Yoncalla Notes.

A telephone message from Rice Hill late Thursday evening notified Deputy Sheriff Chas. Daugherty that Thos. Brunner, a farmer living in that vicinity, has become involved in an altercation with his step-daughter and later with his own daughter and had secured a gun and threatened to clean out the ranch and that the family was living in fear of being killed. Later, however, the gun was taken from him and so far as known he is now unarmed. Deputy Daugherty, with Special Deputy Richardson, left at an early hour Friday morning for the scene of the disturbance with a warrant for Brunner's arrest. Brunner will be given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace W. A. Porter.

Mrs. J. P. Bishop has been called to Astoria by a telegram telling of the sickness of her son Frank. Word has been received that he had been operated on for appendicitis. The case was a very bad one, but it is believed that he will recover.

A. T. Ambrose died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Wise, in this city Thursday, June 20th, at 1:30 o'clock, p. m., death being due to infirmities attendant on old age. Mr. Ambrose had appeared in his usual health, and while he had reached the ripe old age of 90 years, no one thought he'd be taken so suddenly, although none were surprised to learn of his demise. Mr. Ambrose was probably the oldest pioneer in this section and had resided in and about Yoncalla almost his entire life time, at one time being quite extensively engaged in farming and stock raising. Of late years the deceased had resided in Yoncalla. He is survived by three sons and two daughters, Jas. Ambrose, Sr., of Yoncalla, Nathan Ambrose of Woodlawn, E. Ambrose of Yoncalla, Mrs. J. W. Wise and Mrs. R. W. Long of Yoncalla. The funeral was held Saturday at 1:30 o'clock from the residence of J. W. Wise.—Times.

The biggest hen's egg ever produced in Yoncalla is on exhibition at The Times office. It is seven by five and three-fourths inches. 'Twas laid by one of Mrs. T. J. Barr's Plymouth Rocks. Can you beat it?

At the annual school meeting last Monday P. Peterson was re-elected director and J. J. Meinger clerk. A 5 mill tax was voted for the support of the school the coming year.

John Applegate, Jr., came home from Newberg Friday, after a stay of two months. He was working as a dispatcher in the Southern Pacific office there. He will remain here indefinitely.

To the Pure All Things Are Pure.
Eugene Register: Bruce Dennis, of La Grande, editor of the La Grande Observer, and chairman of the republican state committee, became enthusiastic at Chicago the other day at the mention of the Oregon system, and told the republican national committee all about things as they are in Oregon. He gave the gentlemen assembled in Chicago to understand that out here in Oregon we live in an idyllic community from which even the suggestion of wrong has been banished, and let them know that in his home state the bones of political corruption are bleaching in the sand.

"The expenditure of money in campaigns had been abolished," said Mr. Dennis, if the papers have reported him correctly. "The tradesman, the farmer and the merchant now meet on the same footing to nominate candidates. If anyone in this crowd has ambition to be a political boss he should perish the idea at once, for under the Oregon System the political boss is an impossibility."

What a singularly Arcadian community LaGrande must be. Apparently not a hint of the charges of spending too much money that were flying thick and fast in the rest of the state during the recent campaign penetrated its charmed borders. It appears that Editor Dennis sat in his sanctum and read circulars sent out by candidates and their friends, and newspapers in which appeared boiler plate puffs of these same candidates, and never once did a suspicion cross his mind that these things might have been paid for by somebody. To the pure, all things are pure.

Let us hope that Mr. Dennis believed the things that he said in Chicago. Let us hasten to honor unsophisticated innocence when we find it.
