Save Your Children Against Bowel Trouble... Many children at an early age become constipated, and frequently serious consequences result. Not being able to realize his own condition, a child's bowels should be constantly watched, and a gentle laxative given when necessary. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are especially well adapted to women and children. The Sisters of Christian Charity, 531 Charles St., Harrisburg, Pa., who attend many cases of sickness say of them:

Some time ago we began using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and find that they are very much. Their action is so pleasant and we are grateful for having been made acquainted with them. We have had good results in many cases and the Sisters are very much pleased.

The form and flavor of any medicine is very important, no matter what it is to take it. The taste and appearance are especially important when children are concerned. All parents know how hard it is to give a child a medicine, even though the taste is partially disguised. In using Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, however, this difficulty is overcome. The shape of the tablets, their appearance and candy-like taste at once appeal to any child, with the result that they are taken without objection. The rich chocolate flavor and absence of other taste, make Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets the ideal remedy for children. If the first box fails to benefit, the price is returned. Ask your druggist. A box of 25 doses costs only 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. DR. MILES' MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Events Occurring Throughout the State During the Past Week.

Indian Seeks Divorce
The Dalles.—It is not so uncommon for Indians to apply to officials here with the request that they be married "like white folks," as they put it, but divorce proceedings among the red tribes of this section is unprecedented. Such action, however, has been instituted by Charlie Pistol Hat, a Warm Springs Indian. Perhaps Lillie, his wife, could not stand the burden of his name. At any rate she deserted Charlie, he alleges in his complaint. Evidently her decision was a New Year's resolution for she left him January 1, 1905, about a month after they were married. Charlie waited over eight years for his quaw to return to him, lost hope and then started divorce proceedings.

CONVENTION WILL BE LARGE
Noted Men From All Over the World Coming to Citizenship Meeting
Portland.—Reports from official headquarters, both in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, continue to indicate that the second World's Christian Citizenship conference, to be held in Portland June 29-July 6, will be a gathering very largely attended and one of commanding influence. The names of those who have agreed to give addresses, the subject assigned for discussion, the number of delegates reporting their desire to be present and the inquiries that are being made concerning this great conference indicate that the conference will surpass anything that has preceded it in its far-reaching effects upon society.

Portland has now forwarded $12,500 of the $15,000 pledged by this city for the entertainment and publicity fund of the conference. The local finance committee is devising means for raising the balance.

Houseboat Lives on Umpqua Trip
Roseburg.—Information has been received in Roseburg that the Schlegelmilch party of seven persons who left here in a houseboat on March 16, have completed their journey down the Umpqua river without accident. Seventeen days were consumed in making the journey. This is 10 days longer than the party calculated it would take.

Thus passes a feat never before accomplished on the Umpqua river. Few persons believed that the boat could survive the series of wild rapids on the river or that the voyage would be completed without loss of life.

CHAMBERLAIN GIVES VIEWS
Oregon Senator Believes 15 Per Cent Duty is Needed by the Growers
Washington.—Senator Chamberlain gave out the following authorized statement of his position on wool: "In view of the fact that Oregon is a wool-growing state, it seems to me in the preparation of a tariff measure some concession ought to be made to the wool-growing industry, particularly in view of the fact that a reduced duty in the west and middle west would be satisfied with an ad-valorem duty of 15 per cent. This small concession would not add appreciably to the cost of the manufactured product, and therefore would not have material influence on the high-cost of living.

"If the house passes the general tariff bill designed to carry out the pledges which democrats and republicans made to revise the tariff downward, I would not let my vote be influenced by any one item placed on the free list against my personal objection. In other words, it is better to sacrifice my individual interest than that a burdensome rate of taxation be levied upon the whole people. I believe the tariff ought to be revised downward, and so far as my vote and influence goes it shall be. The prohibition of a slight duty on wool, however, would not violate democratic policy or the declarations of the democratic platform. It is a question if the government can afford to lose the revenue that would be derived from a small duty on wool."

