SOCIETY

The new officers of the Woman's Club, Mesdames Silsby, Johnson and Cruson, entertained the members Tuesday afternoon at the club rooms, in a very delightful manner, the occasion being the annual assembly. Each guest was furnished with tissue paper, pins and scissors and told that on account of the high cost of living she was expected to make her fall hat. Many beautiful "Paris creations" were brought forth. Mrs. Agnes Spear won the prize, a beautiful medallion. Those present were Mesdames Abrams, Alden, D. H. Hemenway, Jury, Mackin, C. M. Shinn, Scovell, Spear, F. D. Wheeler, H. J. Shinn, J. C. Adams, Wright, Umphrey, Mrs. and Miss Martin of Redland, Cal., and Mrs. Haines of Medford, Ore., the latter three being guests of club members.

Circled about "Aunt" Jemima Robinette, one of the oldest and most widely known pioneers of Oregon, 28 of her relatives, including several of the coming generation, enjoyed a family reunion at the James Porter home Monday afternoon. Aunt Jemima is 79 years of age, crossed the plains in 1861 and a large portion of the city of Creswell is built on the old Robinette donation claim. Those present in addition to Mrs. Robinette were: Mr. and Mrs. Francis Chrisman and daughter of Silver Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Porter, Mr. and Mrs. James Porter, Mrs. Dan Brumbaugh and son, Mrs. Floyd Jones and baby, Mrs. Limebaugh; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robinette of Creswell; Alex. Cooley, Mrs. Virgil White and children, Mrs. Daisy Porter and children, James Lebow.

Twenty or twenty-five members of the Creswell Rebekah lodge were entertained at a banquet Friday night by the local lodge.

The Emanon Club will be entertained this afternoon by Mrs. Horace Cochran.

Mrs. C. C. Cruson will be "at home" this afternoon to members of the Woman's Club.

The marriage of Dr. Edwin Norton North to Miss Nancy Dupre Norris of Portland was quietly solemnized Saturday, August 14th, in the Christian Church, Rev. E. A. Moon officiating. Two witnesses were present: Dr. C. H. Fuller of this city and Mr. Mowry of Eugene, leader of the Christian choir. The couple has gone on a short honeymoon. (Reprinted by request.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Jones entertained a few intimate friends of Rev. and Mrs. Robt. Sutcliffe last night. A handkerchief shower was tendered Mrs. Sutcliffe and Mr. Sutcliffe was presented with a handsome fountain pen. Conversation, story-telling and singing were the amusements of the evening. Refreshments were served. About 25 were present.

Delight Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Angel have gone to Portland for a two weeks' visit. The Ladies' of the G. T. X. entertained their husbands and friends at an evening session of the club held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Chandler Wednesday. The men had been requested to bring their needlework and a few brought some beautiful specimens, among them several doilies of burlap and also a large wooden button which was to be sewed on a garment. Those who did not bring work were supplied with pieces for making a quilt and Mr. McCreary won a prize piece of cake for doing the best work. The remainder of the evening was spent in various contests and games. Refreshments were served, consisting of chicken sandwiches, coffee, cake, ice cream and tutti fruit.

G. A. Harnden was called to Eugene Wednesday on business.

Miss Nora Queen is home for a few days before beginning her fall term of school.

It's pretty exasperating to a fat man to have a lean man walk in his shadow on a hot day and laugh at him.

MOVING TO LARGER QUARTERS

E. B. Grable Finds Business Is Outgrowing Present Location and Will Move Into Another Building.

My business has grown so that I am compelled to move into larger quarters. I have leased the building recently occupied by the Lawson Paint and Paper Store, two doors West of First National Bank, where I will be found with a full line of harness, saddles, robes, blankets, collars, pads, whips and everything that is carried in a first class harness shop.

Harness, boot and shoe repairing my specialty. For cash I will save you from 15 to 20 per cent on all harness goods.

I thank my patrons for their past business and hope to see them and many new ones in my new quarters, where I will be better able to serve you and save you money. Will open about Oct. 6th or 7th.

