P. E. & E. OFFERS PRIZE FOR BEST NICKNAME

All the people of Oregon are invited to suggest a nickname for the Portland Eugene & Eastern railway, the electric line now being built from Portland to Eugene. A nickname is wanted, not a title. The contest will be open till March 31.

A preliminary contest, open to newspapermen, has just been closed and the committee, composed of Edgar B. Piper, John F. Carroll and George M. Trowbridge, has awarded the $25 prize to L. A. McArthur, a former newspaperman, now connected with the Pacific Power & Light company. Mr. McArthur's suggestion is "The Web-foot Route." The company mailed $5 prizes to Miss Helen McCourt of Albany and Charlotte Robertson of Salem, 7-year-old girls, who sent in clever suggestions.

Announcement issued with the approval of Robert E. Strahorn, president of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern, allows any resident of the state to suggest a nickname for the big electrical system, and makes the prize $50 in gold.

THREE SOUL KISSES FOR FRESHY'S HEADGEAR

Three kisses was the price paid by an actress, a member of the Valeska Suratt "Kiss Waltz" company, which played in Eugene Thursday night, for a freshman green cap. The freshman, one of the number earning its way through college, was employed as a stage hand at the theater. On the back of his head was pasted his little green cap, which all freshmen are required to wear off the campus and on.

In fact, there were two freshmen, each with a green cap. The request for "one of these cute, little green caps" met a refusal on the part of the older of the two boys. But the younger smiled a smile so foolish that the alluring dancer was moved to further advance.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," she said, "I'll teach you the soul kiss for that lid."

The freshman held out for more but at last agreed to the terms. Three long, soulful, osculations completed the lesson. The freshman was heard to regret that he had not more caps.

The head-pieces cost 50 cents.

Crushed by Tree.

Walter J. Canady, who lives about two and a half miles southwest of Crow, was terribly injured by a falling tree in the timber near the sawmill owned by his brother, Henry Canady, a short distance from home about 11 o'clock Monday. Mr. Canady left his house between 10:30 and 11 o'clock to walk to the sawmill on business. The path along which he walked was directly under a huge tree which two loggers were felling. The loggers did not see him approach and as he got directly underneath the tree it fell, crushing him to the earth. Both of his legs were broken, his face was badly lacerated and his body bruised. It is believed that he had several ribs fractured. The loggers saw him at once and extricated him from amidst the limbs of the tree. He was unconscious and has remained so ever since.

Freak Poultry.

There is no disagreement as to the freak nature of Ed Plaster's hen turkey who chose to bring 11 young turks into the world in the midst of an Oregon winter, and caused excitement in certain quarters for her indiscreet act, but "Hen No. 50," at the home of W. J. Garner, on route 1, is really worthy of mention. To date the hen by actual count has made for her manager and master exactly $5.27, laying from February 1 to November 1, 1912, 233 eggs, which netted the price just stated. She has been attending to business since November 1 and has more to her credit, of course.—Polk County Observer.

L. O. T. M. Elects.

Lady Lamson Hive number 42, L. O. T. M., at its annual election named the following officers for 1913: Past commander, Minnie Barker; commander, Mary Venke; lieutenant-commander, Georgia Shearer; record keeper, Margaret Leum; finance auditor, Marie McKibben; chaplain, Ida Miller; sergeant, Ruth Shearer; lady-at-arms, Pet Sanford; sentinel, Ora Roberts. District Deputy Clara Knott of Portland Hive number 7 was present and a number of candidates were initiated. Refreshments were served.

Woman is Mayor of Warrenton.

By 16 votes lead Miss Clara C. Munson, daughter of a survivor of the Whitman massacre, graduate of St. Helen's hall, Portland, and one of the best known Rebecca lodge women of Oregon, was elected mayor of Warrenton last week over J. W. Detrich and hereby became the first woman mayor in Oregon. Also it establishes a precedent for equal suffrage states, as it is but little more than a month that the women have had the ballot in Oregon.

Big Things at Springfield.

Springfield News: Last Monday morning G. I. Dean, who lives on the Goshen road and operates what is known as the Willow Springs Fruit Farm, brought to this office a mammoth stock beet which weighed 144 pounds. He says it grew along with others of the same variety and received no special care nor irrigation.