Medford's Mayor Gives up Fight
Medford.—Worn out by the continual opposition of the city council Mayor Elbert, after a conference with a citizen's committee, gave up the fight and turned over to the council the city government.

"I haven't the means nor the physical strength to carry on the fight longer," said the mayor. "I am through. The four members of the city council who have opposed me throughout are now the city government. I give my appointive power to them. My only hope is that this move will restore harmony in municipal affairs."

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

George Talley, a deputy fish warden of Portland, was arrested and arraigned in the justice court at Roseburg on a charge of fishing without a license. Loaded with a $1200 cargo of groceries for the town of Keno, the steamer Canby, Captain Ball, was caught in a gale and sank on Lake Ewauna. Captain Ball and crew of five escaped. Notwithstanding the exceptionally stormy weather the horse fair held at Woodburn was a pronounced success, nearly 100 high class horses being shown, regardless of the rain, before a large crowd of interested spectators. Senator Lane filed a written appeal with the board of engineers of rivers and harbors, protesting against the decision of that body against dredging the Shuslaw from Florence to Acme, and requested an opportunity to make oral presentation in the Nedds case. B. R. Green, editor of the Ashland Tidings, was acquitted of the charge of criminal libel by a jury in the circuit court at Jacksonville. The charge was brought by County Judge Touville, and grew out of the publication of articles during the campaign last fall.

President Fletcher Homan, of Willamette University, was the recipient of a check for $50,000 from James J. Hill. This completes $200,000 cash endowment for the university, meeting the conditions of Mr. Hill when he subscribed the $50,000 to the institution. The treasury department assured Senator Chamberlain that the customs house at Astoria will be retained and a deputy placed in charge. Empire and Yaquina will be allowed $300 each annually for the payment of someone to keep records and make reports to Portland.

The jury in the case of Marcellus Thomas against the city of Eugene to recover over $3000 damages on account of alleged injury to the plaintiff's land because of seepage of water from the city's power ditch near Walterville, returned a verdict in favor of the city.

The owners of the Humboldt mine, lying six miles east of Malheur, after making hundreds of feet of development work, ran into a very rich strike at the 400-foot level. The mine now is a producer of $60,000 a month. Preparations are being made for the enlargement of the plant.

The large spray plant of the Hood River Spray company was burned to the ground and it is thought the loss will aggregate $10,000. The factory has been running at full capacity and the stock carried was very large. There were about 750 barrels of spray in stock at the time of the fire.

No legal obstacles stand in the way of the city of Salem holding an election to vote on the question of abolishing saloons if the city council is of a mind to call the election, according to an opinion given by Attorney General Crawford to Attorney W. H. Trindle, campaign manager for the "drys."

Representative Sinnott has designated Addison Y. Finkelberg of Baker, principal, and Angus McDonald of Hood River, alternate, for appointment to cadetship at Annapolis. He had previously designated Eugene Hanford of The Dalles as principal. All three will take examinations at a place to be designated April 25.

Owing to a lack of interest among the fruitgrowers near Albany, the association directors voted to disband the organization. It is stated that the discord came about through some of the members desiring to continue their former method of supplying the local trade and residents, instead of disposing of all their crop through the association.

The sheep men of Wallowa county report on account of the long period of snow and cold weather that they have fed all of the hay that was put up last harvest, and as the snow covered the winter pasture so that it was impossible for the flocks to feed on the bunch grass, the sheep are poor and there will be a heavy loss. It is feared the wool clip will be light and a very poor quality.

A Lesson to Growers

Year before last the apple crop in the Willamette valley was extremely short, and there were few apples to sell. Last year the crop was large, but the price was small for the simple reason that all over the world there are apple orchards, and these millions of trees produced with unexpected generosity. The result was an enormous supply that could only mean a diminished price.

There is a lesson in this situation that Willamette valley fruit-growers would do well to heed. The lesson is simply this: Be chary in planting apple orchards, for the man who plants apple trees will be obliged to compete against the whole world. Still more, he will be competing at a disadvantage for the Willamette valley is from ten to twenty years behind other apple growing sections, and is without fame and reputation as an apple country.

