MAN 82 WORKS BEHIND RESAW

Sturdy Pioneer Does Not See How Mill Could Run Without Him.

A visitor to the Eugene lumber company's mill will notice, if he takes the trouble to, a man, who though grizzled and gray, is at work behind the resaw, who is apparently as young as the rest of the crew and does his part as well as the best of them. He is 82 years of age and his name is Dudley T. Gilman. He says he does not know how the mill could run without him and he has promised the boys he will be with them for the next ten years. Mr. Gilman is one of the sturdy old pioneers who went to California in the early history of that state and has been in all parts of the West and visited almost every mining camp on the coast during his most active life. In 1865, when President Lincoln was assassinated he was carrying the mail on one of the trails to a mining camp in Idaho, and on the trip he had 87 pounds of mail to carry on his back, besides his blankets and his grub for 164 miles, and he had practically the whole way to go on snow shoes, but he made it through all right and was none the worse for the trip. He is the kind of stuff heroes are made of.—Register.

SOCIETY

Wasn't at Dance.
March 22.—I see in your issue of March 20 on page two, under heading "Society," item the third, the notice of a dance in which I am named as an attendant. Now, I have never been at a dance in the two years I have been principal of the Lorane High School. Moreover I am a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church of this place and superintendent of its Sunday School. I had business with a man who was there and going to the hall, sent in by another and calling him out talked with him outside without going in. I shall expect to see a proper apology in the paper and demand the name of the author of the item. Very truly yours,
C. W. TIDD.

CHILD COMES TO LIFE; FUNERAL PROCESSION HALTED

Babe Thought Dead Revives as Mourners Take Last Look and Is Now Convalescing.

Recovering from apparent death just as the funeral was about to be conducted, the four-months-old daughter of A. Oster of Sisters is now convalescing from an attack of smallpox. The little one contracted the disease and apparently died. The sorrowing family and sympathetic friends prepared for the funeral. The little one, its inert form clad in the death shroud, was placed in the coffin and the mourners were ready to form the cortege for the cemetery. A last, lingering look was taken of the child when the gazers were startled to see an eyelid quiver. The obsequies were halted and a physician summoned. After working over the little one for some time the mourners were overjoyed to see her restored to consciousness. At last accounts the little sufferer was on the road to complete recovery.

The work of educating Eastern people as to the opportunities Oregon offers for the settler is not only being carried on from the various commercial clubs of the state, but very effective missionary work is being done by the Great Northern exhibit car now touring the Middle West. This car is really a complete land show on wheels, containing samples of products grown in the state and is accompanied by well informed men who explain the display and answer questions. Fully 120,000 people of the Middle West will have viewed the car during its tour, which ends at Peoria, Ill., April 4.

Railroad men, in keeping tab on work done by the car, finds interest in Oregon homesteads is high throughout the territory covered. Few visiting the exhibit have used their homestead rights and many announce their intention of coming West and filing on government land remaining unclaimed in this state. The car carries a large amount of literature descriptive of Oregon and this is distributed to inquirers.

The fourth annual convention of the Columbia & Snake Rivers Waterways Association will be held in Pendleton April 14-15. Commercial organizations of Oregon, Washington and Idaho will participate.

DATA SHOWS ATTENDANCE INCREASED PRESENT YEAR

With Sixty-Five Prospective Freshmen Next Year Action Is Necessary.

from the 8th grade we had 35 enter the 9th in high school.

Upon this basis and being conservative in our estimate, for the high school for next year there will be 65 freshmen next fall while 12 will graduate. This will give a high school attendance next year of between 135 and 150.

At present it is possible to seat 105 students. What can be done with the remaining 30 to 45 pupils?

If they all can be cared for their presence will bring to Cottage Grove from the county school fund over $3000. If they cannot be cared for some other place will get the benefit, as is the case this year.

We now have students attending other schools who would be in our high school if we had the necessary room and equipment.

Examples in other towns go to show that there are many young men and women in and about town who would be attending school should school building or equipment be in any way inviting.

Statistics of high schools in Oregon cities show that where high schools are built and equipped the enrollment increases more than 100 per cent in two years. If this were true in Cottage Grove and it seems quite possible, counting only the extra 105 pupils, Cottage Grove would draw from the state fund an additional $2000 every year, or enough to pay for the splendid high school building proposed, in just 20 years. Our boys and girls would surely get something during this same period that they cannot get without the opportunity offers itself.

The need of high school education grows more marked every year.

GREATEST WORK OF GOD IS MAN WITH WILL OF OWN

without the further gift of memory. If the thread of memory snaps man is again a babe without the power to help himself. He can not think; he knows not how to think; he knows not how to talk or how to sit down. Death is a mercy to a man without memory. So the greatest work of God was the creation of man, man with a will of his own, to use as he would; man with a conscience to keep his soul from hell, and that which is necessary to put into use the other two—memory. Man is the greatest work of God. It is a great thing to be a man, it is a wonderful thing; hold up your heads and proudly exclaim, "I am a man!"

So talked Rev. Lewtas in his famous lecture, a lecture showing careful preparation, painstaking research, delivered in a manner in keeping with the thought of the body matter and showing wonderful versatility.

Rev. Lewtas closed his evangelistic services here with two paid lectures Monday and Tuesday evenings, these latter two describing his trips through England, Ireland, Wales, Scotland, France, Switzerland, Italy, Egypt and the Holy Land. They were profusely illustrated with views taken by a photographer who accompanied him on the trip. They were highly educating and entertaining.

Rev. Lewtas' work here was constructive. His lectures, in addition to being soul-stirring, were sane, sensible, devoid of sensationalism and of a highly educational nature. The evangelist is a man of wide experience and has the power to describe the things he has seen in words that make them vivid to his hearers.

SEVERAL ARGUMENTS AGAINST BONDS REFUTED

Real Estate Scheme in Head of Director Found To Be Without Foundation.

FRIENDS OF ISSUE STILL DOUBT SUCCESS AT POLLS

Representatives from Commercial Club, City Council, Grange on Building Committee.

The argument that a member of the school board had a real estate scheme in his head and would either sell or present the district a tract of land for the erection of the building has been found to be without any foundation whatever. Directors J. I. Jones and King have at all times recommended its erection on the school property at the corner of Fifth Street and Adams Avenue and such recommendation has been made a part of the records of the school clerk.

The argument that the voters are not informed as to what it is proposed to do, has been met by the calling of a mass meeting.

The objection to allowing the school board to have complete charge of erecting the building has been met by the voluntary action of the board in asking that the commercial club, city council and grange each appoint a representative to act with the board. A representative has already been appointed by the club and council.

The argument that the bonds could not be sold at 5 per cent, has been met by the counter argument that the state stands ready to take up such bonds.

The only remaining argument against the proposed bonds is the matter of taxation and upon this ground will the issue be fought out at the mass meeting Friday night and at the election the day following.

The team did not enter the Corvallis meet, but Mr. Veatch had a team in the open and scholastic events of the Columbia indoor meet, and made a good showing in both classes.