E. B. GRABLE.

LOCAL WOMAN PROMINENT

In W. C. T. U. Convention Held at Eugene Last Week.—Elected Treasurer.

Mrs. N. E. Compton, president of the local union, was prominent in the W. C. T. U. Convention held last week at Eugene. Besides being elected treasurer for the ensuing year, she responded to the address of welcome with an original poem which was heartily applauded.

The session was an interesting and instructive one. Mrs. Batchelor of Eugene conducted an impressive devotional service. Encouraging reports were received from local presidents. Mrs. Richardson of Eugene spoke on the suffrage question. An interesting and instructive paper was delivered by Mrs. Thompson of Creswell on "The W. C. T. U. as an Educational Force." The hearts of all present were touched by Mrs. Homer's address on "Lumbermen and Miners, Soldiers and Sailors." A delightful lecture was given by Mrs. Atkins, a national speaker.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. O. Richardson, Springfield; vice-president, Mrs. J. Hosmer, Eugene; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walker, Springfield; recording secretary, Mrs. Carrie A. Day, Eugene; treasurer, Mrs. Cora Compton, Cottage Grove.

Those Two Taft Delegates.

Much has been said of the two Taft delegates from California seated in the Chicago convention. The facts are that after the republican national committee had issued its call for its convention, asking each district to send two delegates. Gov. Hiram Johnson, fearing that Taft might carry one or more districts, secured the passage of a law to elect all delegates at large in the whole state on the Tammany plan of unit rule. But as Taft carried one district on the preferential vote, and his delegates also carried it, the credentials committee seated these two delegates in accordance with the party call. If the state of California can ignore a party call and say how delegates shall be chosen, it could require that they be appointed at large by the governor. And if California can do it, then Louisiana, Mississippi and Carolina can do it, and we might have the absurd spectacle of democratic governors controlling a republican national convention. Johnson is merely nutty and is not to blame.—Bede's Budget.

Record Trip Across Mountains.

F. M. Chrisman, a prominent merchant of Silver Lake, with his wife and daughter, Miss Vida, drove across the Cascades via the McKenzie route and made the trip to Creswell in a day and a half, which beats any record and it will probably not be equalled for many a day. They came from The Sisters to Creswell in the same day and had no trouble at all until they came to Camas Swale and went into the ditch where the road is being graded and blew out two tires, when within a mile and a half of their destination. Miss Vida, who attended the University for two years, will attend O. A. C. this year and goes out in the morning to take up her work. Mr. and Mrs. Chrisman will return via the McKenzie route and think they can make it like a top. He thinks with a very little labor the road up the mountain can be made a most excellent one. Mr. Chrisman met two big machines going across as he came this way. Mr. Chrisman is a nephew of Judge G. R. Chrisman of this city.—Eugene Register.

Blackberry Coming Into Own.

The long-neglected Oregon evergreen blackberry, a prolific bearer, easily grown and sometimes despised, is coming into its own at last. People are apparently just finding out that it is a delicious canning fruit and the canneries of the state are putting up thousands of cases. The local canneries are canning all of this fruit that it can buy, and still there are tons going to waste because the people do not care to pick the berries.—Brownsville Times.

Many Men on Road.

Ham Veatch, supervisor of the Row River Road District, has a crew of 15 teams and 26 men at work on the road cutting down Stocks hill and making a fill below. Ham intends having a road that the rest of the county can pattern after.

VOICE AND LEADER OF THE WORLD

As long ago as the last half of the eighteenth century it was the press that molded public opinion. The famous "Letters of Junius" started the wave that finally resulted in widespread reforms in England. The "Rights of Man" and other pamphlets had a prodigious circulation and exerted an immeasurable influence toward the same ends.

A little book, "Common Sense," set the colonies on fire for independence, and the printing of Patrick Henry's and Samuel Adams' speeches, of Franklin's and other papers and of Thomas Paine's "Crisis" was a powerful aid in the American Revolution.

