UNIVERSITY SEEKS REHEARING
Attorneys for Friendly Ask Reopening of Referendum Case.

Declaring that under any view of the law the plaintiff has a right to maintain the suit and that the opinion of the Supreme Court is erroneous on both the premise on which the decision was based, Judge Slater Friday filed a petition for rehearing in the case of S. H. Friendly against Ben W. Olcott, Secretary of State, in the University of Oregon referendum cases.

In asking for a rehearing Judge Slater and Attorney Pipes cited many authorities. They held that the statute under consideration is a remedial statute and ought not to receive a narrow or technical construction. It is asserted that the statute construed in its entirety shows by express provisions that the legislative intent is to invest the individual non-petitioning voter upon his own initiative to protect himself against an alleged wrong or unlawful act of those who petition for a reference to a vote of the people of a measure passed by the Legislature.

She further alleges that in February, 1912 he kicked her and used language too foul to be written in the complaint. She also asks the restoration of her maiden name, Edna Ingraham.

FISHER'S BLEND FLOUR
Naturally, it costs more to turn out this new, high-grade blend than it does to make simpler and less carefully handled flours. Hence, its price per sack is slightly more. Inasmuch as it is not flour but loaves of bread that we eat, and as FISHER'S BLEND makes more loaves, in proportion to its cost, than does any other flour, housewives and others using it have the satisfaction of knowing that they are really getting more and better values for their money. FISHER'S BLEND costs more as flour, but it gives more, both in quantity and quality of loaves, and is therefore actually more economical to buy and use than are the cheaper brands.
