TAFT IS NOMINATED ON FIRST BALLOT

Vice-President Sherman is Renominated; Roosevelt Men Refuse to Vote.

Chicago.—The fifteenth republican national convention passed into history late Saturday night leaving in its trail a split in the party unparalleled since the break in the democratic party just prior to the civil war in 1860. After a long, tumultuous closing session, marked by a bitter display of feeling between the Taft and Roosevelt followers President Taft and Vice-President Sherman were renominated.

Falling in their efforts to overturn the work of the national committee in seating practically all the contested Taft delegates, the Roosevelt people, upon the advice of Colonel Roosevelt, took only a passive part in the proceedings of the closing session. Roosevelt's name was not presented to the convention and many of his delegates refused to vote.

Taft's Majority 21.

President Taft was renominated on the first ballot, receiving 561 of the 1078 votes in the convention, or 21 more than a majority. The result of the ballot was: Taft 561, Roosevelt 107, La Follette 41, Cummins 17, Hughes 2, absent 6, present but not voting, 344.

When it became absolutely certain early that Mr. Taft would be nominated without great difficulty, the leaders in control of the convention decided to give him a running mate his companion on the ticket in 1908. All others dropped from the race and Mr. Sherman was the only candidate regularly placed before the convention.

The result of the ballot for vice-president was: Sherman 597, Borah 21, Merriam 20, Hadley 14, Beveridge 2, Gillett 1, absent 71, present, but not voting, 352.

Factional Fight Bitter.

The convention witnessed the culmination of the most bitter, uncompromising factional fight in the annals of American politics. Preceded for weeks by a fierce fight for delegates between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt, when the gavel of Victor Rosewater called the convention to order no one could foretell the outcome of the struggle for supremacy.

The battle raged around the contested delegates. The Roosevelt forces demanded that no delegate whose seat was in question should be permitted to vote on the temporary organization, a proposition to which the Taft men flatly refused to agree. During the short debate on this question the scene was the most turbulent ever witnessed in a national convention. The speakers were booed and hissed and booed, the Taft and Roosevelt partisans taking equal delight in smothering each others speakers.

The Roosevelt leaders were unable to prevent the contested delegates from voting on temporary organization, and the first test of strength came on the vote for temporary chairman. Senator Root, of New York, who was recommended by the national committee and supported by the Taft organization, was elected over Governor McGovern, of Wisconsin, a La Follette delegate, put forward by the Roosevelt forces.

Roosevelt Men Propose Substitute Roll Defeated in their efforts to prevent the contested delegates going on the temporary roll, the Roosevelt leaders proposed to substitute a roll containing 92 Roosevelt delegates in place of 92 Taft delegates seated by the national committee, before the appointment of the regular committees.

Wednesday's session was consumed in a fruitless effort to oust the 92 contested Taft delegates.

At the close of the debate the first great ovation of the convention was given to Governor Hadley of Missouri, Roosevelt's floor leader. The demonstration for Hadley started a running fire of talk on the convention floor to make him the compromise candidate for president.

When quiet had been restored and after Governor Hadley made a brief statement, Mr. Watson, Taft's floor leader, waved to refer to the credentials committee the motion to seat the 92 Roosevelt delegates. Governor Deen moved to amend so as to provide that no contested delegates should vote on the membership of the committee on credentials or on its report. Mr. Watson moved to table the motion of Governor Deen.

When it was announced that the motion to table had been carried by a vote of 564 to 510, the Taft folk broke into a cheer.

Thursday Session Short.

Owing to the fact that the credentials committee could not make a report five minutes was the entire duration of the two sessions Thursday, with a recess of four hours between. The first session convened at noon, lasted four minutes; the second, one minute.

At Friday's session the Taft forces further demonstrated their control. The convention took up piecemeal the contests from many states and in each instance the Taft delegates were declared entitled to their seats by majorities ranging from a high-water Taft vote of 605 to 464 to a narrow margin of 542 to 529.

The convention was a good-humored assemblage Saturday. The desire of the delegates to leave before Sunday was ushered in, the reaction from the strain of the week, the determination of the Roosevelt leaders upon a passive program, all contributed to the general effect.

Report Confirms National Committee.

The report of the credentials committee confirmed in every instance the delegates placed on the temporary roll by the national committee.

There was no interruption when the majority and minority reports on Washington were read. The committee held that the Taft convention was regular.

Permanent organization was then effected by the adoption of the organization report confirming the temporary organization.

"My first act as permanent chairman of this convention," said Senator

Vice-President Sherman.

Root, stepping forward amid a burst of cheering, "is to ask unanimous consent that our republican brother—Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, be permitted to make a statement."

Allen Gives Roosevelt Statement.

Allen announced that he would read a statement just placed in his hands by Colonel Roosevelt.

Mr. Allen read the roll of states in which, he said, majorities given against Mr. Taft, "went down under the mere rulings of a political committee," Wisconsin, Maine, Maryland, South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Oregon, Minnesota, Kansas, Oklahoma, West Virginia and North Carolina.

"We do not bolt," concluded Allen, "we merely insist that you and not we are making the record. And we refuse to be bound by it. We have pleaded with you 10 days. We have fought with you five days. We fight no more. We plead no longer. We shall sit in protest and the people who sent us here shall judge us."

Demonstration for Roosevelt.

A wild demonstration on the floor interrupted him. The Roosevelt men from New Jersey, bearing a standard pulled from the floor, started a procession. California, Minnesota, Nebraska, Indiana, West Virginia, and Oklahoma joined the line. Pennsylvania, Maine and North Carolina took their places. And in a roar of cheering and whistling the march proceeded until it encountered a squad of police in the rear of the hall. It was 21 minutes before order was restored.

After the platform was adopted Senator Root was made chairman of the committee to notify President Taft of his nomination. Thomas H. Devine, national committeeman from Colorado, was named chairman of the committee to notify Vice President Sherman.

The usual resolutions of thanks to the city and the officers of the convention were passed, and on motion of Delegate Estabrook of New Hampshire, the convention at 10:30 p. m. adjourned sine die.
