GROVE EDITOR TALKS AT UNIVERSITY

Says Only Trouble With Country Newspaper Is Poor Business Management.

Declaring that under proper management the country newspaper is just as good a business as any other with like investment and that the reason so many have come to consider it otherwise is because poor management shows up more prominently in a newspaper than anywhere else, Elbert Bede, editor of The Cottage Grove Sentinel, spoke for an hour before the department of journalism at the University of Oregon Friday afternoon.

The speaker set forth the country field in journalism as more pleasant in many ways than the city field, more profitable to the beginner and the rise to a position of prominence easier and more certain. That it had such a poor reputation as a money maker he blamed upon the people in the business, the big majority of whom could not make a success of digging holes or pounding sand. This condition he thought to be gradually changing as men and women with better training and higher ideals were gradually displacing the other type. "A school of journalism," the speaker said, "should follow up this good work and train men and women to ideals that would lift the country newspaper business into one of the most desirable.

DISEASED FRUIT TO BE CONFISCATED

Inspector Stewart Determined That All Pests Shall Be Eradicated in Grove Country.

WALKER COMPLAINS OF POOR TRAIN SERVICE

From 8 O'clock at Night Until 3 O'clock Next Afternoon No Train Stops There.

Geo. O. Walker has filed complaint with railroad commission regarding poor train service at Walker. The complaint states that no passenger trains stop at that station between 8 o'clock at night and 3 o'clock the next afternoon, which is a serious inconvenience. It is also stated that there are no accommodations for passengers waiting for trains.

The attention of the Southern Pacific has been called to the matter, no reply having yet been received. The practice of the commission in such cases has been to make full inquiry as to the need of station facilities, and in most cases satisfactory results are secured in an informal way.

NESMITH COUNTY CERTAIN SAYS SENATOR BEAN

Lane County Legislator Expresses Warm Feeling for Southern End of His District.

"Cottage Grove is certain to sometime be the county seat of Nesmith County. So it seems to me," said Senator L. E. Bean of Eugene when in the city last week. With a fair division of territory I see no argument against the formation of a new county. Lane County, an empire unto itself, is too unwieldly. It must eventually be cut up for the convenience of its citizens. I was glad to support in the recent legislature your Cottage Grove bill when its provisions were made such that they seemed fair to all concerned."

Senator Bean expressed a feeling of warm regard for Cottage Grove and assured The Sentinel that from the energy the Cottage Grove people put into any proposition in which they are interested Cottage Grove is bound to continue to be one of the most talked of little cities in the valley.

THOUGHT WHOLE COUNTRY DESTROYED

Distressing Feature of Eastern Storms Was Lack of News from Outside World.

That the most distressing feature of the recent storms in the East was the utter impossibility of getting news from the outside world to know what conditions prevailed elsewhere, is shown in the Democrat of Bedford, Ind., the issue of March 27 having reached A. J. Armstrong Tuesday. With telephone and telegraph wires down and no mail coming in, the sufferers were fully as much depressed by their lack of knowledge of what was happening elsewhere as by their own deplorable plight. They could not know but what half the country had been wiped out by the storm and they were among the few survivors. The Bedford paper tells of the great rush of water, when rivers jumped fourteen feet overnight. The tornado passed over Bedford and was followed by a terrific rain storm. The wind blew over chimneys which fell through roofs or tore off portions of roofs and the rain following completely destroyed many stocks. With water ten and twelve feet over railroad tracks and roadbeds washed out in many places it was days before assistance could be sent in or news sent out.
