned Tuesday from a three weeks visit to California points looking after stock for the Coquille Mercantile Company. It was his big vacation trip for the year but good things to eat will be coming to the Busy Corner for months to come as a result of it.

County Agent J. L. Smith expects to issue tomorrow the first number of the Coos County Agricultural Bulletin, which he proposes to publish monthly hereafter. It will be devoted to matters of interest to the farmers, ranchers, stock growers and orchardists of the county.

Rev. T. H. Downs, A. A. Selander and Will Peart returned last Friday from a 10 days hunting trip down 20 miles southeast of Port Orford in Curry county. Out of the 68 deer they saw they got four, but explained that by saying they were a little particular in what they killed.

C. A. Howard went down to Curry county Wednesday to attend their teachers' institute. He and his family expect to move to Eugene next week, where he will occupy Mr. Almack's house, while Mr. Almack will take Mr. Howard's house here. Mr. A.'s family are expected here today.

Last Friday and Saturday there were three additions to the guest list of Turnkey Peart at the Sky Parlor on Third street, Joseph Hauser, Wm. Wilson and Hans Hauser, all bootleggers from the Bay. This brings the total there up to nine, which is the largest attendance since this resort was opened.

Constable W. B. Cox, of Marshfield, was posting notices in this section Wednesday announcing that the hearing of the request of the Coos Bay Boom company for logging privileges on the Coquille river would be heard by the Oregon Public Service Commission on Monday, October 2, in this city.

Dr. G. Earl Low returned from his trip to Vancouver last Monday and Tuesday evening received his appointment as a medical officer in the U. S. army with a rank of first lieutenant. Dr. Low, of course, does not know when he will be called but with the need for medical officers now existing in the army, he does not anticipate a long wait.

D. F. Dean, of Halsey, Oregon, Coquille's first newspaper publisher, has been down here for a week or ten days enjoying a well earned vacation. For a wonder he is still out of the editorial harness; but he stoned for it by carrying on two lines of business at once. He is running a confectionery at Halsey and a telephone exchange at Shedd.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bean, of River-ton, Mrs. J. A. Sullivan, of Coquille, and Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Randleman and son, of Parkersburg, made up a party that left Sunday morning for Portland for a ten days' trip. They intend to visit Hood River, Astoria and various towns along the Columbia highway. They are traveling in their cars.—Bandon World.

The old ladies who were taught how to knit half a century ago are now being called into service to teach that art to the younger ones who have always depended upon the stores for their stockings. Not that they are beginning to knit their own footwear now, but that they all want to do something to make the coming winter more comfortable for our boys who are going to the front in Europe.

There is an old grove of myrtles standing on an isolated knoll in the Fat Elk section on the big company ranch owned by Coquille parties that is free from underbrush and would make an ideal picnic ground. In fact almost any grove of myrtle that has been growing long enough to discourage the underbrush would fill all the requisite for such a purpose.

Say!

If you know how to knit, meet with the ladies of Coquille and vicinity every afternoon next week at the Laird rooms. If you don't you can't begin younger, so rustle needles and yarn of any description and take to the Red Cross quarters and get busy. There is a great deal to be done and everybody must help.

But Seal was exhibiting a peculiar Sunday evening which he had just dug that had three grass roots running along through the tuber, one root extending two inches out from the spot on either side. To convince the skeptical he drew out one root which pulled right through. He said he found about 15 potatoes that day with grass roots grown through them.

Mrs. Lucia Albee, of the upper Fishtrap section, three and a half miles from Fishtrap landing, advertises a public sale of cattle, hogs, chickens, farm implements and household goods at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, Sept. 2. A lunch will be served at noon, and E. E. Hampton will cry the sale. Mrs. Albee also wants to rent her two ranches.

Letter From Jack Jun.

The editor is just in receipt of a letter from Jack Jun. He has been employed at various plants in Portland since he went up there and says he has been learning a good deal about up-to-date printing machinery. While the soldier boys from here were in the city he says it seemed a good deal like home to be meeting Harry Oerding, J. P. Michels and the rest of them on the street every day. They have all been moved from the Clackamas camp now, however.

Scarecrows Articles.

Knitting needles and yarn are scarce articles in the city just now. If you have either donate them to the practice work of the Red Cross next week. Read Red Cross Notes for full information.

THE FUTURE.

Think often of the great future and live accordingly. If we can say with Seneca, "This life is only a prelude to eternity," then we need not worry so much over the fittings and furnishings of this anteroom, and, more than that, it will give dignity and purpose to the fleeting days to know that they are linked with the eternal things as prelude and preparation.—Minot J. Savage.

WE TO SIGH INSTEAD OF SING.

By James Whitcomb Riley.
Copyright, 1881, 1882, by James Whitcomb Riley.

RAIN and rain, and rain and rain!
Yesterday we muttered
Grimly as the grim refrain
That the thunder uttered:
All the bestness under cloud;
All the grasses limply bowed
With their weight of weeping.

Sigh and sigh, and sigh and sigh!
Never end of sighing.
Rain and rain for our reply—
Hopes half drowned and dying,
Peering through the window pane,
Naught but endless raining,
Endless sighing and, as vain,
Endlessly complaining.

Shine and shine, and shine and shine!
"Ah, today the splendor!
All this glory yours and mine—
God! But God is tender!
We to sigh instead of sing
Yesterday, in sorrow,
While the Lord was fashioning
This for our tomorrow!"

A MEMORY TEST.

LISTEN, dear Middleage, answer
Frankly this question of mine:
Picture the past, if you can, sir,
Truly, in color and line.

Bilious of worries have teased you,
Memories weaken and cool—
Who was the teacher who teased you
When you were first sent to school?

Many the man who forgets her:
Did she wear ribbons or lace?
Was she a blond or brunette, sir?
What was the cast of her face?

Full was her figure, or slender?
Black eyes or blue eyes or gray?
Harsh was her voice or tender?
Fierce was her furling? Say!

Middleage, forgive the unkindness,
Fancy must keep to its tracks;
Only in dotage and blindness
Pictures like this will come back.
—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Japanese Juggler.

A man who has traveled in Japan says of the feats of a native juggler: "He took an ordinary boy's top and spun it in the air, then threw the end of the string back toward it with such accuracy that it was caught up and wound itself all ready for the second cast. By the time it had done this it had reached his hand and was ready for another spin." The paper juggler is made by help of a fan to slight wherever he wished. The spectator requested that one might be made to slide on each ear of the juggler. "Gentle undulations of the fan waved them slowly to the required point and there left them comfortably settled."

No matter who repaired your watch or how many times repaired or its condition, bring it to me and I will make it run and keep time. V. R. Wilson, The Watchmaker, Coquille, Oregon. 3116

Hereafter, all automobile and repair work must be settled for before it leaves the garage. A. A. Paul.

The most independent man on earth

The electric motor has freed the modern farmer from the shackles of drudgery. For less than half the cost of keeping an extra "hand" you can have your cows milked, your cream separated and the real work of all your other chores done by a G-E electric motor. G-E motors will also drive irrigation or house pumps, threshing machines, feed cutters and all dairy machinery. G-E motors will pay for themselves many times over by saving time, labor and wages. Let us show you.
