One of the pretty affairs of Easter week was the handkerchief shower given by the ladies of the Eastern Star at Masonic hall in honor of Mrs. H. O. Thompson Tuesday afternoon. The room was prettily festooned with huge bouquets of ferns and lilies, with streamers of crepe paper in colors appropriate to the Star, making a dainty and artistic effect. The first amusement was a musical guessing contest in which Mrs. Marion Veatch was awarded a French harp for missing one question among the old favorite songs, several guessers having tied for this prize. A progressive contest was the next feature, the ladies proving equal to the occasion by filling out the answers quite rapidly. At the close of this contest Mrs. Thompson was led from the room for a few minutes and a line was strung with about 35 dainty handkerchiefs pinned on with miniature clothes pins. Mrs. H. A. Miller then presented the guest of honor with these tokens of remembrance from her many friends who regret that she is soon to take her departure. Mrs. Thompson has been an earnest worker in the Eastern Star and will be greatly missed both by the Chapter and a large circle of friends in Cottage Grove. She responded to the gifts in her usual pleasing manner, expressing much appreciation and good wishes to her friends. Tables were then spread and a delicious two-course luncheon served.

The Presbyterian Aid Society was entertained at the home of Mrs. Dickey yesterday afternoon.

The Kensington Club is being entertained at the Odd Fellows hall this afternoon.

Mrs. Noah Forester was pleasantly surprised by her Rebekah friends Friday evening. At the close of the lodge session, Mrs. A. Elledge, with well chosen remarks, presented Mrs. Forester with a large parcel of dainty handkerchiefs, the gifts of her loving friends as a token of esteem and regret that she is soon to leave for British Columbia. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed a pleasant hour. There were sixty-five present.

The Royal Neighbors and Modern Woodmen lodges had a rousing big time in Odd Fellows hall last night and entertained about 25 members of Creswell Royal Neighbors, accompanied by the splendid 5-piece Creswell orchestra.

A chicken pie supper was served at 6:30, followed by a musical and literary program as follows:

At the close of the program the remainder of the evening was enjoyed with games and general social good time. The ladies of the Royal Neighbors had made a quilt, which was sold to Mrs. Geo. Atkinson for $10, the proceeds to be used for the good of the order.

Miss Laurretta Atkinson and Miss Jennie Smith, teachers in the Presbyterian Sunday school, entertained their classes with a splendid lunch and games on McFarland Butte Saturday afternoon.

The Social Twelve Embroidery club was very pleasantly entertained last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. H. Veatch. The hours were spent with conversation and fancy work. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Wilkinson entertained the ladies of the missionary society of the M. E. Church Wednesday afternoon of last week. After an interesting program, a dainty two course luncheon was served, complimentary to Mrs. Forester. After a pleasant hour spent with conversation, Mrs. Forester was presented with a beautiful missionary pin.

Saturday evening a jolly crowd of young people took eggs and a substantial lunch and proceeded to the F. B. Phillips' ranch, where they cooked the eggs and enjoying themselves as only young people can.

CHURCH NEWS

Presbyterian Church.—Sunday, April 14, there will be two especially interesting sermons. In the morning at 11 Rev. A. S. Mason will speak on the subject "Overcomers." At 8 o'clock p. m., he will discuss the up-to-date question "The Sabbath—When and How." These services will be greatly helped by special musical features by the choir, and will be attractive and inspiring to all.

The Passion week services held at the Methodist Church last week were the largest attended and most profitable ever conducted by the workers of the society. Nightly the interest grew and the results are sure to be lasting.

Decision Day was observed in the Methodist Bible school on Sunday. A goodly number of young people pledged themselves to live the Christian life. The exercises in both departments of the school were carried on at the same time. The primary children were given Easter eggs and a singing canary in its cage made glad melody. The vested choir sang several selections in the main audience room and acquitted themselves finely. New members were present at the Lend-a-Hand men's class. The debate was profitable. Topic for next week: "Woman's Opportunity in the Home." The question to be discussed: "Is Home Life Waning at the Present Time?" The cause, if such is the case. Is it a sign of social health or otherwise? Mention some remedies.