There is no need in the Willamette valley to plant crops that are subject to world-wide competition. This section has crops of its own that are grown nowhere else in perfection. The cherry is an instance. The Willamette valley cherry is the finest that can be produced. In the world's great markets it outsells on the basis of quality the product of any other section. Soil and climate combine to produce cherries of such remarkable and peculiar lusciousness that they are irresistible. They make an immediate appeal to the pocketbook. Choice cherries from the Eugene district have sold in New York City for as high as 55 cents a pound.

The Willamette valley cherry has another important advantage. It comes on the market at a time when the market is clamoring for it. The California product is marketed and out of the way, and the crops of other sections have not yet matured. Thus the field is free from competition.

Willamette valley berries are also distinctive crops. The loganberry, which is proving to be a remarkable seller, cannot be produced in perfection elsewhere, and thus offers wonderful possibilities as a crop that is not menaced by competition. Nut crops, such as the filbert, also promise to be exclusive. The dream of every business man and every business institution is to find a product that is free from destructive competition. Nature has conferred upon this locality several crops that can be grown perfectly nowhere else. We will be flying in the face of fortune if we do not take advantage of these favors.

Journalistic Appendicitis

The Salem Capital Journal announces its editorial policy as follows: The policy of the Capital Journal is to first ascertain, as near as possible, the wishes of the people, and then to exert every effort within its power to see that the wishes of the people prevail.

This ear-to-ground policy is one that has long damned the country press of Oregon. It is a policy that indicates that a paper has no convictions of its own and cannot differentiate between right and wrong. It is a policy of timidity and failure. It substitutes blind following for aggressive leadership.

A newspaper has better opportunity for acquiring knowledge concerning public problems than almost anyone in the community. It is part of its province to place this knowledge before the public and to champion the truth as it sees it, and so aid in informing the people and moulding public opinion. Because the people wish a thing doesn't make it right. The wish may be founded on error and misconception on the part of the people. They wish one thing one year and another the next. Ideas and ideals are ever shifting.

Whether or not the people endorse an issue does not affect the principal involved. Human slavery was endorsed for centuries, but that did not make it right. For forty years the people of Oregon voted down equal suffrage—that did not settle the issue.

We are in business right here where you live. You are an acquaintance, neighbor or a friend of ours. This money-back-if-not-satisfied offer should prove the sincerity of our claims.

When we say we believe we have the best laxative and back up our statement with our unqualified promise to return without question or formality the money paid us for it, if it does not prove entirely satisfactory to you, we believe we are entitled to your confidence.

Our business success and prestige depend upon your confidence in us. We know we must secure and hold your confidence in order to get and keep your patronage. Therefore, we would not dare make this offer if we were not positively certain that we can prove our claims for

Relax Orderlies

Our experience with them and the many reports we have received from those who have used them prove that they are really the most pleasing and satisfactory bowel remedy we know of.

Relax Orderlies taste like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They don't cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness, as do the usual physic or laxative. Relax Orderlies seem to act as a tonic-strengtheners upon the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They promptly relieve constipation. They act to overcome the cause of constipation. They tend to eliminate the cause of sick headache, biliousness, bad breath, nervousness and other ills attendant upon inactive bowels.

Make Us Prove This

We want you to come to our store and get a package of Relax Orderlies. Use a few of us up the entire box. Then, if you are not entirely satisfied, come back and tell us and we will promptly return the money you paid us for them.

You promise nothing—you sign nothing—you obligate yourself to us in no way whatever. We accept your mere word.

Don't you now believe that Relax Orderlies are worthy of a trial? Could any offer be more fair?

Try Them at Our Risk

We particularly recommend Relax Orderlies for children, aged persons and for delicate people.

Relax Orderlies come in vest pocket tin boxes: 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c. Usual dose one tablet.