It was the writings of Voltaire and Rousseau and the news of our own war for independence that brought on the revolution in France. "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which was first published in a newspaper, had tremendous influence in freeing the slave. In the present day an alert, vigorous and courageous press will be found behind every political uprising, every advance movement.

Who knows the power of a Greeley? At one period the London Times swayed the diplomacy of Europe. The American newspapers and magazines are largely responsible for the present transformation of political thought in the United States. The press, which was a power 150 years ago, has become all potent today. It is the voice and leader of the world. Only by following it can one keep abreast of the movements of our own time.

Definition of an Anti-Suffragist.

From Ohio comes the following definition of an anti-suffragist: "A woman who goes into politics to keep other women out!" In Oregon, where opponents of votes for women have come all the way from New York to work against the suffragist amendment they define an anti-suffragist as: "A woman who travels 3,000 miles from home to prove that woman's sphere is in the home.—Chicago Record Herald.

Oregon Girl Near Ideal

So says Dean of Women at U. of O.

According to Miss Ruth M. Guppy, newly appointed dean of women at the University of Oregon, who for the week has been receiving and making herself acquainted with the Oregon girls as they enter the University, she declares that the Oregon girl knows her at this time comes as being the ideal girl as can be found. She enthusiastically declares that Oregon co-ed is more independent, a broader outlook, and more of known as common sense than the eastern girl. And furthermore the Oregon maid pretty nearly leads the western girl as a type. Miss Guppy is acquainted with the co-eds at the University of Washington and at both colleges in California. She has been a student at the University of Michigan. In this manner she is inclined to compare.

During the past few days, as girls have consulted her regarding their work she has been quite agreeably surprised at the broadness of and independence which the girls select courses that are not just "select courses" as the easy subjects are known, choose with a definite aim in view. There seems to be an absolute lack of that type known as the "silly" and common sense and independent particular characterizes the Oregon girl.

As the new dean, Miss Guppy, make no immediate changes in the curriculum of girls. However, she believes that to a certain extent the college woman should be old enough to govern herself. At present the girls must be in the houses at 10 o'clock and observe a number of other "rules" that are understood to be "strict."

Miss Guppy believes, however, that such curriculum is not the proper object in view, and the two lines of which she will strive in particular scholarship and health. She will endeavor to have the girls develop and body simultaneously.

The Library—Pleasure and Profit.

We cannot remind ourselves too frequently that a fundamental purpose of good books, and so of the library, is to possess them, is to give pleasure and that the library ought to be as closely and peculiarly associated with pleasure than any other institution supported by the public.

Life for most of us is sufficiently and colorless. The workday aspect of the world is always with us and presses us. For the average man, woman, whose education has been limited, whose imagination has been all wider opportunity for cultural life, the easiest escape from the cares of daily life, from the depressing monotony of daily routine, will be through the avenue opened by the story, people's road out of a care-filled life ever since the days of "Arabian Nights." Such readers as these are fiction and ought to have it. If the imagination can be cultivated to a point of reaching similar freedom of care through poetry, through drama, or through any of the big forms of literature, so much the better. The library's message is to men women cramped by toil and narrow by routine, ever seeking some way of this troublesome world into a larger realm which is more truly because it is our creation and that of fellows. This wider world, in friendliness and home-likeness, library must represent.

The library is where the reader introduced to the friendship of authors and their books. There they are home and there we too may beat the Old and young, rich and poor, and simple, men and women and children, there we may meet new friends kindly and familiar terms and we our thoughts as we learn of their dom and their wit. Still better, if we may renew our acquaintance of old friends and feel the contracted horizon of our lives again enlarge as meet them once more. New friends and old, they all greet us with an assured welcome and yield to us the which they can give, or we receive. We come to them not to learn less but to be with them for a little while and to live with them that larger truer life which their presence creates for us.

Thus the library performs its noble duty of helping men to "not by bread alone, but by word of God," who, through good books has been speaking to the general of men not only for their instruction but even more for their delight.—A. Birge.