The Baptist Church will hold usual services in the morning. Sunday school at 10. Sermon at 11 by Rev. Geo. Warner of Goshen.

As usual the services in the Methodist Church next Sunday will be attractive and interesting. Public worship at 11 a. m. with sermon by pastor on "The King and His Arrows," an old story with an ever youthful application. People's popular service at 8 p. m. Robert Sutcliffe lectures on "The Seals and Mottos of Oregon, Connecticut, Maine and New York." These furnish food for thought and inspiration. Selections by orchestra. Those in attendance throughout the day will have the opportunity of voting on the topics to be used by the pastor during the next two months. Graded Bible school at 9:45 and Epworth League devotional meeting at 7 o'clock.

Church of Christ.—Last Lord's Day was a day of joyful service throughout. The Christian Endeavor began the day with a prayer service at 6:30 in the morning. The children's service in the evening was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. Next Lord's Day evening the minister will speak from a chart on the subject: "What God Created and Made." The choir will sing a special anthem. Please notice—the Lord's Day evening service has been changed from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

High School Track Outlook.

The boys of Cottage Grove high school interested in track work have been training faithfully the past two weeks and it's almost proven beyond a doubt that there will be a very fine showing made in the two State Inter-scholastic meets, in which they have entered, at Eugene and Corvallis.

line, yet not so high as to be in the hot belt. There is an abundant supply of pure water, good range for stock, plenty of shade, and stock is free from annoyance from flies. It is estimated that the average earning per cow in the Cottage Grove district is about $10 per month. At this rate there is a good profit in the business for dairymen.

Stock can be bought for from $20 to $90, according to grade. Registered Jersey cows cost from $50 to $90. The full-blood stock is preferred even at the higher prices because it is productive nearly the entire year. They give a larger flow of milk much richer in butter fat and the calves bring higher prices. Feed for cows can be produced cheaper in this section than in many other localities, and because of the mild winters stock can secure green feed all the year. Little or no shelter is required and indeed some of the stock in this section has not been housed for years. Kale, rutabagas, vetch, sugar beets and hay are the principal feed, which is produced at trifling cost and in great quantities.

Debate Was Postponed.

For some unknown reason the debate which was to have taken place Saturday evening between Eugene W. Chafin, ex-candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket and J. Frank Burke of Portland, was indefinitely postponed. The subject of the debate was to have been, "Is Local Option Right?"

A Rhode Island Red pullet which came into this world of sin and sorrow last June and which has been growing up unostentatiously at the home of her owner, Mrs. Grace Zuber, at No. 205 West Tenth street, has started out to make a name for herself. She is one of the pullets that do things, and yesterday she delivered the goods in the shape of an egg measuring eight inches around the long way and six inches around the waist. A test before an electric light shows that it is a single yolked egg.—Eugene Guard.

BANK SETS GOOD EXAMPLE

The First National Bank of Bend is setting an example to all the country banks of Oregon as a community and district developer that can be imitated throughout the state to its upbuilding.

Last year the bank brought two carloads of fine hogs from Nebraska and sold them to the farmers of that section, taking a mortgage on the hogs as security for the purchase price, and in many instances forming a partnership with the farmer, the original investment to be repaid out of earnings of the hogs.

The investment has been so successful that the bank has this year sent a buyer to Illinois to purchase two cars of fine Holstein dairy cows, to be sold on easy terms to farmers in the vicinity. The bank is also financing a creamery which will soon be ready for operation.

Banks that have a surplus of money on hand cannot make a better use of it than the bank of Bend is doing.—Medford Mail Tribune.

Big Bunch of Delayed Mail.

A total of 31 sacks of delayed Eastern mail arrived at the local postoffice Friday. This is the biggest bunch that has been delayed this winter. Seventeen sacks arrived on No. 19 and 14 on No. 15. The 17 sacks were worked out in an hour and thirty minutes.

Not Without Honor in Our Own Country

[The Disston Correspondence last week contained the following item]

Even the people of Disston have a better opinion of the city of Cottage Grove since reading The Sentinel. For as one old resident says: "That a town that can support a paper like that is not standing still."
